Resistance Stiffens, and is Expected on Douai-Laon Line.

Engagement Fought French Infantry at Village of Jussy.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.

[SPECIAL CABLE—DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, March 21.—The baffling German retreat, carried out amid rain and high winds, backed by a screen of Uhlan raids, has mystified the Allies. There is at high tension over the whole hill in the west-front fighting, reports from Berlin indicate that Hindenburg's lightning thrust is to be made at any moment.

Aviators flying high over German lines tell of great fires many miles behind the area held by the Allies' mounted troops.

French and British forces engaged in the first aggressive opposition to the advance on the 100-mile line between the Scarpe and the Aisne today. While they continued to drive ahead at nearly every point and made great progress along certain stretches of territory, the resistance of the German rear guards was materially stiffer and the enemy was found to be occupying some sections in strong force.

MAY TURN SOON.

While the question as to whether the Germans intend to continue their retirement to their second reserve line of defense near the Franco-Belgian frontier remains unsolved, official reports from the battle front indicate that Hindenburg is about ready to make his stand along the Douai-Laon line and that preparations have been completed for the blow which he hopes will be decisive.

ALLIES WANT "OLD GLORY."

Hope Stars and Stripes may Soon be Waving Over the Trenches.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21.—Hope that "the Stars and Stripes would soon be waving over the trenches in France" drew cheers from 100 clergymen of many denominations here today when it was expressed in an address before them by Maj. Charles W. Gordon, Forty-third Canadian Infantry, better known as Ralph Connor, the author. Maj. Gordon was formerly a clergyman in Winnipeg and is here on a mission for the British War Office. He will soon go back to his regiment now in Flanders.

SATIATED WITH WAR.

Unrest on Increase in Vienna.

Wilson Said to be Using His Good Offices with the Entente Allies.

Revolution in Russia may Have Salutary Effect on Central Powers.

BY F. A. WRAY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE—DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, March 21.—The report that President Wilson is at work on a plan for a separate peace with Austria was published here today. The information caused considerable interest, but no surprise.

It is unquestionably true that Austrians—and none more than their young Emperor—desire to get out of the war. But Germany, having drawn them into it, now blocks the way out.

That Emperor Charles has asked President Wilson to use his good offices in perfecting a separate peace is not wholly surprising. But I can state authoritatively that the Allies have not been approached officially on the question up to the present time.

The possibility of a separate peace now raises so many important questions that, before it can become an accomplished fact, operations on the battlefields are likely to alter materially the entire situation. If Austria sues for a separate peace it means that Emperor Charles is supported and not opposed by the Kaiser; it means that the German government considers Austria more valuable out of the war than in it; that Germany is using Austria as a wedge to open the doors to peace.

REASON OF HOLLWEG'S VISIT.

Political and economic unrest in Austria-Hungary hurried the visit of Bethmann-Hollweg to Vienna, referred to in these dispatches two days ago. This seems to lend strength to the reports that big developments in the Central Powers are sure to come within a short time. The revolution and the new democracy in Russia are largely responsible for the unsettled conditions; no one knows how far-reaching the effects of her reorganization may be on the course of the war.

The Russian situation remains confused. Her greatest well-wishers are still unable to view her future calmly. But the one disturbing element in the Russian situation to the rulers of the Central Powers, a factor greater even than the potential military power of the country, is the effect which the revolution is having upon their own peoples.

If the rulers of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria would avert revolutions in their own lands they must listen to the will of the people. If revolution does come in these countries, it will not be organized as skillfully as it was in Russia, but it will be ten times bloodier.

Thus Russia has forced her enemy rulers to make concessions to their people, and to a people sick of war. In the event that Austria acts independently of Germany, it is possible that the Entente might want to put troops in Austria to protect their Balkan allies. If Austria were eliminated then Bulgaria and Turkey might wish to drop out of the war, and Germany would be further embarrassed.

DARDANELLES QUESTION.

Whether Russia's aims in the war under the new government remain the same as they were under the old, and whether she still wants to control the Dardanelles Straits, or whether she is satisfied with an autonomous Croatia and Galicia, as well as the rest of the Slav peoples, are questions which must be decided before a separate peace could be concluded.

In addition Rumania, Serbia and Italy have claims to be settled. I mention these points merely to show that negotiations would necessarily take considerable time, and that, although Russia must be considered an unknown military factor, the war will continue uninterruptedly, and changes in the map are likely to be material.

In official quarters I find that the question of a separate peace with Austria is viewed as a possibility, but hardly a probability, inasmuch as the whole problem is likely to be solved before diplomatic negotiations could be concluded.

There is still a screen between the "New Russia" and the outside world, and while the United States has recognized the Duma committee as the de facto government in Russia in the same way that it has recognized the Carranza regime as the de facto government in Mexico, the United States government has not accepted the revolution as a success. The House of Commons will send greetings to the Duma committee and the Russian people today, according to a London dispatch. At all events Milukoff is the big man in Russia today and appears in the role of the spokesman for the committee of safety.

WAR WITH AMERICA EXPECTED BY GERMANY

Party Leaders Being Hurriedly Summoned for Extra Session.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Wilson has met the constantly increasing probability of war with Germany by summoning Congress to assemble in extraordinary session Monday, April 2—two weeks earlier than the date he had chosen before the latest assaults upon American rights on the seas. This action he took today.

When the President addresses Congress he is expected to show how a state of war actually has existed for some time because of the unlawful aggressions of German submarines.

Congress is expected formally to declare a state of war existing, vote a large sum for national defense, probably half a billion dollars, and clothe the President with authority to use the armed forces of the United States.

Such action would not be a declaration of war except in a technical sense, and whether the United States and Germany actually go to war in the fullest acceptation of the term will depend on what the Imperial government does before Congress is assembled or after it acts.

OMINOUS ASPECT.

Dispatches from abroad tonight declaring that the German government expected a state of war within the next forty-eight hours placed an ominous aspect on the situation.

Much to change the President's present intentions or the course of the government in the crisis may develop before April 2. The first American armed ships will before that time have reached the war zone. The ruthless destruction of one of them unquestionably would be an act of war.

On the other hand, sinking of a submarine by one of the armed merchantmen probably would be met as an act of war by Germany. Even the arming of American ships, with the avowed purpose of defending them against submarines, may be declared such an act.

In any of these events practically nothing would remain except for Congress to acknowledge a state of war existing from a certain specified date—probably last Sunday, when three American ships were sunk with loss of life.

TEN TENSE DAYS.

The next ten days, until Congress meets, will be days of tense anxiety, of eager waiting and watching, fraught with possibilities of tremendous consequences to the United States.

The President and his advisers in the Cabinet and in Congress have no intention that war shall be declared by the United States. By the hostile acts of German submarines they believe the Imperial German government is actually making war on the United States and that it shall be recognized as such a state. To meet such a condition the armed forces of the country and all the national resources are to be put in a state of readiness. Then, whether the nation shall enter the war in its full sense will depend upon how much further Germany carries her aggression.

In every sense, war, if it actually comes, will be a defensive war, free from ambitions of spoils or territory, in which the United States, the President has publicly declared, shall want nothing for itself, and shall seek only to preserve the rights of civilization and humanity.

MAY FIGHT IN EUROPE.

In such a situation the United States might even become an actual participant in the hostilities on the European continent without becoming a political ally of any of the Entente Powers, simply casting its weight of men, money and moral influence into the battle against a common enemy.

Ports of the United States probably will be opened to warships of the Entente navies; credits from the vast stocks of gold, food, munitions and other materials might be extended to all the Entente Powers.

The American navy probably would co-operate with the British and the French navies in clearing submarines from the seas.

Hurry calls for all party leaders in Congress went out today as soon as the President announced advancement of the

CENTRAL POWERS FACE REVOLT; SITUATION REGARDED SERIOUS.

Hunger Strike on a Large Scale is Thought to be in Progress, but the Censorship within and the Arrestation of the Mails, while Delaying News of the Facts, Support the Worst Fears of a Revolt.

[LONDON CHRONICLE DISPATCH.]
[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AMSTERDAM, March 21.—With revolution in the air, it is not surprising that rumors are running the rounds that Germany's turn has come, and that Berlin is already in an uproar. One or two curious developments tend to support the possibility that unusual events are occurring there. Firstly, these rumors all appear to emanate from German unofficial quarters. Secondly, I have just spoken to a German Social Democrat, who was on his way to the railway station en route for Berlin. He said he regarded the rumors as possibly partly true, and, having large interests in Berlin, he felt it necessary to return thither immediately in order to see the actual state of affairs and to take steps to protect his interests there. There has been a curious absence of private letters from Berlin and Hamburg during the past few days. The newspapers here are taking a serious view of the rumors. Correspondents have gone to the frontier to endeavor to get information of what is proceeding. It may be that one of many hunger strikes on perhaps a larger scale than ever before is in progress, but from all available information it would seem by no means likely that any revolt in Berlin would have any chance of success among the old men who alone remain as civilians. Nevertheless, after what the German army and people have gone through during the past two years, it must not be entirely ruled out as impossible that part of the army at least might join with the munition workers.

At the moment of telegraphing the latest tidings from the frontier are such as to suggest that things are indeed grave. Though no details are given, it is noteworthy that only two days ago official announcement was made throughout Germany of the raising by twenty per cent. of the price of potatoes and other food-stuffs, including rye and wheat.

Soldiers More than Serfs.

REVOLUTION PLACES THE ARMIES OF RUSSIA ON DEMOCRATIC BASIS.

BY ARNO DOSCH FLEUROT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, March 19 (via London, March 21.)—The most important aspect at present of the successful conclusion of the revolution being its effect on the conduct of the war, I asked War Minister Guchkoff his views on this point, and he detailed Capt. Smolianinsky, his attache, to give me the following exclusive interview reply:

"All workmen in the munitions factories returned to work this morning with fresh spirit and hopes, knowing that the revolution is bringing great changes in the conduct of the war.

"These are chiefly the removal of disabilities of religions, race and class, hampering the organization of the armies at the front. The army is reorganized on a national and democratic basis by today's order to the army formulating the soldiers' demands for civil rights for the army, also rights of travel and of entry in theaters and hotels, the same as granted an officer. All democratic privileges are given, changing entirely the old feudal discipline to democratic discipline.

"In answer to the question how the army accepts the new government, it had half expected the change, and the final news of our success was greeted with enthusiasm on the whole front, as the army knew the men in the new government, as the Zemstvos War Committee had provided the army when the bureaucratic government failed.

"M. Guchkoff is popular, because he was president of the Duma Commission, inquiring into the conduct of the former, disgraced, War Minister, Gen. Sukhominoff, who is detested by the army because he left it in the lurch.

"A picturesque feature of recent days was the acceptance of the new order of things by the Governor-General of Turkestan, Gen. Kuropatkin, who announced the change of leaders simultaneously to the native civilian population and the army. The feelings of revolt against the old government changed to wild enthusiasm, which found vent in a parade and celebration. The clergy celebrated a mass of thanksgiving.

"That is the way the news was received by the army in the whole country. The spirit of the army is refreshed, and officers are accepting the new rights of the soldiers in the best spirit.

"M. Guchkoff's biggest task is to complete the reorganization of the War Department, removing incompetent favorites and placing efficient officers who have proved their mettle in this war in responsible positions; also creating a war board of expert officers, regardless of their former standing, picked on the basis of ability.

"The war will not lose a day; in fact, the munition manufacturers and Zemstvos organizations back of the front continued their work throughout the revolt. Business methods, widely suppressed by the bureaucracy, will now have a free hand, and will finally provide an army to attack the enemy with greater energy, in new spirit of democratic brotherhood."

This is the message of the first civilian Minister of War Russia ever has had.

AIR RAIDERS TAKE TOLL OF THOUSAND.

GERMANS CHASE BUCHAREST VICTIMS THROUGH STREETS.

Zeppelins and Airplanes Kill Hundreds in Single Day—Bomb Palace Where Prince Lay Dying. Pursue People Over Fields and Along Roads Near City.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 1:16 p.m.—More than 1000 persons were killed in Bucharest by the attacks of German aircraft prior to the abandonment of the city by the Rumanians, according to an account of these raids given out at Jassy, the present capital, and forwarded in a Reuter dispatch. In a single day 300 persons were killed by Zeppelins and airplanes. On this occasion, the report says, a group of airplanes spent several hours in seeking victims, killing workmen and workwomen in the fields and streets.

Two airplanes pursuing a two-horse vehicle on the road had a race to see which could reach it first. The coachman, a passenger and the horses were killed. The account also describes an airplane attack on the royal residence, where the young Prince Mircea lay dying of typhoid fever. The aviators evidently believed the Queen and Princesses were still there. This attack, the report says, was the subject of a special telegram from the Pope to the Queen in which the action of the Germans was condemned.

This is the first indication that such a large number of persons met death at the hands of German aviators. A Bucharest dispatch in November said squadrons of German aircraft had flown over the city five hours and that several persons had been killed. The death of Prince Mircea was reported November 3.

DUTCH MAY BAR ARMED AMERICAN MERCHANTMEN

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 7:40 p.m.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says:

"It is understood that the Dutch government has intimated that it is not prepared to allow armed American merchantmen in Dutch harbors. According to the view in well-informed circles, the Dutch reply to representations arising out of the British steamer Princess Melita case will be unsatisfactory from the Entente standpoint."

The steamer Princess Melita arrived at the Hook of Holland during the evening of March 5, but, being armed, was ordered to depart forthwith, according to a dispatch to London quoting the Dutch naval department as authority. The steamer sailed, but returned the next morning and was permitted to disembark a sick passenger and take on drinking water. A later dispatch from London said the British government would insist on defensively-armed ships being permitted to enter Dutch ports.

BAKER PRAISES GUARD ON BORDER EXPEDITION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Secretary Baker, speaking tonight at a mass meeting held to welcome the District of Columbia National Guard home from the border, said the guardsmen on the border expedition had "made good" and that the enthusiastic demonstrations which had greeted the organizations on their return to their home cities "ought to prove to any foreign nation that we have money and spirit enough to defend our nation."

"In spite of some creaking of the governmental supply machinery at first," said the Secretary, "the mobilization and maintenance of the guard at the border was a successful enterprise, since a number of additional men had been recruited, there had been no shortage of supplies at the border and no serious epidemics.

"Best of all the guard accomplished the purpose for which it was sent, and I am proud of it."

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate Military Committee, was applauded enthusiastically by the guardsmen when he advocated universal military service.

Naval Activity at Fever Heat to Man Available Vessels and Rush Work on Destroy Preparation.

EQUIPMENT FOR ARMY READY BEFORE THE MEN

All Merchant Vessels Classified for Use in Case of Emergency.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Naval preparations for war were marked by increased activity today. No actual war steps were taken by either the War or Navy departments, but there were many indications that preliminary plans have been worked out for both services if the call comes.

The navy's task is simple. Its problems are those of material rather than personnel. At most little more than 100,000 men would be required for manning every available ship or scouting craft. They could be obtained almost over night by mobilizing of the Naval Militia and the various sections of the Naval Reserves supplemented with volunteers. Only highly-trained officers would be lacking.

The army's problem is just the reverse. It is men that will be needed, and no definite step toward securing a great force for training can be taken until Congress expresses its will. Full equipment can be obtained long before the men are ready to use it.

TO OPEN BIDS SOON.

Steps actually taken by the navy today included the advancement of the date of opening bids for additional destroyers and notification to shipbuilders that their full plant capacity would be utilized in this work. There is no way of estimating how many destroyers will be ordered until estimates called for show how many can be built. Secretary Daniels said every available plant would be utilized to its utmost. The builders will present their figures next Saturday, and awards will be made immediately.

Bids for the first large consignment of 110-foot submarine chasers or coast patrol boats also were received today, but will be held confidential until Wednesday, when 100 additional builders are expected to submit figures. The navy hopes to find facilities available for more than 200 boats, the first of them to be delivered in two to three months. Meanwhile the work of surveying private yachts and motorcraft is being pressed in every naval district, and the enrollment of volunteers to man the boats proceeds rapidly.

AS TO MERCHANT CRAFT.

The department has no present intention of taking over merchant craft for naval use, Secretary Daniels said tonight, amplifying earlier assurances given to American ship owners by Chairman Denman of the shipping board.

All American merchant ships, however, have been surveyed and classified by navy officials for possible use in time of war. The guns being placed aboard trans-Atlantic craft were destined originally to arm auxiliary cruisers withdrawn from merchant fleets for that purpose. Other vessels were classified as colliers, supply ships or transports as they were found suitable. In many instances the officers of these ships have enrolled as reserve naval officers and would accompany their vessels in the government service.

"No definite policy yet has been adopted," Mr. Daniels said. "We will not, however, demoralize commerce. None of the ships engaged in trade will be taken over except in case of vital necessity. They all would be taken in that case."

BOARD IS AT WORK.

A board of navy officers already is dealing with the merchant marine question and will co-operate with the shipping board in whatever is done. It was indicated, however, that no plans the Navy Department is now making will require the acquisition of any important portion of the merchant marine for navy uses. Some ships may be diverted under charter to supply the fighting fleets of scout patrols if necessary, but because of the fact that it is believed the major ships of the navy would not be actively engaged it is improbable that a great supply line will be set up.

Navy officials were disturbed by press reports of a strike in the Curtiss Airplane Company's factory, with which the government has placed large orders. Tomorrow a conference of the various aeronautical organizations will be held at the War Department to discuss means of hastening aircraft production, and the situation at the Curtiss plant may be taken up then. The President has power to take over the establishment if necessary. A joint army and navy board reported today that in its opinion the development of the air services of both military arms of the government should be co-ordinated and consolidated to a large extent.

TO ENROLL WOMEN.

Orders to enroll women for nurse work in time of war as a part of the naval reserve forces were sent out today to commandants of naval districts and recruiting officers.

Details for the enlistment of women as clerks, typists, radio operators and for similar positions, so that the men occupying such places may be relieved of shore duty and used to strengthen the sea forces, already have been completed.

The munitions standardization board, organized under the council of national defense, held its first formal meeting at the War Department today, conferring with ordnance officials.

PETROGRAD MINISTRY RECOGNIZED BY US AS RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Recognition of the provisional Council of Ministers as the de facto government of Russia has been accorded by the United States through conversations carried on by Ambassador Francis at Petrograd. This was announced at the State Department today with the explanation that full recognition of the new government would be delayed pending demonstration of its stability.

Today's press reports saying the former Emperor and Empress had been deprived of their liberty and the former ordered back from his retirement to Petrograd caused uneasiness, as possibly indicating control by an extremist, radical group. Officials here think the great danger in the Russian situation lies in the possibility of attempts to destroy the moderates now in power, either by the former ruling party or by the extreme Socialist revolutionary party. The arrest of the former Emperor and his wife is being watched, therefore, with the fear that it may foreshadow a long period of unrest in Russian internal affairs and the crippling of the country's resources for war.

For this reason, the immediate recognition of the new government which was desired because of its announced republican principles will be postponed until after affairs have had time to settle. Ambassador Francis is calling regularly at the Foreign Office, however, and transacting business as with the duly constituted authorities.

"The first complete official account of the Russian revolution reached the State Department today in a delayed dispatch from Ambassador Francis, dated March 17.

"The only menace possible," the report said, "is in Socialistic demonstrations by minority Socialist groups."

A dispatch from the Ambassador of a later date indicates that there has been some sort of agreement between the revolutionary authorities and the Socialists.

Officials are following the difficulties in Russia, not only because of the question of American recognition, which is admitted to be largely a formality, but especially because of the vital effect they believe those developments may have in America's own interest. The crippling of Russia's military strength at this time or the possibility of a separate peace are vital affairs to the United States through the practical state of war existing between this country and Germany.

THE RUSSIAN TURNOVER.

APRIL 27, 1906, Czar Nicholas "solemnly" opened the first Russian Duma in St. Petersburg. It lasted four days.

March 6, 1907, the Czar Nicholas "solemnly" opened the second Duma in St. Petersburg.

The Czarina (quondam) gets hers under the name of Mrs. Romanoff.

Address ——— ? Wherever they happen to be in custody of the committee of the Duma now governing Russia.

March 15, 1917, Nicholas transfers the throne to Grand Duke Michael, who accepts, subject to the sanction of the people. (No further action reported on this matter.)

Duma organizes a committee of safety and forms a Cabinet with Lvoff as Prime Minister and Milukoff as Foreign Minister.

Russian army forsakes the Czar and supports the Duma.

New Cabinet announces intention to prosecute the war to the finish.

Revolt spread to all parts of the empire, all garrisons, army posts and civilian officials pledging support.

Deposed Czar starts for his private estates on the Black Sea to take up life as Nicholas Romanoff, plain citizen.

Czar and Czarina arrested and will be held prisoners in some fortress, the new government fearing German influence would use him as a figure in a counter-revolution.

Rumors that the Czarevitch had been killed in the early stages of the revolution have not been verified.

Vigorous steps are being taken in every direction to wipe out German influences which hampered Russia in the war.

LONDON, March 21, 8:45 p.m.—A British official communication issued this evening says that for the week ending March 18 sixteen British ships, each of a tonnage of more than 1600, were sunk and eight of a tonnage under 1600 tons. Twenty-one fishing vessels also were sunk.

The communication also gives the number of vessels arriving and sailing from United Kingdom ports during the period. It says:

"For the week ending March 18 merchant vessels of all nationalities of over 1600 tons, exclusive of fishing and local craft, United Kingdom ports: Arrivals, 2528; sailings, 2554.

"British merchantmen sunk by mine or submarine of 1600 tons gross or over, 16; under 1600 tons, 8.

"British merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, including one during the week ending March 11, 19.

"British fishing vessels sunk, including seventeen sailors, 71."

OREGONIAN IN CREW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BRUNSWICK, March 21.—Robert Crawford of Pendleton, Or., second mate, and John Kelly of Brunswick, a negro cook, were the only Americans among the twelve men comprising the crew of the American bark Brown Brothers, according to officials of the American shipping Company here. Company officials said they had received no word of the ship since she was spoken December 16 in midocean. She sailed from here November 12 for Troon, Scotland.

TWO MINE SWEEPERS LOST.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 8:35 p.m.—Two British mine sweepers have been sunk by mines, according to an Admiralty announcement tonight. In one case there were no casualties. In the other fourteen men are missing, and are presumed to have been drowned.

MAN WHO WAS THE CZAR NOW NICHOLAS ROMANOFF

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 3:07 p.m.—The Russian government has ordered that the deposed Emperor and his consort shall be regarded as having been deprived of their liberty and that they shall be brought to the Tsarskoe-Selo, Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs.

Nicholas Romanoff, as the deposed Czar is now known, departed Sunday for his estate in the Crimea. It has been understood that he would be permitted to live in retirement at that place, far removed from the capital and the scenes of military operations.

The general policy of the new government has been represented as opposed to any acts of vengeance against persons connected with the old regime while it has been recognized that if Nicholas could obtain a following and were disposed to combat the new government civil war might result. There have been no indications that he contemplated such a move or could obtain the necessary support.

Accounts of his last hours as ruler of Russia depicted him as resigned to his fate and determined not to stand against the wishes of the people. Nothing has been heard, however, in regard to the attitude of the former Empress, a German, whose powerful influence from the capital and the scenes of at the Russian court is said to have been exerted against all democratic tendencies.

NAMES OF AMERICANS LOST WITH VIGILANCIA.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 11:35 a.m.—Robert P. Skinner, the American Consul-General, has received a list of the following five Americans lost from the American steamer Vigilancia, torpedoed and sunk last Friday:

Nells North, third officer; F. Brown, Joseph Fibera, Estaphan Lopez, C. F. Aderahold. The last-named was from Attalala, Ala. The addresses of the others were not given.

Among the lost was Alexander Rodrigues, a Porto Rican, while the others represented a number of nationalities.

Consul-General Skinner also received word of the safe arrival at Glasgow of Capt. Berum and the eight missing members of the crew of the American steamer City of Memphis, who were picked up after having been eighteen hours in an open boat.

Foreign Trade.

EXPORT TOTALS GROW DESPITE U-BOAT MENACE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21.—During Germany's first month of submarine blockade around England and Scotland and Ireland, America's export trade through New York to those countries dropped $29,000,000, as compared with that in February of 1916, according to figures made public here today by the Collector of Customs. In February of last year this trade aggregated $91,483,000. Last month the total was $52,067,000. The comparative figures of exports to all of Europe show an increase of about $1,073,000.

Exports through New York to all foreign countries last month totaled $222,362,000, an increase of nearly $8,094,000, as compared with the previous February. Trade with Russia increased about 350 per cent.

MAY CONSCRIPT INCOMES FOR EXPENSES OF WAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 21.—The administration has under consideration plans for the new revenue act conscripting all personal incomes in excess of $100,000 a year during the period of war with Germany.

It is estimated that such a law, combined with the increased supertax on other large incomes, would produce between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 a year, which the administration believes would be adequate for the necessities of this country.

The plan, in addition to confiscating the excess of incomes over $100,000, calls for drastic increases in the tax rates on incomes under that amount, ranging from 5 per cent on the smaller ones to 50 per cent on the larger ones between $50,000 and $100,000 a year, and heavy taxes on corporation incomes.

The purpose of such a law, it is stated, is to have wealth bear its share of the war burden along with labor.

The advantages of the law, in the opinion of its sponsors, would be manifold. In the first place, it would kill the cry that war was being waged in the interest of the immensely rich, for it would wipe out the profits heretofore derived from war. In the second place, it would reduce the bonded debt placed on future generations.

In the third place, such a law would compel the men who do not give military service for their country to pay for the service of others in proportion to their ability to do so.

GERMANY CHARGES CHINESE PLOTTED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 8:33 p.m.—According to reports received in Amsterdam from Cologne, says the Exchange Telegraph correspondent in Amsterdam, fifty Chinese residing in Germany, and especially in Berlin and Munich, were arrested yesterday, charged with conspiracy. They were preparing to leave Germany with the Chinese legation. Most of the Chinese were students.

A LOGICAL CONCLUSION.

No sane man or woman can read the authentic advertising records of the various Los Angeles newspapers and reflect on The Times' year-in-and-year-out leadership, both in volume of advertising and in the number of separate announcements printed, without being irresistibly impelled to the conviction that Times advertisements pay better than those of all other local newspapers combined.

In view of the thorough knowledge that Los Angeles merchants and business men have of the pulling powers of the advertising mediums that solicit their patronage, it is self-evident that they would not continue to show such a decided preference for this newspaper unless its advertising space was more profitable to them than that of any of its local contemporaries.

The following tabulation, with the Times as usual in the dominant position, shows the local advertising score for the week ending Saturday, March 17, 1917:

| | Total lines advertising. | Separate "want" ads. |
| THE TIMES | 274,344 | 15,829 |
| Second morning newspaper | 202,146 | 10,320 |
| Third morning newspaper | 113,756 | 3,456 |
| First evening newspaper | 169,470 | 2,573 |
| Second evening newspaper | 153,160 | 2,200 |
| Third evening newspaper | 66,822 | 581 |

Last Sunday, March 18th, The Times gained 11,368 lines of local display and classified advertising over the same Sunday in 1916. This is 5040 more lines of local advertising than were gained by the second morning newspaper.

In fact, The Times' gain in local advertising last Sunday over the corresponding Sunday of the previous year was almost double that of the second morning newspaper.

New Thrust.

the German withdrawal to embrace the territory north of Arras is hinted at in reports of German activity there similar to that which preceded the withdrawal from the Somme. Such a lengthening of the line of retreat might indicate a retirement to the frontier line, from Lille to Verdun, but that is a possibility rather than a probability.

The most notable progress made by the British during the day was in the territory south and southeast of Peronne, where the advance extended ten miles at points and resulted in the occupation of forty additional villages. Between Bapaume and Arras, east of Bapaume, the British swept ahead in the face of growing opposition and unfavorable weather conditions.

REAR GUARDS ATTACKED.

"The enemy's rear guards are being steadily driven from their positions," Haig's report states.

The French made important progress on both sides of the Laon road, where ten villages were occupied, and before the positions believed to be bastions in the Hindenburg line of defense. East of Ham, French troops forced at two points a passage of the Somme Canal and drove the enemy back on the villages of Clastres and Montescourt. North of Tergnier, captured by them yesterday, the French ran up against artillery fire of a lively character, possibly indicating their approach in this sector to the main German defenses.

In the region north of Soissons and along the Ham-St. Quentin road stiff resistance was encountered. The report of Gen. Nivelle states that "several quite spirited engagements" were fought and that sharp resistance was met with at the village of Jussy and the Sevriennois castle, which were captured by infantry "in a brilliant action." Between Roupy and St. Quentin apparently little progress was made by the French. Tonight's communique states that "our light forces remain in contact with the enemy between those two points."

POINT OF STRATEGY.

From a strategic standpoint, the most important movement made by Nivelle's troops today was that which brought them up to Clastres and Montescourt, beyond the Somme Canal. These villages are nearer to the Hindenburg line than any the French have yet approached. They are due north and close to Fort Lies, which defends La Fere from that direction. In view of this fact, military observers believe that the Hindenburg line, instead of running to the west of La Fere, stands on the heights of the Oise east of the river. The French are in an excellent position in this sector, though it is apparent they are strongly opposed.

The persistent reports of British aviators that the countryside for fifty miles behind the Hindenburg line is being devastated, coupled with the French statement tonight that "most of the villages before our lines in the neighborhood of St. Quentin are in flames," lends color to the theory that the German retreat will extend to the frontier, a theory, however, largely dissipated by the events of the day.

Neither the French nor the British are pressing ahead blindly. Every new position taken is thoroughly consolidated before the advance of the main forces is continued. A counter-blow by the enemy would find the Allied armies well prepared in powerful positions. And a counter-blow is not impossible. From Premier Ribot, who stated in the French Senate today that the German retirement was "only a prelude to further rough battles in which the enemy will spend his last efforts," down to the Australian troops who reached London this afternoon after spending St. Patrick's Day in Bapaume, there is a general agreement that the big show is imminent and that it will overshadow all the mighty actions seen since the war began.

WEATHER MISERABLE.

Over the entire front the weather continues miserable, high winds and rain and snow making aerial reconnoissance difficult and impeding the advance of the Allied forces immeasurably. Despite the wholesale and wanton destruction of villages and towns in the evacuated area, the resourceful Tommies are managing to find shelter in them after their long, hard chase across the war-stricken territory. The Germans generally have abandoned their former practice of carrying off with them all inhabitants of military age, evidently finding it too much of a drain on their supplies to feed so many mouths.

Contrary to the German assertion that the inhabitants of each village evacuated were left with five-days' provisions, the Germans are discovered to have not only taken everything edible from the districts abandoned, but even to have seized stores provided by the American and Spanish relief committees. Additional evidence of the poisoning of streams and wells poured in from the reconquered lands today.

That the German authorities fear the effect of the retirement on the people of that country is apparent from the official statements that the operation is being carried out "quite like peace maneuvers," and from the unanimity of the German press laudations of Hindenburg, interspersed with intimations that the people may expect a big counter-attack soon that may end in another Tannenberg.

SKIRMISH AT VERDUN.

On the rest of the western front there was little activity during the day, except on the Verdun line, where the French penetrated an enemy trench north of Chambrettes farm. "A number of German dead" were found in the position, Paris relates.

MUNITIONS COUNCIL / STARTS ACTIVE WORK.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The committee of munitions manufacturers and other connected with the munitions industry, which has been organized under the auspices of the council of national defense, held its first meeting today at the War Department. Howard E. Coffin of Detroit, a member of the advisory commission of the council and chairman of the munitions division of the mobilization work on which the council is engaged, presided, and Col. Babbitt, acting chief of the Army Ordnance Bureau, discussed the army's needs.

The munitions committee is the second element of the council's plan to begin active operations, the transportation committee, with President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as chairman, having already perfected its organization. It was through the supplies division of the work that Commissioner Baruca has accomplished the purchase of a huge amount of copper for army and navy use at about one-half the prevailing market price. His organization, however, remains to be perfected.

TO BUILD DESTROYERS TO CAPACITY LIMIT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Secretary Daniels called upon private shipbuilders today to submit next Saturday estimates as to the maximum number of destroyers each plant can build. The Navy Department intends to place orders for as many boats as possible, the emergency fund of $115,000,000 provided by Congress being available for this purpose.

Bids for the fifteen destroyers specifically authorized by Congress were to have been opened on April 4, but the Secretary directed that these be opened next Saturday when the estimates on plant capacity are submitted.

FRANCE SAVES DAYLIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PARIS, March 21.—In accordance with the recent decision to return this year to the daylight saving system which was put into operation last year for the first time, the Journal office today published a decree advancing the legal time by one hour at 11 o'clock on the night of March 24. The decree provides that normal time shall be re-established at 11 p.m., October 7. Under the decree all clocks and watches will be set ahead at 11 o'clock Saturday night to midnight.

SIXTH GERMAN LOAN SUBSCRIPTION SLOW.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 10:40 p.m.—A Hague dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says:

"The German Ministry of Finance is organizing a great canvassing campaign for the sixth German war loan, which, in financial circles, is considered less successful than the previous loan, the subscriptions being one-third lower. Berlin and Frankfort bankers openly state that the present failure shows the uselessness of launching a seventh loan."

GERMAN SUBMARINES ASSERTED OFF MAINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ROCKLAND (Me.) March 21.—A statement that German submarines are known to be not far from these shores and that an attack on Maine ports is by no means unlikely, was made by Lieut. James O. Porter, U. S.N., at a naval recruiting meeting here tonight.

The port, according to Lieut. Porter, is to be the base for seventy patrol boats operating in and about the mouth of the Penobscot River and bay.

CANAL IS SECURE, BELIEF AT CAPITAL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Army officers feel no uneasiness as to the security of the Panama Canal in the present crisis, despite many published reports that the big waterway is exposed to raiding parties intent upon crippling it. It was said authoritatively at the War Department today that the canal is regarded as the most secure of the nation's outlying possessions.

German propaganda in Central and South America has led to reports that raiding parties might attempt to dynamite the locks or other working sections of the canal. It was asserted that every inch of the locks and power plants is under constant patrol and no opportunity for such damage exists. All white employees in the zone are American citizens. The Governor has power to deport any suspicious persons without formality of trial, and there has been no hesitation in exercising that power.

Bombs dropped from airplanes could have little effect upon the massive concrete and steel structures of the canal, even if the aircraft escaped the guns of the garrison.

Sixty-fifth Congress.

PARTY LINES DISAPPEARING.

Needs of the Nation are First, Congressmen Declare.

Will Hurry Organization and Get Down to Business.

Undecided Balance of Power will not Delay Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Members of Congress still in Washington received President Wilson's call for an extra session April 2 with patriotic expressions and confident predictions that the close organization fight in the House would not be permitted to delay action on the grave questions to be submitted by the President. The Senate organized and adopted its anti-filibuster rule during the recent extra session. A joint session to hear the address of the President may be held without waiting for the House organization. This course is held to be legal and probably would hasten action in the House. In spite of their determination to bring about a quick conclusion, neither Democrats nor Republicans intend to surrender without a fight. Majority Leader Kitchin today sent out a call for a Democratic caucus March 30. Calls for Republican and so-called independent conferences are expected to follow.

DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS.

Democrats, it is declared, will caucus solidly despite the unpleasantness which arose over the prohibition fight in the dying days of the last Congress. The Republicans, because of the opposition to caucus rules among the Progressive element, probably will only confer. The five independents already have agreed to confer informally before the session.

Both big parties are expected to exercise emergency plans for organizing the House along partisan lines, or changing the present rules which require 218 votes, a majority of the total membership, to elect a Speaker. As each side, it is generally agreed, will have a total membership of only 214 on the opening day, it would be necessary under present rules for the winning party to attract four of the five Independents.

Many Republicans are opposed to permitting the balance of power to rest with the independents, and any proposed plan which would eliminate them from the fight would receive hearty reception in the Republican conference. Some Democrats have expressed themselves as favoring a change in the rules so as to permit less than a majority of the membership to elect. This has been done on two occasions, in 1809 and 1879.

Calling of the special session today made the independents a much greater factor in the organization plans than they would have been if the session had not convened until April 16, as originally planned. By then another Democrat would have been elected in the strong Tammany district formerly represented by the late Representative Conry and the Democrats would have needed only three independent votes to elect a Speaker. Whether either side can attract four independent votes to itself is doubtful. The Democrats base their hopes largely on the recent statement of Representative Schall, Progressive, of Minnesota, that he would retain his right to act independently and under no circumstances permit lack of his vote to delay organization of the House, and their belief that Speaker Clark is certain to poll the votes of three other independents—Representative London, Socialist, of New York, Representative Randall, Prohibitionist, of California, and Representative Martin, Progressive - protectionist, of Louisiana. The Republicans also claim 218 votes, classifying Representative-elect Fuller, of Massachusetts and Independent Representatives Schall and Martin as supporters of Representative Mann for Speaker and counting also on Representative - elect Kelly of Pennsylvania, a former Progressive, elected last fall as a Democrat-Progressive.

CONSIDER AGREEMENT.

Should either side be able in the early voting to win four independents, it is considered extremely likely that an effort will be made to reach an agreement to elect a Speaker by a majority of those present. This plan probably will be more readily agreed to if the five independents vote "present" during the early balloting. With their votes uncertain and 214 men voting for both candidates, both Democrats and Republicans, it is thought, would be willing to take a "sporting chance" on the independents.

A suggestion by Representative Towner, Republican, of Iowa, that the present House organization be maintained for a short period in order to expedite public business received a cool reception in congressional circles. The problems facing the country are not likely to become smaller, it was declared, and it would be best to have the organization work out of the way as quickly as possible.

PARIS, March 21, 3:31 p.m.—A semi-official communication issued here today absolutely denied the German affirmation that the retreating troops on the Somme front left five days' provisions for the civilian population.

"On the contrary," the communication adds: "The Germans not only took everything edible produced in the region, but seized a part of the stores in localities which had been provided by the American and Spanish relief committees. Fruit trees were cut down without being used for military purposes, poplars along the road were sawn three-quarters through, vines were torn from walls and agricultural tools were smashed wantonly, numerous grenades were placed around the edges of villages and wells and streams were poisoned or defiled."

WAR WITH US SOON A FACT.

Americans in Berlin Told Storm is to Break Within Forty-eight Hours.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 9:44 p.m.—According to private telegrams from Berlin to the Amsterdam Bourse it is expected that a state of war with the United States will be an accomplished fact within forty-eight hours, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam. "American journalists in Berlin," the dispatch adds, "have been warned to this effect by the Foreign Office."

part against Pereulna was entirely successful.

"North of Monastir there again was fighting."

PARIS VERSION.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 21.—The official statement tonight reads:

"North of Ham the situation is without change. Our light forces remain in contact with the enemy between Roupy and St. Quentine.

"East of Ham we forced this morning at two places a passage of the canal of the Somme, despite lively resistance by the Germans. The operation, conducted vigorously, enabled us to clear the north and east margins of the canal and drive back the enemy as far as the outskirts of Clastres and Montescourt. Inundations have been caused by the enemy in this region.

"Most of the villages before our lines near St. Quentine are in flames.

"We have advanced north of Tergnier (which lies southwest of La Fere-py.) In the Valley of the Allette there have been skirmishes between patrols. The enemy, who occupies in force the east bank of the Crozat Canal and the Ailette, has subjected our lines to a lively bombardment.

"North of Soissons we have made considerable progress and fought several quite spirited engagements. Most of the conquered villages are entirely destroyed.

"East of the Meuse the enemy delivered several surprise attacks against the Calonne trench, but these failed under our fire."

IN THE TRENTINO.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, March 21 (via London.)—"In the Trentino yesterday," says the official statement today, "there again was considerable artillery activity. On Costabella Massif, after a violent bombardment with gas shells, the enemy repeatedly attacked our advanced positions. He was repulsed with heavy loss. An enemy airplane was brought down in the vicinity of Loquiazza. The aviators were killed."

CREW OF TORPEDOED MEMPHIS ALL SAVED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Complete reports of the arrival in Glasgow of Capt. Borum and eight members of the crew of the City of Memphis were received today by the State Department from the American Consul there.

"Captain reports vessel sunk 4 p.m., the 17th inst., by German submarine, forty-four miles off Irish coast," the message read. "No resistance offered. Captain ordered abandon ship immediately. Warned by two shots across bow. Four boats were launched with difficulty in rough sea, taking off all crew.

"Vessel was subsequently sunk by gunfire. No other steamer in sight. No assistance offered crew by submarine. Eighteen hours in open boats before rescue.

"Total crew fifty-eight. Thirty were Americans. Remaining crew reported landed in Ireland.

"Crew landed at Glasgow included H. O. Bevill, N. P. Clausen, Charles Walker, David Jackson, Fred Prutting, S. Lindvigsen, Manuel Lopez, Manuel Barbrito. No casualties reported here."

Consul Stephens at Plymouth reported the names of fifteen men of the Vigilancia's crew who were drowned when the ship was sunk. Those lost were: Nells P. North, third officer; C. F. Aderhold, assistant engineer, of Attalla, Ala.; Estphan Lopez, mess boy; F. Brown, carpenter, and Joseph Siberia, quartermaster, all Americans; A. Rodriguez, Porto Rican; Julio Monterio, Peruvian; T. Rondond, Venezuelan; A. Gallitos and E. Dmitrios, Greeks; Joseph Livio, G. S. Sparrow, Juan Nesse, M. Vasquez and R. Gonzalez, Spaniards.

GRANT RAISE TO SWITCHMEN.

Adamson Law Benefits Given New York Central Men.

Forecasts Pay-roll Status of Many Workers.

Unions not Party to Old Agreement are Affected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21.—Switchmen on the New York Central Railroad will be given the benefit of the Adamson law dating from January 1 by the voluntary act of the company on the same basis as the members of the four brotherhoods, it was announced by the road today.

These men are members of the Switchmen's Union of North America, an organization not affiliated with the brotherhoods which submitted their demands, similar to those of the brotherhoods, to arbitration and received an average advance in pay of 13 per cent., dating from December 23, 1916.

They were bound by this award for one year. Their benefits under the Adamson law will be greater, as under the arbitration award they received nine hours' pay for eight hours' work, while under the schedules announced today they are to receive ten hours' pay for eight hours' work.

This action by the New York Central is the first answer to the question as to what would be the pay roll status of switchmen and other classes of railway workers not involved in the agreement regarding application of the Adamson law. There are about 5000 members of the switchmen's union.

RAE TANZER JURY ORDERED LOCKED UP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21. — After the jury in the case of Rae Tanzer, charged with perjury, had deliberated tonight for six hours without reaching a verdict, Judge Van Fleet of the United States District Court ordered that it be locked up for the night. The indictment against Miss Tanzer resulted from a suit for breach of promise which she brought against James W. Osborne, a former assistant District Attorney. The chief witness against Miss Tanzer was Charles H. Wax, who claimed it was he and not James W. Osborne who courted her, under the name of "Oliver Osborne."

His Confessions

CHAPTER LXI.

When I went recently to Montana to pass the examination of the Dental Board, with the purpose of eventually opening offices in that State, I discovered that there was a rule of that Board, identical with the rule of the California Board—that an applicant for an examination had to present, among other things, a letter, testifying to his good moral character and this letter, in the natural course of things, must come from the secretary of the Dental Board in his own State.

My ideas about moral character may be hazy. In fact, I can produce a willing army of my "ethical" friends who will tell you that I know no more about moral character than a cow does about the vicarious atonement. They will gladly testify that my bump of morality is a pit in my scalp. They will reel off a long list of my alleged transgressions against the moral, social, political and penal codes. They wouldn't give me a certificate for any kind of morality.

Apparently no such opinion persists in the brain of my justly celebrated friend, Dr. C. A. Herrick, secretary of the California Dental Board, to whom I sent for the letter demanded by the Montana Board. Dr. Herrick, so far as I am informed, never qualified in a public way as a humorist, but he unquestionably has rare qualities of subtle wit—discriminating and effective. He sent a letter, "testifying to my good moral character." For enthusiasm and hearty good feeling, I doubt if that letter can be equaled. It reads thus:

"To Whom It May Concern:

"This is to certify that Fainless Parker is a duly licensed dental practitioner of the State of California and holds license number 539.

"Given under my hand and seal this 5th day of January, 1917.

(Signed) "C. A. HERRICK,

"Secretary Board of Denial Examiners of California."

This generous tribute to my moral character must have deeply impressed the Montana Board, for it lost little time in ratificate. In case Dr. Herrick has not heard of the success of his efforts in my behalf in Montana, I hereby extend to him publicly my very warm thanks and assurances that, if I can be of equal service to him in the future, he may command me.

date of the extra session. With the menace of war looming close ahead, political differences began to fade. Some Congressmen already here went so far as to suggest that the fight for organization of the House be postponed until after the international situation had been dealt with.

DETAILS TO CONGRESS.

In laying the whole situation before Congress the President is expected to detail fully the warlike acts of Germany against the United States and to pay particular attention to the future of the American government as the great conflict draws to a close.

It is not improbable that he will ask Congress to declare a state of war existing, although there is some indication that he may only outline the situation fully and leave to Congress the action which is accepted as unavoidable. So much can develop, however, before Congress assembles, that the President is keeping his plans in a tentative form. Germany, by her acts in the interim, may throw all the plans awry and accept the onus of having forced the war.

Meanwhile, every preparation for putting the nation's defenses in condition to meet a state of war are going forward. The principal activities center in the navy, where far-reaching preparations are being carried on to deal with the submarine menace, whether it is to be met in the war zone about the British coasts or at the gates of American cities.

ARMY PLANS.

The army's plans are in a less definite state because of the uncertainties as to what part it will be called on to play. General Staff plans to fit several contingencies have been worked out, however, and every step that can be taken in the present situation has been taken. Tonight Secretary Baker conferred with the President, but the details they discussed were not revealed.

The possibility of Germany extending submarine operations to the Atlantic seaboard has not been underestimated, but it is recognized that when she extends her warfare from the comparatively limited barred zone to the 3000 miles of broad Atlantic she so effectively weakens her starvation blockade of England that the announced object of the campaign of ruthlessness will be of necessity abandoned. At the same time, the submarine menace to shipping will comparatively decrease.

WHAT'S DOING IN GERMANY

Next to war, the attention of the American government is upon one other object—the internal situation in Germany. With a military censorship screening the history-making events transpiring within the German empire and equally screening from the German people the full meaning of events in the world outside, the real condition of affairs in that country, guardedly reflected in dispatches from abroad, commands close attention.

Murmurings of a revolt against autocracy, emboldened by the revolution in Russia; reports of food riots in Berlin which are said to have necessitated the withdrawal of troops from the fighting lines; military successes by the Entente on the western front and in Asia Minor; the submarine campaign operating far below the efficiency predicted for it—all lead to the belief among officials here that possibly before Congress can assemble to meet the situation the world may be confronted with an entirely different set of conditions.

MAY USE LAND FORCES.

While it has been generally assumed that any aggressive action by the United States against Germany and in co-operation with the Entente would be purely of naval character, designed to aid in the extermination of submarines and raiders preying upon commerce, State Department officials declared today that this country might take any and all military measures deemed necessary to make effective its protest against Germany without actually entering into a formal political alliance.

ARMY TO BELGIUM?

Officials say that an army could be properly sent to Belgium, for instance, to help in the restoration of that violated territory and to throw America's influence in a real and practical way on the side of international law and order.

The possibility of a large bond issue to provide credit for some of the Allies who need it most in their campaign against Germany was suggested at the Capitol today in the conferences of members of Congress still in the city.

It was pointed out that the Allies have plenty of equipment, men and munitions now and that they want credit most of all.

WEAKNESS IN STATUS.

The armed neutrality status at present in force is held by the international law experts to present many points of weakness. It is said to leave open the door for unlimited litigation with Germany after the war.

Moreover, diplomatically, the United States is in a most extraordinary situation, semi-hostile to the Central Powers and yet not aligned with the Allies. The government is not taken into the confidence of nations with which it formerly communicated most freely. Especially is this so as to the Far East, about which the government's information is very meager.

Hopes that this government will be able to take a leading part in the ultimate peace conference as a neutral have vanished.

BORAH'S WARNING.

Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, issued a statement tonight commending the course of the President.

"Whatever the future has in store," he said, "the situation is sufficiently grave to call for the counsel and wisdom of the entire government. All who have responsibility should share in the work ahead of us. Congress cannot and will not, if it is worthy of its place in the machinery of our government, merely fulminate and then go home. It will want to know before it acts something of the future, something of what we are prepared to do, something of what we propose to do. If we ever put our hand to this plow and look back the contempt of the world will crush us. If we go forward without an intelligent conception of the task which our act will impose and without a thorough understanding of what and how we are to proceed to the end, we shall find ourselves at least engulfed in humiliation, if not in disaster."

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED, PUFFED-UP FEET

You're footsick! Your feet feel tired, puffed up, chafed, aching, sweaty, and they need "Tiz."

"Tiz" makes feet remarkably fresh and sore-proof. "Tiz" takes the pain and burn right out of corns, calluses and bunions. "Tiz" is the grandest foot-gladdener the world has ever known.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" at any drug store and end foot torture for a whole year. Never have tired, aching, sweaty, smelly feet; your shoes will fit fine and you'll only wish you had tried "Tiz" sooner. Accept no substitute.

BRITISH LINER SHOWS HEELS TO SUBMARINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21.—Passengers on board the Anchor line steamship Tuscania, British, which arrived today from Glasgow, said that on March 12, when about 300 miles out from the Scotch coast, the Tuscania encountered a German submarine. By putting on full speed and steering a zig-zag course the Tuscania escaped.

SIGNS WIDOWS' PENSION LAW.

Gov. Campbell Approves Social Service Act.

Clean up Bills Passed by Recent Legislature.

Will not Hasten Naming of New Appointees.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 21.—There has been expiration of the limit of ten days, exclusive of Sundays, set by the State Constitution within which the executive branch must either sign or reject bills left from the last hours of the Legislature. So Gov. Campbell has been working of nights lately, scrutinizing bills and passing them over to the Secretary of State.

Possibly the most important matter that has received his approval is Mrs. Marsh's "child welfare" bill, establishing a pension system for widows with dependent children and to a degree following the widows' and old-age pension law passed a couple of years ago by the electors and pronounced unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. This act is said to have been amended so as to eliminate the features objectionable to the courts. The allowance shall not exceed $30 a month for a widow with one child, $15 more for the second child and $10 for each additional child, with a family limitation of $60 a month. In each county the judge of the Superior Court shall appoint a board of child welfare of seven members, two of whom, at least, shall be women, and one member shall be the county charity officer. Allowances shall be for six-month periods, conditioned upon the good character of the mother, who must be a citizen of the United States and have been a resident of the county or city for one year immediately preceding the date of her application for relief. This act went through the Senate in its last hours, through the defection of Senator Kinney, who had been depended upon to oppose it. It has been called socialistic and there is fear that the expenditures called for will constitute a serious drain upon the public revenues. On the other hand, there is little doubt that such an act would be initiated at the next election, if not now accepted, with all chances for passage, possibly in much more drastic form. It is pointed out, also, that the allowances are not mandatory and need not be for the full sums stated, and that the residence and citizenship clauses will fence away any sudden influx of the destitute from across the international line. Also it has been shown that the poor relief now granted by the county supervisors already is one of the heaviest expense items and that the new law will merely divert to another accounting much of the money now given to paupers. The law is effective October 1, 1917.

ROAD TAX FUND.

Of large importance to the good roads movement is an approved bill providing a road tax fund of 10 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation, the money raised to be divided between the State, which is to get 25 per cent. for expenditure under the State Engineer, and the counties, which take the remainder.

Approval of a new anti-gambling law will make illegal all sorts of punch boards, the ordinary dice games maintained in the cigar stands and all gambling games where there are stakes or prizes of value.

The State Fair now is secure in its maintenance fund, cut off by the Legislature until its last day, and in the provision of a mining exhibit building to cost at least $30,000 and to be ready for occupancy in November.

Three bridge bills were signed, for approaches and repairs to the State highway bridges at Wellton and Florence, across the Gila, and across the Agua Fria, west of Phoenix.

Hereafter, through approval of a Senate measure, certificates brought to Arizona by physicians will have consideration, if from States where a reciprocal arrangement exists.

In the last hours of the ten-day limitation, Gov. Campbell signed the Commission of Public Institutions Bill, a pet measure of his political opponents, sponsored by Roberts of Cochise, abolishes the State Board of Control and puts its work and financial supervision of all State correctional and educational institutions under a board of three members appointed by the Governor and directly responsible to him. The act takes effect July 1.

VETOES.

Getchell's bill designating the Bradshaw Mountain route for the highway between Prescott and Phoenix was vetoed, as were seven sections of the appropriation bill, including a $5000 payment to the family of Leo Cloud, a university student electrocuted on the campus at Tucson. Other vetoed items mainly are covered by other bills. Seventeen bills turned over to the Secretary of State to become laws without executive signature include the following: Relief appropriations for Northern Arizona stockmen for horses killed by national authorities for Albert Steinfeld, A. J. Corbett and Mrs. J. W. Henderson; appropriations for State bridges across the Gila in Graham and Greenlee counties and across the Verde near Jerome, and for an artesian well in Apache county; Federalization of the National Guard, with some remarks by the Governor in the evident desire of the State Adjutant-General to make the bill assist in retention in office; a measure for reference to the people seeking a change from the present system forbidding contracts on public work; permitting counties to levy a specific tax for annual advertising and fair costs; granting county officials authority to collect arrears in salaries under changing laws; prescribing new qualifications for jurors; amending limitation of actions law.

NO PRESENT APPOINTMENTS.

In the latter days of the Legislature a few Democratic members were reported working to hold up the appropriation bill and secure an extra session simply in order that Gov. Campbell might not be given an opportunity to appoint a full set of State officials to displace the Democrats now drawing salaries. When the Legislature finally adjourned there was expectation that the Governor at least would renew the appointments of Doane Merrill as member of the Board of Control and George W. Smalley as State Examiner. It is told there has been rather a press of requests for appointment to office, and so the Governor has seen fit to issue the following statement:

"As long as present office-holders continue to work for the best interests of the State, and in harmony with the administration, I will make no recess appointments, despite the fact that considerable pressure is now being brought to bear by Republican politicians throughout the State. Should it develop that the contest in the Superior Court will drag over a period of many months, however, it is probable that a few appointments will follow within due course of time."

ELECTION OFFICIAL SWEARS SLEUTH OFFERED CASH.

Missing Witnesses, Bundles of Money, Dictograph Records and Wrathful Denials Add Interest to the Hunt-Campbell Gubernatorial Contest in the Phoenix Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, March 21.—Today the Hunt attorneys started upon a strong effort to impeach the methods by which the Campbell side of the gubernatorial contest secured evidence covering the alleged frauds in Douglas precinct No. 1. This work had been done especially by a Los Angeles detective agency, whose representatives are said to have used every effort to secure confessions or incriminating statements from Art Pearson and H. H. Hart, who have been named as leading in responsibility for the irregularities noted. A material witness, William Thaw, is missing, and Campbell attorneys have asked a warrant for his arrest and also for the arrest of Hart, who they fear will vanish. The court refused.

Hart himself was on the stand most of the day. On direct examination he told that a trap had been set for him by a detective known as Holther, who had represented himself as an organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, in Douglas, as a friend of Hunt. Holther, he said, had claimed that Hart and Pearson were in serious trouble, and had offered to take them to New York, or so far away that $6 would be required to get a postal card to them.

SAYS MONEY OFFERED.

Witness told that several times by Detective Garr he was advised that money was no object and that he might as well put himself on easy street. In evidence was offered a copy of a statement said to have been prepared by Garr for Hart's signature, but not signed, setting out a number of alleged precinct irregularities. Instead of complying, Hart said he consulted a lawyer and wired Hunt's manager in Phoenix, Secretary Leroy Ladd. He testified that at the polls about fifty physically-disabled voters asked for assistance in marking their ballots. He admitted he was not a resident of the precinct. All other witnesses had told that they had counseled such voters to erase marks made in error. Hart said he had suggested a change of ballots.

DENIES ACCUSATION.

In the afternoon, under cross-examination, Hart positively denied that he had said much that was read to him by Attorney Campbell, purporting to be a dialogue between himself and Detective Holther at the Gansden Hotel, or to have had any incriminating conversation with Assistant County Attorney Stevenson. After the denial had been repeated there was intimation by Attorney Campbell that within hearing of the interview at the Gadsden were former United States Marshal Ogurlock, Attorney Benshimol, Detective Garr and a stenographer. Hart insisted that whatever he had said anywhere that might sound incriminating was based upon a desire to lead on the detectives, in his own wish to benefit the cause of Gov. Hunt. With this object, he had told Stevenson that he had some incriminating evidence concerning the precinct, but beyond that what Stevenson had testified "was the blackest lie ever told between God and man." He only tried to trap the Campbell detectives into offering him a bribe.

Admission was made he had received $25 from Garr as expense money and that he had been subpoenaed for Campbell, though by wire. He had not participated in the drinking around the polling place; was not a drinking man. Then admission was made that he had been discharged by the Santa Fe system for violation of rule G. He had not bet on the election, as had been charged. Compared with his testimony of knewledge of the detective plots was evidence that he gave a detective a letter of introduction to Pearson, at the latter's Silver City retreat. Before the notable Gadsden interview he had wired Gov. Hunt asking if Holther was his representative. Though no answer then had been received, he told Holther that Hunt had indorsed him. Holther answered that "Hart had been right in wiring, adding concerning Hunt, "good old man George."

TAKE GIRLS IN RAID ON DOCTOR'S OFFICE.

Government Witness in Gill Graft Trial

Admits He Committed Perjury in Trial Last October

Two Members of Jury also on the Stand

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 21.—Fred Billingsley, whose government in the recent graft trial in the United States District Court, was recalled to the stand this afternoon at the request of the defense, that his credibility might be impeached. He admitted that he had committed perjury in the Superior Court October 1, but said he did it on the advice of his attorney, George F. Vanderveer, and in order to protect Mayor Gill, who was in the chair during the trial. The other two in the trial are Mayor Hiram C. Gill, Chief of Police Charles L. Beck, Detectives Peter Doom and McLennan, charged with conspiring with the Federal witness to get liquor into the State of Washington.

BILLINGSLEY'S ATTORNEY.

Billingsley at the time he alleged perjury was on the witness stand in connection of the dry law. He admitted that he swore falsely on fifteen times on advice of Attorney Vanderveer and Vanderveer since quarreled and Billingsley testified as a witness for the defense.

Two members of the jury were introduced to testify that they knew of no laxness in the jury ranks and no chance to influence them after August 1, on which Logan Billingsley was paid a $4000 bribe.

Otto Frey, alias Cook, principal witness for the defense, subjected to severe cross-examination today by counsel for the government. An effort was made to discredit his testimony. Earlier in the day, that Logan Billingsley had given him in San Francisco $1000 to "frame up" a story to implicate Mayor Gill in such a way that went to the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews and into general circulation.

Frey, a native of Germany, was former employee of Logan Billingsley in the shipment of liquor, and that he was at one time in the German government service, though he had called himself Consulate in San Francisco during the times while Consul-General Bopp was on trial for violation of the neutrality laws.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

The cross-examination brought out the story of how the Department of Justice agents worked himself into the confidence of Billingsley's counsel until they were on such intimate terms that Fay called on George Billingsley's counsel on Christmas, talked about the latter's legal difficulties with the government, and at no time did counsel suspect what he afterward testified he told him about the bribery. Mayor Gill himself was present during these conversations with Billingsley.

Witness said he had told the "frame-up" story to Chief of Police Charles L. Beck and Mayor Gill, and that they were seriously annoyed at the time he testified. Then, he said, he told counsel for the defense that Mayor Gill himself was implicated.

NERVE OF SAM TRANSCENDENT.

Agitator Protests Decision of the Supreme Court.

Declares Opinion Similar to Russian Despotism.

Finding on Adamson Law is Called Reactionary.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor presented to Atty.-Gen. Gregory today a protest against the declaration of the Supreme Court in the Adamson law decision, that the right of railroad employees to strike is limited by the public interest.

The union-labor leaders declared the court had gone out of its way to inject this "reactionary" assertion into its opinion. Later the following statement was given out, with the approval of Gompers, at federation headquarters:

"The president and secretary of the American Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison, today presented to Atty.-Gen. Gregory in his office a protest in the name of the workers of this country against the opinion rendered by the United States Supreme Court in going out of its way upon matters not before the court and dragging in compulsory arbitration.

"The Supreme Court, by interpolating into the law and argument before it for consideration a foreign matter, namely a denial to workers of the right to quit work in furtherance of their just and necessary rights, pointed out the way to those who wish to tie workers to their work in order to protect the supposed convenience of the public.

"Mr. Gompers called attention to the splendid, progressive and fundamental declaration in both Mexico and Russia, countries which are passing through a period of danger and national stress, assuring to the workers of those countries 'the right to strike.'

"The opinion of the United States Supreme Court in connection with the Adamson decision belongs to the reactionary despotism of Russia and Mexico, and is out of harmony with the free institutions of this republic."

DISTILLERS SEE SILVER LINING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) March 21.—The "bone dry" law as possibly a blessing in disguise for distillers was discussed here today at the annual stockholders meeting of the distillers securities corporation by the president, Julius Kessler.

It is expected in the trade, Mr. Kessler said, that many States now dry might go wet next fall if the bone dry law is strictly enforced.

Even in the event of nation-wide prohibition, Mr. Kessler added, the distilleries securities corporation would still have a big field in the production of alcohol for medicinal and industrial purposes. He said the corporation could adapt at small cost its grain distilleries to the manufacture of denatured alcohol from molasses.

AMERICAN WOMEN OPEN NEW HOSPITAL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 21, 5 p.m.—The new American women's hospital for officers in the West End of London, overlooking Hyde Park, was opened today. The opening, which was informal, was attended by 300 American women. Among those attending were Ambassador Page, Mrs. Page, Mrs. John Astor, Lady Randolph Churchill, the Duchess of Marlborough, Viscountess Harcourt, Lady Lowther and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid.

The hospital, which will care for fifty patients, was equipped by American women in London. The largest ward is named the Philadelphia ward, on account of the fact that women who formerly resided in Philadelphia subscribed the money for it. Another is named the Mary Burns ward, after a sister of J. W. Morgan.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HARTFORD (Ct.) March 21.—Gov. Marcus H. Holcomb told the inter-church men at a gathering this afternoon that emergency military legislation in Connecticut was hurried by information he had received which indicated there were in Connecticut men whose hostility to the State would be evident in time of war.

"Connecticut is in a most dangerous position," said the Governor. "If you knew half of what I know you would be scared to death, as I am sometimes. I am informed there is a great deal of drilling going on within the State every night right now and it is not in the interest of the United States. Also, we know of activities of men in munitions plants that will be a problem in time of war.

"The affairs of the country are a disgrace. We have a small army and navy even with filled ranks. The army is now 80,000 men shy and the navy is 20,000 men shy. There are not enough guns, and the arsenal in Springfield is working at one-fourth capacity. There is powder enough only for about a good three-hours' engagement. And in Washington they seem to be trying to learn if the Democrats or Republicans or Socialists will have the advantage.

"In my opinion we have been in war for some time. It takes two to make a war—a red-blooded war. The other party has been attacking our citizens and our property and making war on us for some time."

The "fallacy of rushing into war" should be impressed on Congressional leaders, they believed.

President Wilson, it was asserted, should be urged to renew at this time his peace proposals to the warring houses because of the effect of the Russian revolution upon Austria and Hungary. The speakers expressed the belief that the belligerents are at present in a receptive mood on the question of peace advances.

The Symbol of Culture

Is your home "interesting"? Is it distinctive—a home in the truest sense, characteristic of you and your family?

DO your friends delight in it? Do you prefer staying home to going out? A home cannot be made to order; it must be established and developed according to the individual ideas of its occupants. Your home reflects you as faithfully as the mirror does. It reflects your refined tastes and preferences, your whims, your artistic and intellectual inclinations, your sense of pleasure and comfort.

A piano in the home bespeaks a love of music. A library of books signifies a fondness for good literature. Oriental rugs on the floor, mahogany furniture, Tiffany glass and Sheffield plate all testify to a woman's love of the beautiful and artistic.

So, too, The Encyclopaedia Britannica is a Symbol of Culture.

This great work is a literary masterpiece, a recognized authority on knowledge. Its range of subjects is so vast that it is of practical daily value to university presidents, college professors, scholars, journalists, scientists, financiers, business men. It appeals alike to men and women.

You will find the new Britannica in homes of refinement and culture. It implies a love of knowledge, or an appreciation of literature and the fine arts, or a desire to obtain a broader outlook.

When you see the Britannica in a man's home, you know instinctively that the man and his wife and their children are intelligent and interesting. And everyone likes well-informed, intelligent persons.

You wouldn't think of paying several hundred dollars for a piano merely to say you had a piano. You buy a piano because of your love of music.

Nor would you think of buying a set of the Britannica merely to adorn a corner of your living room. The very fact that you want to own the Britannica is evidence that you are a cultured man or woman, or intend to be. And you certainly ought to own a set. What is home without a complete and interesting work of reference?

If you are one of the 160,000 present owners of the new Britannica, you know that the Britannica is not merely ornamental.

To your friends, a set of the Britannica in your home is a Symbol of Culture. But to you, the owner, it is far more than that. It is an invaluable library of facts and information—a book which increases in its value the more you use it.

You buy the Britannica not as you sometimes buy an article of furniture, for its beauty alone, but because of your sincere love of knowledge.

Its very presence is an inspiration. Once you own a set of the Britannica and have it available, you cannot resist reading it. Questions arise in the daily news, and you turn to the Britannica for the answers. You read something that interests you and you want to know more about it—you find it in the Britannica. You are interested in philosophy, or science, or religion, or astronomy—and, as you become better acquainted with this great work, you discover that it is replete with articles touching every phase of every question.

Here is the recorded story of the world—the history of men and nations, the romance of science and invention, the adventure of exploration and discovery, the secrets of Nature. The Britannica is literature, as well as an inexhaustible storehouse of facts and information! It is so interestingly written that it charms you. And the more you read it, the greater its value.

You certainly should own the new Britannica. But you must act at once if you desire to buy a set in the popular "Handy Volume" form, printed on genuine India paper. War makes it impossible to obtain any more India paper for printing the Britannica—the few remaining sets are the last that can be offered on this famous paper.

Send the coupon today. This will bring you an illustrated book (free), telling all about the new Britannica.

It will also tell you how you can obtain one of the last sets printed on genuine India paper for a first payment of Only $1 the balance payable in small monthly amounts for a limited period.

TO FIX RATES FOR UTILITIES.

Senate Committee has Adopted Tax Recommendations.

Committee Opposes Increasing Cities' Bonding Limit.

Nevada-California Dispute may Soon be Settled.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—The recommendations of the State Tax Commission fixing the tax rates on public utilities, banks and insurance companies to produce revenue sufficient to meet the operating expenses of the State for the next two years were adopted today, with one exception, by the Senate Committee on Revenue and Taxation. The committee held a joint meeting with the Assembly committee for the purpose of hearing objections. The single protest came from the tax attorney representing the gas and electric companies, whose rate was increased from 5.25 per cent. to 5.60 per cent., and a special hearing was ordered for next Wednesday to allow those corporations to present reasons showing why the increase should not be made effective.

RATES ARE LOWERED.

In no other instance was the rate of any utility raised from the 1915 figures adopted by the Legislature, but in three instances the rates were lowered. The corporations affected by the decreases are telegraph and telephone companies, express companies and banks. The telegraph and telephone companies, by constitutional provision, are grouped in the fixing of the State tax rates.

Clyde L. Seavey, until recently chairman of the State Tax Commission, presented the figures as being the conclusions of the commission's investigation during the last eighteen months. Representatives of the various interests affected, with the single foregoing exception, declared their willingness to abide by the rates, although the banks and express companies declared their respective rates to be too high.

FIGURES COMPARED.

A comparison of the old and new rates follows:

| | 1915-17 | 1917-19 |
| Railroads | 5.25 | 5.25 |
| Gas and electric companies | 5.25 | 5.60 |
| Telegraph and telephone companies | 4.50 | 4.50 |
| Express companies | 1.00 | 1.00 |
| Insurance companies | 2.00 | 2.00 |
| Banks | 1.50 | 1.10 |
| General corporations | 1.50 | 1.20 |
| Car companies | 5.05 | 5.05 |

SEVERAL BILLS PASSED.

The Senate showed no disposition today to attack its own bill calendar with a view to clearing away forty-three measures that have been piling up for the last week because of the certainty of precipitating prolonged debate. Instead, the Assembly calendar was given the most attention. As a result of the day's session four Senate and nine Assembly bills were passed, and one Assembly measure, the so-called shrimp bill, was defeated. The shrimp bill came from the Assembly with a record vote of 75 to 1 in its favor, but the Senate rejected it 20 to 16.

The bill would open a strip of Marin county shore for the purpose of shrimp fishing with bag nets, now prohibited. Opposition to the bill came from the State Fish and Game Commission, which contended that the use of bag nets, which are closely woven, would result in the wholesale destruction of small fish. A divided recommendation accompanied the bill to the floor of the Senate.

Duncan's bill to require produce commission merchants to file a $5000 bond with the Secretary of State before engaging in business was the only Senate measure of importance to be approved. It is aimed to protect the interests of producers who may suffer losses by reason of transactions with the commission men.

The Assembly bills approved mainly were minor amendments to the fish and game laws and county government bills.

MONEY LENDERS' BILL.

Regulation of money lenders by the Commissioner of Corporations, as provided by the terms of a bill by Senator Gates, was approved in a report of the Senate Judiciary Committee and submitted to the Senate today. The measure imposes a license of $100 a year on all money lenders or pawnbrokers who charge a greater rate of interest that 8 per cent., and establishes a maximum rate of 3½ per cent. a month for small loans not exceeding $300.

Information given to the commission showed that small loans averaged about $10 and their duration did not exceed ninety days. The so-called anti-usury bill by Senator Brown, establishing a maximum rate of 1 per cent. a month, also was discussed in the committee, but it practically was the unanimous belief that the Gates bill more nearly would regulate the whole field of money lending, not including banks and other associations which already are regulated by the State.

The committee was of the opinion that the Gates bill should be tried out for a period of two years in order that its effects may be observed and a report made on the subject to the next Legislature by the Commissioner of Corporations. Some of the features of the Russell Sage Foundation are included in the bill.

The Senate Civil Service Committee today approved the passage of Inman's bill exempting attaches and employees of the Supreme and Appellate courts from the provisions of the Civil Service Commission. The committee disapproved the Stuckenbruck bill, which would abolish the commission.

STATE MARKET HEARING.

Another hearing on legislation affecting the State Market Director was held before the Senate Agriculture Committee today. Senator Luce's bill, which seeks to broaden the powers of the market director, was debated. It is considered probable that one or two more hearings on Weinstock bills will be held.

E. L. Wolfe, San Francisco Supervisor and former Senator, assailed Weinstock's administration as representative of cannery interests and packers. "Nothing has been done by the State Market Director to help the consuming public," he said. "He has organized the producers in restraint of trade."

J. C. Tucker, representing the California Almond Growers' Association, spoke in favor of the Luce bill. A. L. Winker of Grass Valley, who has long opposed Weinstock's policies, said that the brief experiment with the marketing act has created antagonisms on all sides.

IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Three sessions of the Assembly today resulted in passage of twenty measures. At the plea of Hawes of San Francisco the Assembly voted authorization to spend $1000 out of the fish and game fund for restoring Paper Mill Creek in Marin county to its original channel, from which it was diverted by the 1906 earthquake. At one time Paper Mill Creek near Point Reyes station was a famous "poor man's trout stream."

Another Hawes measure, to provide for payment of $5 to sheriffs for the transportation of insane persons to asylums, evoked long argument during the afternoon session. The bill finally passed.

Authorization of irrigation districts to co-operate and contract with the United States under provisions of the Federal reclamation laws, and in a bill by Dennett, was approved.

Today's bills passed by the Assembly included:

By Satterwhite—Authorizing an increase in the number of Alameda county Superior judges.

By McCray—Validating Happy Valley irrigation district proceedings.

By Doran—Relating to inhuman treatment of prisoners.

By Argabrite—Relating to Ventura county officers' fees.

By Senator Johnson—Extending the provisions of the McInerny act to apply to San Mateo county title records; relating to the duties of special administrators, and relating to the payment of secured debts by special administrators.

By Senator Gates—Relating to relief for purchasers of school lands.

STATE WATER DISPUTE.

Amicable settlement of the controversy between California and Nevada over water rights is a step today, when the Committee on Conservation ably passed upon two measures by Dennett to establish water rights.

One of the Dennett measures, passed by the State water conservance, would repeal the act of 1911, entitled, "An Act to Conserve and Maintain the Navigability of and Streams and to Prevent the Waters From Being Carried Into Other States."

The other, offered by Dennett, would make it possible for the beneficial use of water originating in this State which flows into California. Oregon has such a reciprocity with California's water diverted to Lower States have already Truckee River, Lake Klamath River and Quincy to the Honey Lake Lassen county.

After extended argument the Assembly today voted in favor of the Fish and Game Commission over fish screens of pipes, flumes, etc., in streams. The bill was introduced by Simon, and had been passed by the Assembly Fish and Game committee. Efforts were made to refer the measure to the committee on Irrigation, and the motion in its favor was 54 to 11.

Defeat was meted out to Satterwhite's bill to require publication of bids by counties relating to public work and to alter present methods of purchasing supplies.

Horbach of Fresno secured passage of his bill providing for courses in Normal schools to study the problems of rural teachers.

BONDING OF CITIES.

The Assembly Committee on Municipal Corporations today voted to recommend to Senator Stetson's bill to authorize increasing the bonding capacity of cities to 15 per cent of the assessed valuation.

The measure would help the city of Los Angeles in its municipal waterworks plans. At a hearing it was agreed that a substitute bill be drafted. This would permit cities of the sixth class, now limited in its life to 25 years, to issue bonds for a year, which would enable the city to obtain a waterworks bond issue without disturbing the 15 per cent limit of bonded indebtedness. Hearings on other California water corporations.

A substitute bill, similar to that of the provisions of the act for the destruction of noxious weed bill, also was favorably reported by the same committee.

A measure by Wright of San Pedro and other members of the commercial waterfront districts, similar in organization to the districts, passed from the Committee on Commerce to the Committee on Conservation today with favorable recommendation.

The Assembly Committee on Amendments Conference today brought out the proposed Hawes amendment framed in the interests of San Francisco and San Pedro in the consolidation.

H. M. B. writes: "Can you please prescribe medicine which will relieve me of such distressing symptoms of kidney and bladder, as the following: Pains in small of back, soreness in region of bladder, frequent calls at night, but scanty flow, with pain, burning and foul odor, puffing of limbs, etc."

Answer: Those seeking relief from kidney and bladder disorders, should begin taking balmwort tablets, a very successful formula sold in sealed tubes with full directions.

Mrs. N. L. writes: "Last winter I was cured of a bad case of bronchitis by using your prescription containing menthoxlene, and have been very grateful and confident of getting good advice. I wish to know of a good, safe medicine to reduce my abnormal weight about 30 pounds."

Answer: I thank you for your confidence and advise that five-grain arbolene tablets is the reliable obesity medicine which I always prescribe. In sealed tubes with directions. Any druggist can supply you.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur.) Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Bloodless" writes: "I sign after my name 'bloodless,' because that seems to be my condition. I am pale, thin and chilly all the time. My appetite is feckless, but even when I eat a great deal I do not gain in weight."

Answer: I would advise plenty of exercise and a persistent use of three-grain hypo-arcuiane tablets to increase your blood and flesh. They tend to improve digestion and the proper absorption of nourishment. A gain of a pound or two a week is not unusual.

Mrs. P. G. writes: "I hesitate to ask advice, as my case is so unusual. In a word, I am tired and worn out all the time. Rest does not refresh me. I have been married over a year and formerly did not know what it was to be tired or nervous. Sometimes I feel hysterical. I fear I will become a nuisance to my husband if this continues."

Answer: Your nervous system has been depleted. You need a tonic invigorating medicine that will aid in supplying more food-energy to your nerves. Take three grain cadomene tablets regularly for several months.

NOTE: For many years Dr. Baker has been giving free advice and prescriptions to millions of people through the press columns, and doubtless has helped in relieving illness and distress more than any single individual in the world's history. Thousands have written him expressions of gratitude and confidence.

METEOR CRASHES INTO MOUNTAIN.

Flares Across Owens Valley and Brings up Against High Sierras.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BISHOP, March 21.—Illuminating the upper Owens Valley for half a minute like a searchlight in the skies a meteor of extraordinary size and brilliancy flared across from east to west last night and brought up against the high Sierra Nevada. There was a crash that could be heard for miles when the foreign body hit the mountainside far above the floor of the valley. It sounded like the impact of a projectile from a great gun against a fort.

Residents were startled by the passage of the mighty streak of blue-white fire through the darkness, and again by the loud explosion that followed contact with the granite range which stopped it. Then followed a tumbling of dislodged stones not far from the camp of the Round Valley Tungsten Company.

ARRAIGN PICO MURDER CULPRITS.

WIFE CARRIES SPHINX-LIKE FACE WHEN IN COURT.

Examination of Both Accused of the Crime will Take Place on Monday, According to Present Plans—Young Man Accused on the Verge of a Break-down.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 21.—Helen May Pico and Richard Newton Paaske were arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace W. H. Wheaton this afternoon, charged with the murder of the former's husband, Pio Pico, at Honda station. Their examination was set for next Monday morning.

The prisoners were whisked into court and back to jail as quickly as possible to avoid the curious throngs. The young woman gazed at the justice and spectators without flinching, at times a leering smile playing across her face. Once she let her gaze rest upon her companion in arms and for an instant an expression of sympathy stole over her sphinxlike features.

Paaske was in tears during the court ordeal and trembling violently. The youth is apparently on the verge of collapse. From every indication he has been absolutely under the dominating power of the young woman's stronger will.

It is not believed that a third person will be arrested, though the evidence in possession of the officers proves that one other person shared a knowledge of the crime for several days before the officers had a definite clew.

STRIKER USES KNIFE.

Orange Picker Refuses to Join His Fellow-workers in a Demand for an Eight-hour Day and for so Doing is Stabbed Fatally. Man in Hospital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, March 21.—Because, it is alleged, he refused to join his fellow orange pickers in holding out for an eight-hour day, instead of agreeing to the foreman's demand for ten hours, John Macias, aged 25, is believed dying tonight as the result of knife wounds inflicted by Joe Puenta, another member of the gang with which he was working at Sixth street and Euclid avenue this morning. Puente made his getaway after the stabbing and is now sought by Ontario and Upland officers.

When Macias agreed to a ten-hour day, he is said to have been taken to task by Puente. Warm words were exchanged, Puente drawing a large knife as a climax, first slashing Macias's leg and then burying the dirk in the man's back. A doctor was called and Macias was rushed to his home, where it is said he will die. He is unmarried.

NO MORE SUCKERS, SAYS A GAMBLER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, March 21.—"There ain't no more suckers, or else they get wise when they get in their teens," said a man giving the name of Charles Thomas, who gave his occupation as gambler, but declared that there was nothing else for him to do but beg for a living. Thomas was arrested by Officer Dice on a charge of begging.

The man said he believes that if P. T. Barnum were still alive he would not say a "sucker is born every minute." Judge King sentenced him to thirty days.

JURY RENDERS SUICIDE VERDICT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, March 21.—The Coroner's jury convened to inquire into the death of Victor Kappeler, whose lifeless body was found by his wife in the bedroom of their home, No. 518 B street, brought in a verdict of suicide at the conclusion of their hearing.

Kappeler shot himself through the head, after writing a note in which he blamed financial reverses in the magnesite industry for his act. The day before his death he deeded all his property to his wife.

Kappeler was 41 years of age, and had been a resident here about one year.

NEWSBOYS TO SEND LOBBY.

Long Beach Lads Organize to Fight Bill.

They Finance the Campaign from Own Funds.

Engage Band to Play at Their Next Meeting.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, March 21.—Local newsboys today decided to "fight to a finish" the proposed law, now before the Legislature, that would prohibit boys under the age of 14 from selling newspapers.

At a meeting today, at which time the Long Beach newsies organized and elected officers, it was decided to send a lobby to Sacramento and conduct a monster mass meeting in the municipal auditorium to present their cause to the public.

The newsies have reserved the auditorium for Saturday night, selected their speakers and engaged the municipal band to play. They are financing the expense of the hall out of their own funds.

Eugene Brown acted as chairman of today's meeting. The following officers were elected: Jimmie Cochran, president; Elmer Hinkley, marshal of parade; Franklin Francis, publicity secretary; Volmer King, Harvey Trueman, Hyme Enisman, Russell Van der Hoof, Executive Committee. The Publicity Committee comprises Eugene Brown, Jimmie Cochran, Elmer Hinkley and Franklin Francis.

Another meeting has been called for tomorrow, at which time plans for the mass meeting to be held Saturday night will be perfected.

Among the speakers Saturday night will be Commissioner of Public Affairs Frank M. Cates, Attorneys E. E. Tincher, J. G. Munholland, R. G. Swafield, and Ralf Goddard, realty dealer.

GOVERNOR AT LONG BEACH.

Gov. Samuel V. Stewart of Montana today joined the large number of notables from that State that are now sojourning in Long Beach. The Governor joined his wife and daughter Leah, who have been visiting in this city for the past two months. The family will remain for ten days or two weeks longer.

Adjt.-Gen. Philip Greenan and State Senator James E. Lane of Montana have arrived in Long Beach during the past two days, and, with United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh, were among the seventy-five guests today that attended the wedding of Miss Edith Lane, daughter of State Senator J. E. Lane, and Dana Wallace Aughenbaugh, son of a Minnesota flour magnate, at Hotel Virginia.

Gov. Stewart of Montana is now on his second term in that office, having been elected for another four-year term January 1 of this year.

With copper and zinc, both of which are extensively produced in Montana, commanding big prices, and with wheat and wool, two more of the principal products of that State, also up and still ascending, Gov. Stewart declared that Montana was enjoying an unprecedented era of prosperity.

REDLANDS COMPLETES CHAUTAUQUA PLANS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, March 21.—All plans have been completed for the big Chautauqua to be held in this city in May and the 600 ticket holders necessary are now assured. The entertainment this year promises to be better than ever before and will be headed by the "Chimes of Normandy" Company of twenty-four people and a large orchestra.

Among the lecturers will be Chauncey Hawkins, author and lecturer; Dr. E. A. Turner, community builder; Annie Thereon Bevault, dramatic reader; Montaville Flowers, Dr. Henry Smith Williams and Leo Francis Lynbarger.

Other musical numbers will be James Goddard, opera singer; Smith-Spring-Holmes Quintette, Ongawa Company in a Japanese play, the Musical Arts Quartette and the Davenny Festival Quintette.

HARD LINES OVER LIVERY STABLE BILL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, March 21.—After enjoying a year of liberty following an escape from the yard of the County Jail, Arthur Williams is back in jail.

Williams was sentenced by Justices Brewer of Paso Robles to serve ninety days for "beating" a livery bill. He entered the County Jail here March 13, 1916, and was made a "trusty." He escaped six days later. He was rearrested in Taft, Saturday, and was yesterday brought back to complete his sentence by Sheriff Taylor.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, March 21. J—Corral-fed steers are bringing 10 cents per pound, the highest price recorded in the history of the cattle-feeding industry here.

Delivery was made by the Porterville Alfalfa Company of three cars of fancy beef for a Los Angeles concern, the cattle bringing $112.50 per head.

ALMOST A RIOT AMONG JAPANESE

Lose Their Fish and One Day's Work Through Mistake of Interpreter.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, March 21.—Japanese fishermen at East San Pedro came near causing a riot late last night upon their return from Long Beach after an all-day trip and unsuccessful attempt to dispose of several tons of sardines.

The canneries here were unable to take all the fish offered and instructed the fishermen, through an interpreter, to take the catch to a Long Beach cannery. Through misunderstanding the interpreter the fishermen started for a fertilizer plant instead of the cannery. Then their boats grounded in the harbor at Long Beach. By the time they got the boats off it was too late to dispose of the fish.

Losing a day's time and their fish was too much for the Japanese and they returned to collect damages. A police officer was called and he rescued the interpreter before he was roughly handled.

COULD NOT GET THE BEANS FOR DELIVERY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, March 21.—A new phase in bean litigation which promises to thresh out a new angle in a most interesting case is the charge made yesterday in a complaint filed in the Superior Court by the Farmers' Warehouse Company against the Hogue-Kellogg Company of this city for failing to deliver 50,000 pounds of limas which it contracted to deliver in consequence of which the plaintiff claims to be out $2700. The complaint sets forth that the warehouse company entered into contract with the Hogue-Kellogg Company for the purchase of 150,000 pounds of lima beans. It is admitted that 50,000 pounds were delivered on October 23, 1916, and 50,000 more on November 14, 1916.

The complaint affirms that the plaintiff has made repeated demands for the other 50,000 pounds. It is stated, moreover, that in November, last, when the completion of the contract was scheduled, the plaintiff could not have purchased the beans elsewhere at any price less than $2750 in addition to the price contracted for with Hogue-Kellogg. Hence the plaintiff wants the $2750.

COMPANY E TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, March 21.—Word was received today by Mayor S. L. Berkley from Adjt.-Gen. J. J. Borree that Co. E, Seventh Regiment, California National Guard, will be mustered out of the service April 1. The reason given by the Adjutant-General is that the company is not up to standard, only ten men having taken the new government oath which places the guard permanently under the Federal government.

PLEDGE NINETY PER PER CENT. OF CROPS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, March 21.—At the conclusion of the meeting of the Tulare County Canning Peach Association it was stated that more than 90 per cent. of the crop of the county has been pledged to the association for a pool sale this fall.

W. A. Sime of Farmersville, J. K. Tuttle of Mineral King and J. W. Davidson of Visalia have been named as the committee to have charge of the selling work.

No prices have been named as yet, but members of the committee declare they do not expect to contract for less than $40 per ton, and some are expecting as high as $50.

JURY DISCHARGES ANAHEIM DOCTOR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, March 21.—The preliminary hearing of Dr. C. W. Harvey of Anaheim in the Justice Court here on a charge of having caused the death of Mrs. A. E. Baker of Anaheim on February 15 by an illegal operation was concluded this afternoon and the defendant was discharged.

Evidence introduced was not sufficient, in the opinion of Justice Cox, to warrant the holding of the accused for trial in the Superior Court.

AN EXTRAORDINARY PREMIUM OFFER TO TIMES SUBSCRIBERS

The Wonderful New Rose

"LOS ANGELES"

We have secured a limited number of big two-year-old plants of the famous rose, which, if set out now will bloom within ninety days. It cannot be purchased anywhere in the United States for less than $2 during the season of 1917. This superb variety, originating in the "Land of Sunshine and Flowers," is an American Rose for American Gardens.

"LOS ANGELES"

It surpasses all other roses in brilliancy of color, beauty of form and profusion of bloom.

NEW IN COLOR—Luminous flame pink-toned with coral and shaded with translucent gold at the base of the petals.

PROFUSE IN BLOOM—An unbroken succession of large perfect flowers from early Spring until late Autumn. "Los Angeles" produces better flowers in the open ground than can be grown under glass.

STRONG IN GROWTH—Tall, vigorous canes, each one bearing a large number of superb flowers. The foliage is absolutely mildew proof.

The "Los Angeles" Rose will be given to new subscribers signing a six months subscription contract payable 85c per month. Fill out the following contract and send it to The Times-Mirror Company, First and Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

Coupons will be issued by The Times and mailed to subscribers living in or near Los Angeles, who decide to take advantage of the offer, which are to be presented at Howard and Smith's store, Ninth and Olive streets, Los Angeles, in exchange for plants. No deliveries will be made in the city.

Those living out of town will have the plants delivered to them by Parcel Post, all charges prepaid.

Our allotment of the Los Angeles Rose is limited and you are therefore urged to give us your order as early as possible.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

Town..... Date.....

Gentlemen:—In consideration of your delivering to me as a premium one "Los Angeles" Rose, value $3.60. Terms six months' subscription, 85c per month.

I hereby agree to subscribe for The Times (Daily and Sunday), and will pay for the same regularly every month, according to the above terms, which include the regular subscription price of The Times for the period above mentioned. It is understood that this premium will be delivered to me within 30 days after approval of this contract by you and that the said premium will remain the property of The Times-Mirror Company until the contract has been fulfilled. I promise to notify The Times at once should I change my residence.

Classified Liners.

AGATE TYPE ONLY.

Accepted subject to the following rates and rules: Rates—The rate for inserting Want Ads in the Daily Times is 1c per word each insertion; in the Sunday Issue, 1½c per word each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; applicable to each single or consecutive insertion; except under the following classifications for which 2c per word daily, 2½c per word Sunday, minimum charge, applicable to a single insertion and to each consecutive insertion 50c daily, 60c Sunday: Boarders Wanted, Business Opportunities, Cards, Chiropractic, Dancing, Dressmaking, Employment Agencies, Financial, Help Wanted, Lessons, Money to Loan, Salary and Chattels, Diamonds and Jewelry, "Physicians," "Medical," "Chiropractic," "Hypnotism," and "Baths and Massage."

An extra charge of 25 per cent is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White spaces and dashes are charged for on the basis of seven words to a line.

Ads. must be counted strictly by the word. For paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to a full line in caps; estimate five (5) average words to the first line, and eight (8) average words to each line following in this kind of advertising. The actual number of words set solid is counted, and eight (8) words added for each unfilled line.

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occuring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which affect the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the sense or purpose of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not affected by an error or errors which may occur in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment of "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Phone orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order if their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute no charge will be rectified unless the number of the "stop order" number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 100,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up The Times, Main 8200; Home 10801, and one of our ad-takers will call at once and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times does not knowingly accept objectionable advertisements of any kind or character—"fake," fraudulent, deceptive, questionable, etc.—and it uses every reasonable precaution to keep its advertising columns clean and wholesome. This is done as a protection to its readers, as well as to its legitimate advertising patrons.

INSTANT SERVICE FOR TIMES PATRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Optimists to Meet.

Mayor Woodman will be one of the speakers at a meeting of the Optimists' Club at noon today at Jahnke's Tavern.

On Darwin.

Joseph Gall Garrison of Eureka will give a lecture on "An Evening With Darwin" at the First Unitarian Church this evening.

Licensed to Marry.

Frederick Gilbert Grant of Los Angeles and Martha Bertha Weber of St. Louis were licensed to marry in St. Louis yesterday.

Anglo League Meeting.

The Anglo League will hold its second meeting tonight at room 630, Black Building. Members of the parent-teacher associations are invited.

Take a Spoon.

All persons here who once lived in Grinnell, Iowa, are invited to the picnic Saturday at Sycamore Grove and are asked to take lunch, cup and spoon.

Doctor of Laws.

Edward B. Warman, A.M., better known to our readers as "Vigorously Yours," has had the honor conferred upon him of the degree of Doctor of Laws.

A School Benefit.

A mask ball will be given in Akay's Hall, corner Vernon and Central avenues, Saturday evening, for the benefit of the Hebrew Educational School.

To Sierra Club Members.

George H. Maxwell will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Sierra Club at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Broadway Department Store cafe.

Ryan to be Speaker.

W. D'Arcy Ryan, designer of the new Broadway lighting system, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Broadway Improvement Association at noon tomorrow at No. 215 South Spring street.

A Day of Prayer.

The forty-eighth anniversary of the organization of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be celebrated tomorrow by a day of prayer at the First Methodist Church, beginning at 10 a.m.

Driffill's Funeral.

The funeral of Maj. J. A. Driffill, general manager of the American Beet Sugar Company in Southern California, will be held Saturday. There will be services at the residence at Oxnard at 10 o'clock a.m., after which the body will be brought to Los Angeles and taken to Rosedale crematory by automobile.

Botanical Section to Meet.

The botanical section of the Southern California Academy of Sciences will hold its monthly meeting in the music room of the Los Angeles Public Library, this evening at 7:45 o'clock. All persons interested in the study and preservation of local native flora are invited to be present.

A Drummond Night.

The Alliance Francaise will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Ebell Club tonight at 8 o'clock. L. F. Briois of the Orton school will speak on William Henry Drummond, the poet, whose best-known work, "The Habitant," brought the French-Canadian peasant to the notice of the world.

Banquet and Dance.

A banquet, followed by a dance, will feature the gathering of the County Employees' Benefit and Improvement Association in the palm garden of the Broadway Department Store, Thursday evening, April 12. A picnic is planned to be given at Eagle Rock Park when the summer season opens.

Seek a Claimant.

A copy of the "Genealogy of the Fairbanks Family in America," by Lorenzo Sayles Fairbanks, is awaiting a claimant at the office of the Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, No. 115 South Broadway. The book has the following inscription in ink on a fly leaf: "Merry Christmas, 1903, to Leon Fairbank Mullen, from Mother."

Services Attract Many.

A daily increasing number of men and women from other communions than the Episcopal Church is noted at the noon Lenten meetings being held in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral from 12:05 to 12:30 o'clock. Dr. A. W. Noel Porter is the speaker this week. His subject today will be "The Man Who Paid the Price." Tomorrow he will speak on "The Man Who Sold His Soul," and on Saturday his subject will be "The Man Who Lost Both Thumbs." Yesterday Dr. Porter spoke on "The Man With a Great Partner."

For an Orange Grove.

Mr. Elden Charfris, formerly with Robert Marsh & Co., and his wife have exchanged with Mrs. C. C. Stroud their residence at No. 1606 Winona boulevard, Hollywood, and other valuables for her fourteen-acre orange grove, one mile southeast of Exeter, Cal. The grove is considered one of the best in that part of the State, and is one of the show places at Exeter. It is improved with a nine-room house and outbuildings. Mrs. Charfris several weeks ago purchased forty acres of orange land nearer the foothills and about one mile east of the grove.

BUYS CATTLE RANCH.

William A. Freeman Becomes Owner of Ventura Lands.

Attorney William A. Freeman yesterday concluded a deal with the Aliso Ranch Company whereby he becomes the owner of the Cook cattle ranch in Ventura county. The ranch, which includes 4250 acres of land, is stocked with cattle and comprises the entire holdings of the company.

This was a cash deal, Mr. Freeman paying $70,000 for the property. He expects to run it as a first-class stock ranch and will later make it his country home.

Mr. Freeman had commenced negotiations for the ranch before the death of Supervisor William Cook, president and director of the Aliso Land Company, who was killed two months ago in an automobile accident.

CHILD DIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, March 21.—After a many months' battle against tuberculosis, Nita Alice Meadows, only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Meadows, the latter a well-known Southern Pacific engineer, was claimed by death this morning. After a brief service here the remains will be taken to Riverside for interment in Olivewood Cemetery. The little girl was 15 years of age, her birth occurring in Los Angeles, January 23, 1902.

A Benefit.

FOR SETTLEMENT HOUSE

Pleasing Programme is Arranged for Entertainment on Saturday Afternoon at the Alexandria to Raise Funds for a Worthy Work.

A pleasing programme has been arranged for the musical and card party to be held Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Alexandria under the auspices of the officers and directors of the Los Angeles Settlement House.

The programme, which will begin at 2 o'clock and continue until 4 o'clock, includes a piano solo by Miss Ruth May Shaffner; vocal solo, Miss Lucile Wright; "Grandma's Minuet," Miss Margaret O'Brien, with Miss Susanna Joyce at the piano; Spanish songs, Mme. Manuella Budrow, with Miss Helen Gardom at the piano; "The Cocoon" (Abt.), Miss Irene Wadey; Greek dance, from the Denishawn school, Misses Elizabeth Grey, Johanne Johnston and Elizabeth Rider; jester's dance, Jack Fishers; dramatic reading, Mrs. Kate Hamer; French nursery songs, Miss Ruth Hayward, with Miss Helen Gardom at the piano.

Among the patronesses are Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, Mrs. O. T. Johnson, Miss Lucretia del Valle, Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mrs. Frank de Long, Mrs. R. P. del Valle, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. William Hammel, Mrs. A. B. Colwell, Mrs. Carl Stillwell, Mrs. Frank Chase, Mrs. James T. Neighbors, Mrs. Foster C. Wright, Mrs. J. F. Durlin, Mrs. Charles de Mund, Mrs. Jud Mitchell and Mrs. J. Fox. Mrs. T. L. O'Brien is president of the organization.

The officers are anticipating a large attendance. The money will be used for the benefit of the Settlement House.

Needless.

INJURES TWO WOMEN.

Large Auto of Covina Rancher Crashes into Machine and Throws Passengers from the Rear Seat—Driver is Placed Under Arrest.

Miss Anna M. Hooper and Miss Pauline Conklin, both of No. 154 North Avenue 24, were seriously injured last night in an automobile accident at East Main and South Avenue 20. They were hurled from the rear seat of an auto driven by M. P. Fillmore of No. 154 North Avenue 20, when a large automobile driven by George W. Griffith, a rancher of Covina, crashed into their vehicle.

The two women, with Messrs. Griffith and Fillmore, were given medical treatment at the Receiving Hospital. Miss Hooper sustained a fracture of the skull and a broken right arm. Miss Conklin was treated for concussion of the brain and lacerations of the scalp.

Following an investigation by Police Sergeant Cahill the police learned that Griffith, according to persons who saw the accident, was driving at a high rate of speed and failed to heed Mr. Fillmore's warning before making the turn from Main street into Avenue 20. He was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and will be held pending the outcome of Miss Hooper's injuries.

Reckless.

SHOWS SOME SPEED.

Young Man, Who Says He is Son of Abbot Kinney of Venice, Loses His Watch to Thief and is Arrested for Driving Auto Too Fast.

The loss of his watch to a clever pickpocket late last night landed Carleton Kinney, who declared himself as the son of Abbot Kinney, head of the Abbot Kinney Company of Venice, and founder of that city, in the City Jail on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested by Detective Russell Smith.

Young Kinney, according to Detective Smith, drove his high-powered automobile past the police station on West First street at a high rate of speed, turned the corner at First and Hill streets on one wheel and then came to a stop in front of the station.

Dashing up the stairway into the station the young man was stopped by Detective Smith and questioned as to his speed. He declared that he had lost his watch and wished to report the matter. Following the taking of the report Mr. Kinney was locked up by Detective Smith and his bail fixed at $50.

VETERAN INJURED.

Thomas J. Sprinkle, 78 years old, a retired contractor, was severely bruised yesterday afternoon at Sixth and Figueroa streets, when he fell against an automobile driven by Paul D. Howse of No. 1706 Sixth avenue. Mr. Sprinkle, a veteran of the Civil War, was treated at the Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Stadfield, and removed to his home at No. 1631 West Twelfth street.

FOR FEDERAL POSITIONS.

Secretary Tynan of the Federal Civil Service Commission held examinations at the Federal Building yesterday, for the positions of civil engineer, dentist in the Indian Service, junior engineer, market station assistant in the Department of Agriculture, and superintendent of construction in the Quartermaster Corps of the army. There were more than than a score of applicants for the position.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to have the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at a cost of about three cents, one need only get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

THE WEATHER.

[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, March 21.—[Reported by Arthur W. Fish, Observer, temporarily in charge.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.00; at 5 p.m., 29.97. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 47 deg. and 54 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 90 per cent.; 5 p.m., 73 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 1 mile; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 8 miles. Highest temperature, 56 deg.; lowest, 45 deg. Rainfall for season, 14.59 inches; last season, 19.79 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—No well-marked pressure areas appear on the weather map. The western low area remains central over the Northern Rocky Mountain region, and precipitation occurred generally in Washington, Oregon, Northern California, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. The barometer has fallen in the Ohio Valley, causing precipitation in Missouri and thence eastward to Chesapeake Bay. The barometer is also low in Texas. The pressure is moderately high in California, along the Atlantic coast and in Colorado and Kansas, and fair weather prevails in these sections. Temperature changes have been slight. Except for some local fog, fair weather continues in Southern California, and is expected to last for the next thirty-six hours.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use and give Musterole to their patients.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

PUFFED WITH PIE COULDN'T ESCAPE.

SWOLLEN STOMACH STOPS MAN FROM BREAKING JAIL.

Supplied with a Saw, He was not Able to Resist Filling up on Stolen Sweets and Overloaded Organ Swelled up and Could not be Forced Between Bars.

A stomach puffed with stolen sweets sent Frank B. Andrews to the dungeon yesterday, branded as a failure in a desperate effort to saw his way out of the County Jail. He was found by attaches in the jail, wedged between two bars, with freedom tantalisingly ahead and only restrained by a full stomach that would not suffer further pressure.

Andrews was arrested in San Pedro February 5 on an offensive charge, three little girls being the complaining witnesses. While in the County Jail he conducted a flirtation with a woman who came to visit another prisoner. Finally she agreed to harbor him if he could escape.

The jail is built with wooden blocks as anchors for the steel bars. In appearance the bars pass through the blocks, but in the interest of economy, a few feet of iron was saved by having the bars clipped off at the bottom of the block and inserted at the top.

Andrews attacked one of these

CURSE FAILS TO KEEP HAIR ON.

"Divine Healer" Said Clipper Would Quickly Die, but Barber Still Lives.

The flowing locks of "Rev." Francis Schlatter, 68-year-old "divine healer," have been clipped and his apostolic beard has been shaved, according to Deputy United States Marshal Sid Shannon, who returned to Fresno yesterday afternoon from the Federal prison at McNeil's Island. Schlatter was sentenced to serve eighteen months for using the mails to defraud.

Shannon said that "Rev." Schlatter, when informed that his hair would be cut and his beard shaved, declared that the man who performed the work would bring the "wrath of God upon his shoulders and would die within forty-eight hours of paralysis." Shannon said that the prison barber was still alive when he left.

PERSHING HERE TODAY; "WAR AHEAD"—PADGETT.

Officer in Command on Border Comes for Conference with Local Army Men—Germans Watch Movements of Naval Affairs Committee—Congressman Osborne Leaves Tomorrow for Washington.

ON A hurried trip from El Paso to confer with local army men on military matters, the nature of which is not disclosed, Brig.-Gen. John J. Pershing, who succeeded the late Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston in command of the troops at the border, is due in Los Angeles at an early hour this morning.

Traveling over the Southern Pacific, Gen. Pershing left El Paso Tuesday. His train was due here at 8:55 o'clock last night, but is about seven hours late, according to railroad officials. He is to spend but a few hours here and will leave about noon. Local military men said last night that they have not been informed as to the reason for his visit but it is surmised that it may have to do with the hurried garrisoning of Fort MacArthur and other matters pertaining to defense.

A company of Coast Artillery from Fort Winfield Scott has been ordered to Fort MacArthur to relieve the civilian garrison and will arrive tomorrow. Capt. Stanley Ross and Lieut. Carl Marriott are in command of the Fourth Company, which is the one to come. A temporary camp will be erected near the fort pending the completion of the barracks.

"WAR IS INEVITABLE."

The House Committee on Naval Affairs, which recently visited the harbor, returned from San Diego last night and will rest here for a day or two before proceeding East via San Francisco.

"War with Germany appears to be inevitable," said Chairman L. P. Padgett. "The steps in preparation for it are progressing satisfactorily. We have nothing to do with the land forces, of course, but this Coast will be given adequate defense both by land and sea."

Mr. Padgett said that the twenty submarines ordered built on this Coast will be supplemented by others if they are needed. The construction work is to be rushed at top speed. The Panama Canal, he said, is amply protected by a big force of divers, war vessels and land troops. No chances are being taken.

GERMANS WATCHING.

A peculiar feature of the movements of the Naval Affairs Committee hereabouts is the fact that they have apparently been under the close scrutiny of known German sympathizers, one of whom was recognized with the party last night. Mr. Padgett said that this man had made no effort to converse with any of the members of the party but had always been close at hand and had observed everything. The Congressmen took him for a traveling man and paid no attention to him.

The members of the party were luncheon guests at the U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego, yesterday, following their return from Imperial Valley. The hosts were the Merchants' Association and the Ad Club. Six hundred were present and the occasion was featured by a remarkable outburst of patriotism.

"PUT THEM AWAY."

"Sustain the President to the limit in this crisis," said Congressman T. F. Butler, Republican, as he took a rap at the twelve filibustering Senators. "If a man is not right toward America in what he does and what he thinks, put him out. From the time I reach home I shall begin, wherever there is any man who doesn't agree with our President and the United States of America, and who won't assist him in doing, to put him aside. The traditions of our soldiers have been one blaze of glory. If our hour of need is at hand they'll not fall you when their services are required."

Judge C. H. Dillon of South Dakota, member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, advocated the purchase by the government of a 100-mile strip of land in order to protect the citizenship of Imperial Valley, as the whole water system is imperiled.

"Six men in the middle of the night could put those people out of existence; before they could drive their cattle and stock to the waters out of the desert, every animal will have perished."

The acquisition of Mexican territory here was the only way, he argued, that we can provide for our self-defense and protection.

National hymns were sung by the big assemblage, while the Twenty-first Infantry band played patriotic airs in the lobby, and everyone in the big hotel joined in the demonstration to the Congressmen as they prepared to leave for the East.

A. D. LaMotte, president of the merchants' organization, presided at the luncheon, and addresses were made by Congressman Padgett, Congressman Butler, Congressman E. W. Roberts of Massachusetts, Judge Dillon and Col. J. P. O'Neil, commander of the Twenty-first Infantry at the exposition. Immediately following the luncheon, which broke up with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," the Congressional party left on the 3 o'clock train for Los Angeles.

Congressman Roberts looked into the future, picturing cotton mills along the bay here. Regarding Pacific defenses he said:

"You don't have to tell members of the Naval Committee that the

SEEKS A GRAVE TO FIND A FORTUNE.

STRANGE HUNT FOR TOMB OF WEALTHY ARGONAUT.

Niece, Here, Begins Search for Last Resting Place of Patrick Donovan, Gold Hunter, to Locate His Will and Find Out Where His Big Estate Went.

With a score of cousins waiting eagerly the result of her investigations, upon which, they believe, rests an equal distribution of an estate now valued at more than $100,000, Miss Mary E. Donovan of No. 620 St. Paul avenue, this city, yesterday started a search for the grave of Patrick Donovan, her uncle, who died in California ten years ago, leaving valuable mining property. Upon the discovery of his last resting place depends the finding of a lost will and the explanation why Miss Donovan and her cousins did not learn that their bachelor uncle had left a large estate until a few days ago.

The heirs earnestly desire to know what became of the estate and why the death of Mr. Donovan was clothed in so much apparent mystery. All the information they ever received, they declare, was that he died somewhere in California. Also the entire score of cousins have concentrated their attention upon another relative, an uncle to them and a nephew of the deceased, who

FIRST ARREST UNDER NEW LAW.

German Rancher Who Threatens President Meets with Swift Punishment.

H. J. Pincher, a German, is believed to be the first person arrested under the law recently enacted by Congress, making it a crime to threaten the President. He was taken into custody at Santa Barbara yesterday afternoon after a violent tirade against President Wilson.

Because the District Attorney would not charge him under the new law he was permitted to plead guilty to disturbing the peace, and paid a fine of $50. The police state that recently the accused man became violent over an American flag, and threatened to stamp it under his feet.

He is a rancher residing at Rincon.

NEW THOUGHT; OLD TRIANGLE.

Doctor Claims 'Affirmatist Broke up His Home.

Seeks Arrest for Annoying Woman by Telephone.

Charges that Wife's Insane; She is Missing.

Dr. S. F. Danielson yesterday swore to a complaint charging S. K. Bennett, a New Thought disciple, with disturbing the peace by constantly calling Mrs. Danielson on the telephone and addressing her in endearing terms. The complaint was issued by Deputy City Prosecutor John J. Hill, Jr., but the police have been unable to serve a warrant, as they say Bennett has disappeared. So also has Mrs. Danielson, against whom Dr. Danielson swore out a warrant last Monday charging her with insanity. She disappeared Tuesday.

The police say the trouble between the two men has been a cause of some commotion for months. According to Dr. Danielson, his wife met Mr. Bennett at a dance a year ago. The latter is alleged to have exerted a strange power over the woman, and to have interested her in New Thought. Dr. Danielson says that Mr. Bennett is responsible for Mrs. Danielson leaving her home at No. 3741 Sheridan street, last January. Dr. Danielson called private detectives, who found his wife in the apartments of Mr. Bennett at No. 730 East Ninth street.

The man and woman at that time stated they were merely companions in New Thought and their friendship was of a platonic nature. Dr. Danielson says he pleaded with his wife to enter a sanatorium, which she finally did. Mr. Bennett then secured a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the woman was being held against her will. Superior Judge Willis dismissed the case.

Dr. Danielson asserts that Mr. Bennett, failing in his method of breaking up his home, wrote to Mrs. Danielson's mother in Florida. The mother, greatly excited by the letters, is alleged to have telegraphed friends here to investigate.

After Mrs. Danielson returned to her home and her two children, Benjamin, 13 years old, and Lucile, 17 years of age, in January, Mr. Bennett is said to have called her by telephone continually and to have used endearing terms when greeting her. Dr. Danielson intercepted some letters to his wife, in which, he says, the New Thought man used other than the usual salutations.

Mrs. Danielson disappeared from her home a second time last Monday morning. She was traced to the house of a grand-uncle, C. A. Manwell, No. 245 East Euclid avenue, Pasadena, by detectives yesterday. She passed Monday night there and left early Tuesday morning, without saying where she was going.

EVENT IS POSTPONED.

"Merchants' Week" Not to be Observed Until Next Fall, but Committees Will Continue Preparations for This Important Affair.

Because lack of time will prohibit the completion of the necessary details, the Los Angeles branch of the International Sales Managers' Association yesterday decided to indefinitely postpone "Merchants' Week," that was to have been held from May 7 to May 12, inclusive.

If conditions are favorable, this movement will be undertaken in the fall, as the salesmanagers' association, originator and sponsor of the idea, is convinced such a movement will result in great benefit to the business and commercial interests of the city.

The committees, as appointed, will organize and prepare for their work despite the decision to postpone the week.

The election of officers of the association will take place at a dinner to be held in the Alexandria next Wednesday evening. The following officers have been nominated: President, C. S. Hutson; first vice-president, W. R. Forker; second vice-president, W. F. Suter; third vice-president, W. W. Cross; secretary-treasurer, R. M. Breeden. Five of the following seven nominees will be elected as directors: H. S. Botsford, J. L. Collins, J. H. Gough, William Henry, C. B. Smith, R. L. Leonard and A. L. Butler.

WINS WHITE ELEPHANT.

Kern-county Man Gets Chance to Defend Homestead Claim Against President's Withdrawal Order, by Decision of General Land Office.

Oscar L. Lingo won a white elephant, yesterday, by a decision of the General Land Office. He defeated the Western Minerals Company, a Santa Fe subsidiary, in an action involving 160 acres of land in Kern county, and thereby won the right to defend his entry against a government suit, under President Taft's oil land withdrawal order of September 27, 1909.

Mr. Lingo made a homestead entry on the land, which is on the Maricopa Flats, in the heart of the Kern-county oil district, and the Western Minerals Company instituted a contest, alleging that the land is mineral in character. However, the General Land Office sustains the local Land Office in its decision that Mr. Lingo's claim is to the surface rights, not to the mineral rights, but sets forth as a corollary to its decision that all and any rights of Mr. Lingo are subject to attack by the government, under the withdrawal order of the President.

COURT DENIES HER A DECREE.

Couple Who Were Divorced, then Remarry, Must Now "Stay Put."

Mrs. Alice J. Whaling, who was divorced from Joseph J. Whaling and remarried him after a separation of ten years, was denied a decree by Judge Wood yesterday. She charged him with cruelty, desertion and nonsupport. Mr. Whaling, in his answer, denied the charges. He is said to be well-known in State political circles.

According to the records, Mrs. Whaling was granted an interlocutory decree in 1903. Ten years later they became reconciled and were remarried. They lived together only a year, it was stated by Mrs. Whaling's attorney, H. E. Wessell.

JOVIANS EAGERLY JOIN RED CROSS.

GREAT BOOST IS GIVEN TO THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN.

Club Makes Direct Grant of Money to the Work and One Hundred and Twelve Members Become Affiliated with Humanitarian Organization.

A direct grant to the American Red Cross of $25, enrollment of 112 new members in the local branch, pledges that every member of the Jovian Club shall secure at least two members for the Red Cross—these are the tangible results of yesterday's "Red Cross Day" at the Jovian Club. It was one of the biggest boosts that has yet been given to the American Red Cross campaign now in progress.

R. H. Ballard of the Southern California Edison Company was chairman of the day. He made a stirring patriotic address and told of the work being done by the Red Cross. He declared that it is every man's duty to take a part in this work.

Mrs. Martha Nelson McCan was principal speaker. She gave details of the notable work that has been performed by the American Red Cross in both times of war and disaster. She said its work is just as much a part of preparedness for times of peace as for war, and made a strong plea for assistance in securing 50,000 new members to aid in establishing a hospital base in Los Angeles.

The club then presented its check for $25, but this was not the end. Member after member arose and indorsed the appeal, and so many offered their memberships that Mrs. McCan sent a hurry-up call to headquarters and a corps of women soon arrived to list the new members and receive their dues. The result was that 112 men became affiliated with this great humanitarian work.

Not content with this, a motion was adopted pledging that the organization will become responsible for securing at least 1000 new members to the local branch of the American Red Cross.

Miss Gladys Cosgrove, who is in charge of the classes for women at the Red Cross headquarters, announced that arrangements have just been made, through instructions received from Washington yesterday, to form classes for men in instruction for first aid to the injured. There will be both day and night classes and the instructions will be in charge of Dr. L. J. Luckey.

At the Inglewood High School a Red Cross squad has been formed by women of the faculty, and at a shoe-shining stand maintained by the pupils $36 has been raised for the Los Angeles chapter. At the Girls' Collegiate School money has been collected to buy outfits for comfort bags for soldiers. A committee has been appointed at the University of Southern California to further Red Cross work among the students. Theatrical folk are offering their services in the general membership campaign, and on Saturday members of the Morosco stock company will work for local chapter memberships between 10:30 and 1 o'clock. Mrs. O. E. von Oven, director of social work at the Y.M.C.A., has undertaken the Red Cross work among the young women of this institution.

MUST ENCLOSE ALL THE PIE AND CAKE.

UNWASHABLE FOODS ARE TO BE PROTECTED.

After Hearing Arguments in Favor of this Measure, Council Members Ask the City Attorney to Prepare an Ordinance for Submission as Soon as Possible.

A decided victory was gained yesterday afternoon by Dr. Lulu Peters, chairman of the department of health, Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, in her campaign to prevent the exposure of unwashable foods in stores, cafeterias, restaurants, etc., when the members of the City Council, before whom she appeared, unanimously agreed that an ordinance should be immediately passed prohibiting this dangerous exposure. At the close of the meeting, the City Attorney was intructed to draw up such an ordinance and have it ready for action as soon as possible.

Dr. Peters, in arguing for such an ordinance, asserted that present conditions are highly dangerous, as bread, pastry, candy, meat and cooked vegetables can easily become affected. She declared that in the Eastern cities such a public outlay of food was prohibited, all the restaurants and stores protecting their food with glass cases and walls. She added that the matter has been freely discussed among cafeteria and restaurant owners of this city, and that she has found them almost unanimously in favor of such an ordinance.

BAGGAGE MEN CONVENE HERE.

Discuss Matters of Interest to All Railroads.

Will Standardize Size of Check for Your Grip.

Uniform Rules for Refunds of Excess Charges.

Economy being the watchword of the day, the American Association of General Baggage Agents, at the first session of the thirty-six annual convention, announced that in future baggage checks would be of smaller size. In addition to this, they will be uniform and standardized for all roads in America, in order to simplify the handling of baggage.

When the meeting was called to order yesterday morning about forty of the eighty general agents of the country responded to the roll. President W. A. Kelland, who had just arrived, declared this to be a surprisingly large group, in consideration of the fact that the strike scare had prevented many of the agents from getting started at the time they expected.

PARCEL-ROOM FEES.

Among other important matters taken up was a uniform rule covering the collection of parcel-room fees. Condition of baggage when received will in the future be an item placed on the new checks, it having been discovered that many persons leave mutilated grips and other luggage during a rush, and later return to make a big complaint about what has happened to it during its stay in a baggage-room. Such complaints are always accompanied by demands for damages.

Uniformity covering the corrections and refunds on account of errors in excess baggage collections was discussed, also better protection for cars carrying exclusively theatrical baggage. All of these things are to be incorporated in the new tariff schedule to be issued simultaneously by the railroads of America on June 1.

This morning, while the baggage agents are in session, their wives will be guests of David and E. H. Barmore of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, on an automobile trip about Los Angeles and Pasadena. In the afternoon the visitors will be taken to Universal City and later to a Spanish barbecued dinner at Casa Verdugo.

WOMEN FIGHTING CIGARETTE EVIL.

CLINIC TO TREAT VICTIMS OF HABIT PROPOSED.

City Federation of W.C.T.U. Elects Officers for Ensuing Year and Appoints Committees to Handle Work of Preparing for State Convention in May.

The City Federation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met in The Times Assembly Rooms yesterday, received reports of officers, elected officers for the ensuing term, transacted other business and heard some stirring addresses.

The officers elected are: President, Mrs. M. W. Law; vice-president, Mrs. Linn; recording secretary, Dr. L. M. Hutchins; corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. E. Cromwell; treasurer, Mrs. O. L. Minear; press correspondent, Miss A. G. Burch.

The morning session began with devotions. Mrs. Law read the president's report for the year, showing she had made 177 addresses and had spoken forty-seven times at Parent-Teacher associations and twenty-one times before missionary societies. The recording secretary reported twenty-five local unions affiliated with the city federation. The corresponding secretary told of the vast amount of correspondence carried on, and the treasurer showed a balance of $43 in the treasury. The press correspondent reported seven columns of space in the daily papers devoted to the W.C.T.U. matters during her term of five months.

Mrs. Milligan gave a talk on the cigarette evil, and a committee was appointed to confer with her regarding the establishment of a clinic for treatment of victims of this habit. Committees were appointed to handle the work of preparing for the State W.C.T.U. convention to be held in Los Angeles in May.

In the afternoon Miss Mary Jameson gave a Bible reading, and Dr. McGaw of Washington, D. C., field secretary of the National Reform Association, spoke on "The Bible in the Public Schools." Dr. C. C. Seleeman spoke on "Heroes of Peace."

SUIT FOR SLANDER.

Laundry Man of Harbor District Brings Action for Damages Against Person Who, He Alleges, Made False and Malicious Statements.

For certain alleged false and malicious statements made by George E. Kruckman in the presence of others at San Pedro July 1 and August 18, 1916, Charles T. Gilmore yesterday filed suit against Mr. Kruckman for slander, asking $75,000 actual and $75,000 exemplary damages.

Mr. Kruckman is alleged to have said that Mr. Gilmore was a liar, thief, scoundrel and swindler, "and you have kept and are keeping a double set of books of your laundry company so that you can rob the stockholders of the company."

Further, he is alleged to have said that Mr. Gilmore was living with a "vampire who helps him to carry on his dirty work in the laundry," and that "he ought to be sent to San Quentin Prison for his acts;" that he has "bribed the auditor of the laundry company to make a false report" of his acts "to save him from going to San Quentin Prison," and that he had "bribed Mr. Savage and Mr. Hitchcock, officers of the company, to hide and conceal the fact that you have stolen money from the company." The suit was filed through Attorney Charles M. Ackerman.

blocks with a saw he secured in the kitchen. But while stealing the saw he inspected some choice pies prepared for the morrow's dinner in the boarder's tank. His fondness for pie is all-conquering. He nibbled a piece, then he cut off a full quarter, and finally settled himself on a bench and gorged on pie.

After he had partaken not wisely but too well, he proceeded to saw his way out. He cut the block away and then pushed himself between the bars. His head went through, so did his shoulders and his chest, but the victim of gluttony couldn't get his stomach through. Andrews coaxed it, twisted it, punched it, but it stood firm.

Out in front dangled a long rope made of towels and sheets tied together, a ladder to freedom, but Andrews, prevented by his stomach, could not reach it. When his name was called at the morning roll his failure to answer caused an investigation. He was found held tightly between the bars by his stomach. He was put in the dungeon for exemplary punishment.

FAMOUS ACTION FOR DAMAGES ON TODAY.

LOCAD SOCIETY WOMAN SUES BECAUSE ARRESTED.

San Francisco Firm Added Amount of Two Dollars to Small Bill and When She Refused to Pay had Her in Court on Theft Charge—Wants Them Punished.

Asking that she be awarded $75,000 damages because of the humiliation she was subjected to when compelled to appear in Police Court, Mrs. Florence Thorpe, wife of Dr. A. C. Thorpe of No. 930 West Twentieth street, this city, will appear in Judge Sturtevant's court in San Francisco today and, through her attorney, A. C. Vaughn, will demand that the tailoring firm of Koenig & Collins of that city be punished.

A question of the payment of an added charge of $3 on a $50 suit of clothes a year ago resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Thorpe on a complaint charging theft. Mrs. Thorpe was exonerated by Police Judge Brady when she appeared in Police Court. Subsequently she brought her suit for damages.

Mr. Koenig, senior member of the defendant firm, who represented the establishment in the controversy, and who swore to the complaint against Mrs. Thorpe, defends his action by stating he consulted with the District Attorney before causing the arrest. According to the prosecution, the District Attorney never did advise the arrest of Mrs. Thorpe, and a deposition will be produced, alleged to have been made by Mr. Koenig, showing, it is alleged, that at no time did Mr. Koenig believe Mrs. Thorpe guilty of theft even while having her arrested.

is supposed to know all about the matter.

Patrick Donovan came to this country from County Cork, Ireland, when 14 years old. In 1849 he joined the gold rush to California, and, two years after his arrival here, word was received by his relatives in the East that he had struck it rich. From time to time he wrote of his life and successes. Ten years ago word came that he had died, but when his relatives inquired concerning the estate they were informed he had left nothing.

A week ago Miss Donovan received a letter from an eastern cousin telling that accurate information had come to the effect that the uncle had left a large estate. It is believed that if Miss Donovan can locate the burial place of her late uncle, and by this trace the records of that county, she can find a copy of the lost will. Through this instrument attorneys and witnesses may be traced and a complete explanation of the tangle found.

Guests jumped to their feet. Manager Phelan started for the alarm box. Smoke came eddying in the front door. With it came J. Goldie, Bakersfield business man, on the run. He dashed to the water fountain, and, divesting himself of his coat, threw it into the pool. A package of "safety" matches had ignited in his pocket. The smoke attracted the attention of the newsboy, who gave warning.

Entertain Old Friends.

In remembrance of days of auld lang syne, Mrs. H. H. Williams recently entertained several friends, most of whom were from her old home, at Belle Plaine, Iowa, at the home of the daughter, Mrs. W. S. Bailey of No. 813 Kensington road. The color scheme used was green and white. The afternoon was spent with music and conversation.

The invited guests were Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Briewes, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Welch, Mr. E. M. Graham, all of Belle Plaine; Mrs. Grace Brener Walter of Anaheim, Mrs. S. C. Henderson of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson of Pomona, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henry, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Mary Danes, Mrs. John Hutton, Mrs. Maggie Hutton, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander, all of Los Angeles.

Announcement Party.

Coupling a St. Patrick's celebration with a happy surprise for the guests, Miss Zylpha McKain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKain of No. 1020 North Normandie avenue, entertained at a luncheon Saturday afternoon and announced her coming marriage in July to Harold D. Roebuck at the same time.

The color scheme for the affair was in keeping with the spirit of the day, with greens predominating, and a suggestion of hearts and lovers' knots.

Covers were laid for Mmes. James Novell, John Henry Reynolds, Jr., John Henry Reynolds, Sr., James Edward Mahan, Charles Humphreys, Floyd Jones, Milo Charles Walker, James McKain, Edward McKain, Robert Burns, Frank Walker, George Roebuck, Phineas Ferguson and the Misses Hazel Potter, Blanche Stetson, Irnie Bateman, Myra Wehrle, Edna Whitson, Esther Whitson, Ella Nevell, Celo Nevell, Rosa Reynolds and the hostess, Miss Zylphia McKain.

Honor Bride-elect.

In honor of Miss Annabeth E. Evans, daughter of Mrs. Jennie T. Evans of Pasadena, whose marriage to Charles Robert Taenzer will take place next Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Moody of Los Angeles gave a dinner at the Alexandria Monday evening. The evening was concluded with a box party at the Orpheum, given by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding will take place at noon Saturday at All Saints Episcopal Church of Pasadena. Many affairs have been scheduled in honor of Miss Evans, who, on account of an attack of tonsilitis, has been unable to attend any before this time.

Those in the dinner and theater party were Miss Annabeth Evans, Mrs. Harold M. Hoag of Lockwood, N. Y., sister of the honoree; Dwight H. Thompson of Pratt, Kan.; Charles Robert Taenzer, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Moody.

Sphynx and Snakes Dine.

The initiative banquet of Sphynx and Snakes, which was neither a banquet of Egyptian mystics nor serpents, was held at the Town and Country Club Saturday evening. The weird-sounding title is that of a fraternity of U.S.C., and forty members and initiates banqueted in the main dining-room of the club.

The tables were decorated with purple and gold, the colors of the fraternity. Many of the alumni were present.

S. Marion Smith acted as toastmaster, and after-dinner speeches were made by Luther Sharp, on the subject of "College Hopes;" J. F. Elliott, on "Getting Together;" Carol Jones, on "A Greater University;" Herchel Griffin, on "Sphynx and Snakes," and Dr. Thomas Blanchard Stowell on "The Scholar's Vision." The invocation was given by Prof. Tully Cleon Knoles, and a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Geneva Ryerson.

Betrothal Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hellman announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara Agnes Hellman, to Myrt T. Blume of San Francisco. Miss Hellman was to have been at home Saturday afternoon, but owing to sickness in the family the affair has been indefinitely postponed.

GRIFFITH TO LONDON.

DOROTHY JARDON WOULD SHAKE CHAPLIN BY THE HAND.

By Grace Kingsley.

A new adjunct to the film industry in this section is to be created through the establishment of one of the most complete and best-equipped film laboratories in the world, according to plans made public by those interested in the project. The Sanborn Laboratories, Inc., have come into existence during the past week, with Lester F. Sanborn, one of the best-known laboratory men on the Pacific Coast, as president. The organization is to erect a plant at Culver City, to cost $50,000, it is announced.

Demand for such an establishment has long been felt in Los Angeles, where over 80 per cent. of the world's output of pictures are produced, it is stated. The new laboratory will have a capacity of half a million feet per day, and will be used in handling the output of many of the important studios in and about Los Angeles, which have not their own equipment for this work, or are crowded.

The equipment at the new plant will consist of automatic printers and the latest improved drying space. The building, constructed by the Pacific Coast Concrete Company, will be fireproof throughout, eliminating all danger of destruction of film through explosion or fire.

Only experts in the various lines of film developing, printing, tinting and toning will be employed.

While the new concern has no connection whatsoever with the Eamay company, Max Linder, the famous French comedian, will lay the corner-stone.

Not Afraid, B'gosh.

D. W. Griffith, famous motion-picture producer, isn't among those who are scared of submarines or any noise like that. Mr. Griffith sailed for London a day or two ago, to be present at the premiere showing of "Intolerance" in the British capital. He is expected to return to this country and to Los Angeles about June 1.

Fine Arts in Sections.

The disintegrated Fine Arts forces are finding new berths elsewhere.

Dorothy Gish, erstwhile Fine Arts star, has been engaged by the Selznick Pictures Company at a big salary. She went to New York last Sunday, having closed the deal just before she left.

Constance Talmadge, another Fine Arts star, is to return to New York shortly. It is reported she will enter into contract with Zukor to appear in Lasky-Famous Players productions.

Mildred Harris is considering several offers. Miss Harris made a decided hit in Bobby Harron's last picture, "The Bad Boy," and her services have been sought by more than one company.

Bernard McConville, Fine Arts scenario writer, has been engaged by the Fox company.

Now Manager of Symphony.

Charles R. Gates, formerly press agent for the Superba Theater, has taken over the managership of the Symphony.

Thinks We're Smart Enough.

The lovely May Allison, erstwhile Metro star, who journeys to New York next Tuesday night to accept a starring engagement with an eastern picture concern, is spending lots of hours and money this week proving in her own proper person that our shops are just as smart as the eastern city's. And, if you don't believe it, just look at Miss Allison any time.

Charlie, Please Write.

And now all Dorothy Jardon, at the Orpheum, needs is to be decorated with the Victoria Cross, and this she seems likely to get as the result of her appearance in cities all along the Orpheum route at benefit performances on behalf of wounded soldiers and war sufferers abroad. Miss Jardon has been the favorite model for both Henry Hutt and Harrison Fisher, artists; she has had songs and poetry written about her; she has been blessed by the Pope and by Cardinal Gibbons; she was presented with an American flag and a $100 bouquet of orchids on the occasion of her appearance in London, and now Charles Wakefield Cadman is writing her a special Indian song.

As if this were not enough glory for one young woman, Len Behymer, alert concert impresario, is to see her act at the Orpheum tomorrow, with a view to placing Miss Jardon into the concert field.

Yet, she isn't quite satisfied.

"I'm a great Charlie Chaplin fan, and I've got to shake hands with Charlie before I leave town," declares Miss Jardon.

She Owned Right Up.

A hait must be called, or the theatergoer will know all about these actors. Take a "constant patron" of the Mason, for instance. This mysterious person writes Louise Kelley, the charming Chicago widow of "The Blue Paradise," asking which were her real legs—the ones she wears in the first act or those she displays"—with reservations—"in the second act!" Miss Kelley responded that, much as it pained her to reveal the secret, the legs she displays in white hose in the first act and in black hosiery in the last act all belong to the same pair which she brought into the world. She added, in the words of Gellett Burgess: "My legs, they are my two best friends. They takes me up the stairs. I only got to steer 'em and they takes me everywheres."

Nix on "Pics."

Claude Gillingwater, making a hit in "The Frame-Up" at the Orpheum, this week, has had many picture offers. So far he has declined to fall for the purring camera.

"Why should I give up some of my best assets—my writing ability, my secure position on the stage, not to mention the qualification for spoken drama which natural modesty forbids me talking about, for a California bungalow that's too cold in winter and too hot in summer, and the chance to break my neck doing stunts?"

S.O.S. for Gretchen.

Mrs. Lillian Goldsmith, who is to produce "Rip Van Winkle" at the Del Mar outdoor theater, is ordering her maid to take up all rugs in the front parlor, and getting out an accident insurance policy. The occasion calling for these precautions is that she is announcing that she needs a Gretchen for her play, and will meet all comers at her home, No. 304 South Kingsley drive. As will be remembered the plans and specifications of Gretchen include a raucous voice, a fat physical make-up (not extending to the head,) and the ability to break the villain over Rip's head if necessary.

Old Home Week for Marie.

Another Los Angeles girl, who has made a success for herself on the stage, will make the home port next week. She is Marie Dunkle, who will appear at the Pantages Theater, and who will during her stay here eat home-cooked food and sleep in her own little white bed, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Dunkle, No. 234 North Manhattan place. Miss Dunkle plays in a sketch entitled "After Ten Years," with Hugo Koch.

Nothing Comes off Right.

It does seem as if Donald Bowles were playing in hard luck.

"Here I've attended three performances of 'The Daughter of the Gods' at Clune's Auditorium and have seen Annette's cheesecloth just blow and blow in the breeze—yet nothing ever really happens to it."

Mostly Sartorial.

Bertha Mann, leading woman at the Morosco, is as set against short dresses as Lillian Russell used to be—and probably still is—against tights. There has been a constant altercation between Fred Butler, stage director, and Miss Mann, on the subject, Mr. Butler maintaining that short dresses were stylish and should be worn in the Morosco productions, and Miss Mann telling Mr. Butler she didn't care a hang, or even anything stronger, about that, she just couldn't a-bear short dresses and that was all there was to it. At last there is peace in camp. For hush—take a bottle of perfume and sit in a violet ray—the piece de resistance of Miss Mann's wardrobe in "Innocent" is one simple, clinging, lace-trimmed garment known to the "lanjaree" department as a "robe de nit!"

No Apologies Needed.

That cutey little bit of femininity at the Orpheum, Harriette Lee, in some poses, especially close up, is a dead ringer for Mabel Normand. The other night both young women were dancing and supping out at Vernon. Three persons in succession passed by Miss Lee's table, bowing and greeting her as Miss Normand. Each one, on pausing for another look (you always look as long at Mabel as you can, naturally,) in turn apologized, saying: "Oh, I beg your pardon!"

Miss Normand really was present at a near-by table, and, when the last visitor made his apology, she called out: "If people don't stop apologizing to this lady because they've accused her of looking like me there's going to be trouble."

MUSICAL.

Well Attended.

MORNING CONCERT.

WOMAN'S ORCHESTRA PLEASES AT SECOND EVENT.

By Edwin Schallert.

Avoiding extreme classical drift and yet running not close to the shoals of popularity, the Woman's Orchestra yesterday followed out the course of their second morning musicale programme this season at Blanchard Hall. The numbers marking the direction were chosen with nicety and precision that made for an exceedingly pleasing result, and while the way was not absolutely smooth, the conditions merited fully the approval they received from an appreciative audience.

What principally drew the attention of the public, for there was a large attendance, were the two compositions by local musicians. Nocturne, "California," by Henry Schoenefeld, director of the orchestra, and the aria, "There Is No Secret but Love," from the musically very attractive one-act opera, "The Little Girl at Play" by Frank Patterson, local representative of the Musical Courier.

Mr. Schoenefeld's composition revealed the orchestra at its best. It was played by the string section, with flute and 'cello obligatos, respectively by Minnie V. Percival and Lucy Fuhrer-Genter. It is in the reverie style—reflective, with delicate suggestions of nature—a composition, altogether, in which dreams of beautiful things float before the horizon of one's imagination. It contains many effective bits of scoring.

The full orchestra numbers were marred to some extent by the discrepancies in pitch between the brass instruments and certain of the wood-winds, and the violins. Mr. Schoenefeld's interpretations, however, were marked by rhythmical firmness and intelligent phrasing and that engaging quality which belongs to his style. The orchestral selections included "Rosamunde" overture by Schubert, "Album Leaf," Wagner; Andantino from the Fourth Symphony by Tschaikowsky, and the Damnation of Faust" by Berlioz. The Andantino from the symphony and the "Album Leaf" had an especially strong appeal. The string section and as a whole the wood-winds did excellent and brightly-colored work. The biggest gaps in the orchestra are naturally in the wind instruments.

Edith Norton, who created the role of the girl in "The Little Girl at Play" by Mr. Patterson, sang the air from that work with a will, and also gave a group of solos with the piano, Mrs. May MacDonold-Hope ably assisting. Miss Norton appeared in better voice than any time I have heard her. The quality of her tones is exceedingly pleasing, and reflects charm of personality, but her singing lacks method and right foundation, faults of diction and intonation being particularly obvious. Her solo numbers included "Standchen" by Strauss, "Tre Giorni son che Nina" by Papini, and the encore, "Where My Caravan Has Rested" by Clough-Leighter. The impression of Patterson's interesting composition was not conveyed to the best advantage by either the singer or the orchestra—it being the weakest number on the programme in matter of rendition. The concert as a whole, was a very enjoyable one.

Spalding and Ganz Tonight.

The awaited appearance of Albert Spalding and Rudolph Ganz in joint recital will take place this evening at Trinity Auditorium. Especial interest attaches to Mr. Spalding's debut here, as he is recognized in the East as an American artist of sterling type. The programme will be an especially worthy one. Mr. Benoist is to assist as Mr. Spalding's accompanist.

Jacobs-Bond Programme.

Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the well-known composer of sentimental ballads, entertained the students of the University of Southern California on Wednesday morning with a series of selections from her own compositions interspersed with brief talks on the art of composing. The affair was given under the auspices of the Associated Women Students as a feature of "Woman's Day."

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

There are telegrams at the Western Union for I. Aoki, Miss Thelma Breeding, Harry Benner, Mrs. Frank Biers, Miss Elaine Denigre, L. G. Edwards, Mrs. D. Furay, Mrs. Alice Galener, A. Heineman, Ike Isaacs, Guy G. Johnson, Miss Margaret Leclercy, Tom Morden, Dr. Langley Porter, W. L. Pryor, H. A. Peterson, M. Robertson, Mrs. W. S. Seaman, Hugh Stillwell, H. P. Smith, Joe Tuzzolino, Mrs. W. A. Welch, Robert E. Wenzel, Mrs. Mary Whitehouse, Mrs. A. W. Yates; at the Postal for Otis A. Brown, George J. Uttal, Pacific Saw Supply Company, George Bunker.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY EMILY SQUIER.

The American Red Cross movement comes with the pertinent reminder that whatever else we are, Republicans, Darwinists, birth controllers or vegetarians, we are, first of all, Americans. The Daughters and Sons of Goodness-Knows-What-All have had the stage for so long that almost everyone has been classified as a daughter or son of something or other, but now people are finding out that they are Americans, first, last, and always. It is probable that the eagle, whose feathers were getting sadly hyphenated, now is rejoicing in a new feathered coat, after moulting the old ones, and I imagine that the chief glory of the outfit is the American Red Cross.

There will be a great mass meeting this afternoon at Columbus Auditorium, on Flower street, by the members of the Catholic Woman's Club, with Mrs. Arnold Burkelman in charge. The meeting will be for the purpose of furthering the work of the Red Cross and for increasing the membership.

There will be patriotic songs and addresses by well-known people. Louis A. Kerwin will sing a group of patriotic songs, and Miss Sybil Gaba will give a vocal solo. Addresses will be given by Dr. John Carling, from a medical standpoint; Rev. James Reardon, from the religious viewpoint, and Paul J. McCormick, from the layman's outlook. Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow will explain the work and make a plea for members.

Ticket Indorsed.

The ticket for nomination of the California Federation of Woman's Clubs, as indorsed by the Wednesday Morning Club, is as follows: President, Mrs. William Mushet; first vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Gawton; vice-president at large, Mrs. A. E. Armstrong; treasurer, Mrs. Frederick Athearn; auditor, Mrs. Ralph Shepherd; General Federation secretary, Mrs. E. C. Knight.

College Woman's Club.

The drama section of the College Woman's Club will hold an open meeting at Manual Arts High School this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Miss Maude T. Howell and Mr. Beswick of the dramatic and stage craft departments of the school will give, with the aid of their classes, a practical demonstration of the staging, lighting and coaching of a play. All who are interested in the drama movement in the public schools are invited to be present.

Monthly Dinner.

Kenesaw W.R.C. will serve its regular monthly dinner at noon today at I.O.O. Hall, North Broadway and Workman street, under the direction of the Thimble Club.

Amateur Players' Club.

The Amateur Players' Club will give a programme tomorrow evening at Thirty-first and Hoover streets, with Miss Clara Alexander, raconteuse and darky impersonator, in recitations. She will be assisted by Miss Marjorie Riley, who will dance "The Swan," with Miss Vida Allen as accompanieste, and Alvin Keats, who will give several selections on his new instrument, a ukulele banjo.

Stage and Screen.

"DADDY'S" COMING BACK

MORGAN DANCERS TOPLINE BIG ROAD SHOW.

The trend in the local theatrical world at present seems to be in the direction of gladness and song. Foolish farces that compel audiences to laugh at nothing and tuneful comedies in which a serious line would be considered criminal are the order of the day. Also, theatergoers have the solemn promise of local theatrical managers that more histrionic joys are to follow the present programmes.

In vaudeville the biggest event of the year is booked for next week. The Orpheum road show will come to town in all its glory.

In the picture world local audiences are more sinned against than sinning, for sin in all its hideousness is running rampant in the most fashionable photoplays. For awhile picture lovers consoled themselves with the idea that the "Seven Deadly Sins" would reveal all the wickedness in humanity, and that then they might get a glimpse of something happy. That fond hope has been blasted.

At present there are so many "queens" of the Barbary coast, so many women making "wrecks" out of their lives, so many young boys being led astray and so much badness in general that it looks as if it is going to be difficult to get out of life with less than a score of sins sticking in the mental craw. However, a few of the photoplays are happy, and even the bad ones are interesting, which, after all, is the first question people ask about any sort of a production.

Mason.

"Daddy Long Legs," a comedy of such sweetness and strength that it has paid its author over $100,000 royalties in the last three years, and the play that helped to make Henry Miller famous, is to be the happy offering at the Mason beginning Monday night. The success of the production in this city last season will be pleasantly remembered by lovers of things worth while in the theatrical world.

For the rest of the present week the attraction at the Mason is the Vienese operetta, "The Blue Paradise."

Morosco.

According to the critics, and judging from the size of the audiences, "The Third Party," at the Morosco this week, is one of the richest productions offered at that playhouse in many weeks. It is a roaring farce at which it is said everybody in the audience laughs, whether he knows what he is laughing about or not. The big point seems to be that the situations and the crazy lines hold a compelling appeal to every spark of humor in the heart of the public.

Burbank.

One of the most popular musical productions presented in Los Angeles for some time is "Hello, Hawaii," the tuneful comedy which is filling a return engagement at the Burbank this week. Indications are that the play will run still another week, as the management reports large houses at every performance. The principal funmakers in the popular production are Ben Dillon, Lillian Wiggins and Maxie Mitchell.

"Mission Play."

There are probably more thrills "to the square inch" in the history of California than in the story of any other State, and in the "Mission Play" at San Gabriel the actors and singers portray in a striking manner the morning gladness and sunshine of the Golden State's very early days, as well as the twilight of the Spanish regime and the dawn of another day. Tyrone Power as Junipero Serra is winning new friends by his superb acting, and Miss Del Valle continues as charming as ever.

Orpheum.

The annual Orpheum Road Show, said to be "the very best ever," comes to Los Angeles for a week, beginning with the matinee next Monday. The road show constitutes an array of talent aimed to embrace the wide range of vaudeville, from the artistic to the ridiculous, from the expert in drama to the best in athletics, from the wildest mirth to the sweetest melody. A glance at the following programme gives an idea of the Orpheum's rich offering next week: Marion Morgan Dancers, an aggregation of girls chosen from among the most famous terpsichorean interpreters; Fred Hallon and Molly Fuller in "The Corridor of Time," Ed Flanagan and Neeley Edwards in "Off and On," Florence Tempest and Marian Sunshine in "A Broadway Bouquet," Harry and Anna Seymour in breezy bits of mirth and melody, Patrick Barrett (Swedish, of course!) in songs and monologues; Retter Brothers, remarkable athletes.

Dorothy Jardon is to be the only hold-over, but those who have seen her this week will not object to that.

Pantages.

Ex-champion Fitzsimmons's admirers are paying a great tribute to the jolly old pugilist at Pantages this week by the compliment of their attendance at the performances and their rapt attention to his monologue, which is terminated by a challenge from Bob's little son, who meets the pater in battle to the delight of the audience. Another feature of the bill is "Mr. Chaser," a peachy "girl act." The Chinese Castles have some bewildering dance steps; Leslie and Berns throw chunks of wit at each other in "The Train Announcer;" Anthony and Mack are not half bad in "The Italian and the Politician;" Mahoney and Auburn are comical talkers and jugglers, while another episode of "The Secret Kingdom" rounds out a splendid programme.

Hippodrome.

At the Hip, next week, the management promises an exceptional bill, headed by Adams and Mangies, a pair of comedy novelty jugglers with bright patter and nifty tricks. Other features of the bill are Castle and Davis, an eccentric cornetist and a blind pianist; an intense "crook act" called "An Inside Job;" the Metropole Four, with "barber shop chord" music; the Weber and Wilson revue, with new ideas in dancing; the fun purveyors, Alexander and Fields, and the Aeroplane Girls.

Majestic.

Everybody admits that Nazimova is a perfectly lovely war bride and the big Brenon picture is being well patronized at the Majestic. It is probable, however, the show coming to the Majestic for the week beginning with next Sunday's matinee will be quite as popular as "War Brides." This is "Neptune's Daughter," featuring Annette Kellerman, the beautiful woman who for several weeks has been attracting thousands to the Auditorium in "A Daughter of the Gods."

Clune's Auditorium.

Those who have not seen Annette Kellerman in "A Daughter of the Gods" have only a few more days in which to take advantage of that opportunity. This is the last week of the famous Fox picture at the Auditorium, as the offering, beginning next Monday, is to be the big twelve-reeler, "The Barrier," adapted from the story of that name by Rex Beach.

Woodley.

The big twin-feature bill at Woodley's is drawing capacity audiences to that theater this week at every performance. The honors are divided between the Sennett-Keystone comedy, "Her Circus Knight," and the thrilling photoplay, "Sapho," featuring Pauline Fredericks.

Another double bill will be shown at the Woodley next week, the attractions being the comedy, "Her Fame and Shame," and a whimsical Irish story called "Castles for Two," with Marie Doro.

Tally's Broadway.

Clara Kimball Young in her feature production, "The Price She Paid," from David Graham Phillips's story, will finish a successful two-weeks' engagement at Tally's Broadway Theater, Sunday night.

Next week Edith Storey, Antonio Moreno and William Duncan will be seen at Tally's in "Money Magic," adapted from the story of that name by Hamlin Garland.

Added attractions will be a new scenic beautiful subject and a good comedy.

Palace.

Holbrook Blinn, starring in "Pride" at the Palace this week, will step down from the screen on Sunday to give place to Nance O'Neill, who will be seen in a photo-drama called "Greed." Whether greed is as deadly a sin as pride is a matter for moralists to decide, but there is little question that Nance O'Neill would be interesting in any brand of sin.

Next Sunday also marks the opening at the Palace of a new serial called "The Mystery of the Double Cross."

Pershing Here.

California coast is undefended. We know it. We have been trying, some of us for years past, to furnish adequate defense of the Pacific Coast. What I want to see and what I have been working toward has been an adequate fleet permanently established in the Pacific."

Congressman Butler said: "The last report is alarming. I'm not speaking sensationally, but because I'm worried. I'm out here for one purpose—to assist you as far as I'm able to establish a base for marines at this point."

OSBORNE LEAVING.

Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Congressman from the Tenth District and himself an old soldier, will leave tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock for Washington, answering the President's call for an emergency session of Congress to consider the present crisis. He will go by way of Sacramento.

Congressman Osborne stated unequivocally last night that he goes prepared to vote for war if the judgment of the President demands such an action. If the matter is left to Congress to decide he preferred not to say what his attitude will be until he had had an opportunity to look over the situation from an official viewpoint. He said, however, that it is difficult to see how war can be avoided.

MANY VOLUNTEER.

Nearly enough officers to man a regiment were located in the city yesterday as a result of the military survey being made by the Chamber of Commerce. The first volunteer was a former major in a Colorado National Guard regiment, who saw four years of service during the riots at Cripple Creek. He offered his services by phone.

Late in the afternoon a veteran who had served four years in the Civil War came to the information bureau at the chamber and offered himself.

"I know they want men of 45 and under," he said, "but lots of us older fellows know the game pretty well and can be of use in the hospital corps. I want to leave my name in the event the call comes."

It was freely predicted among business men yesterday that one of the first things the extra session of Congress will do after assembling April 2 will be to call for a volunteer army.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The action of the President in setting forward the time for the extra session of Congress, to discuss war measures, was hailed with general satisfaction by the members of the New York Stock Exchange. As a result, trading, despite many intervals of uncertainty and dullness, due chiefly to profit-taking, added appreciably to the higher price levels of the week. The bond market failed to keep pace with the early inquiry for stocks, showing irregularity throughout on nominal dealings.

(Abroad:) A Copenhagen cable says there has been a steady rise in the ruble on the exchange market, indicating the confidence with which the market regards the future of Russia.

POOR LO?

An American Indian maid, daughter of a wealthy chief, who is a university graduate, speaks six languages and has traveled around the globe, has offered the United States government the use of her private airplane in case of war. Isn't it about time for people to cut this "Poor Lo" talk?

EVER THE SAME.

A San Francisco preacher who regards the Bible simply as a great piece of literature, and Jesus as a personality rather than as a divinity, says that he intends to give his congregation "the most liberal possible interpretation of theological principles." Power to him so long as he is really doing good. Yet it seems to us that it is well to remember that, whatever Jesus was or was not, he was not an agitator nor a theorist and that the ethical doctrines he taught are transcendent in their effect upon the human race.

THE UNIVERSAL VOICE.

"I never play 'down' to my audience. It is an absolute fallacy to think that 'the man in the street' cannot understand and comprehend fully the difference between inferior and superior music, and to foolishly think he does not appreciate the latter brand." Thus speaks the municipal organist of San Francisco. Music is the universal language and appeals to every being that has the power to think and feel. It is interesting to note that the work of the greatest musicians always appeals to the greatest number of people and that the musicians themselves never hesitate to credit the "common people" with a little feeling and common sense.

A "FRIENDLY PARAGRAPH."

Herr Schroeder, editor of the Amsterdam Telegraaf, in an editorial, said: "In Central Europe there is a group of conscienceless rascals which caused this war." For this conservative statement of an obvious fact Brother Schroeder was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

The Times rises to remark that millions of lives and billions of property would have been saved if those comrades of the devil, Wilhelm and Franz Josef, had, three years ago, been strapped together by the seats of their royal panties and thrown across a high-board fence in the vicinity of an overturned beehive. Now bring on your dungeon for the writer of this friendly paragraph!

THE DOG'S LEGAL RIGHTS.

"Let Hercules himself do what he may; The cat will mew, the dog will have his day."

So sang the Bard of Avon and so decreed the humane council of Los Angeles on Monday last. They adopted a resolution opposing the passage by the Legislature of the Pendergast bill proposing to seize homeless dogs by their cabessas and their narratives and condemn them to be very much cut up by medical students who disembowel a living dog in order to discover the locality of a man's gizzard.

Why vivisect anything or anybody? Will not the X-ray disclose the interior?

The Council will probably not hasten the passage of an ordinance to compel the owners of dogs to build kennels not closer than 200 feet to a residence, for where can be found a kennel site in the inhabited portion of our city that is 200 feet from a residence?

ORANGES AND POPULATION.

Doubtless many of our tourist visitors who have traveled over the good roads of our State through miles of orange groves, many as yet in the non-bearing stage, are wondering whether the supply of fruit will not exceed the demand, even with the added stimulus of an annual "Orange Day."

But a little study of facts will show them that orange-growers have no cause for worry as to the future market. In 1880 the population of the United States proper was 50,000,000; thirty-six years latter, in 1916, our population is over 102,000,000. There seems to be no good reason why our population should not again double in the next forty years, at least, and 200,000,000 people will furnish a market for a lot of oranges. Besides that, outside territory—Canada especially—will use California oranges in large quantities. We are already shipping the fruit to the Hawaiian Islands and will undoubtedly ship to trans-Pacific countries as soon as we have the regular steamer lines established.

Oranges, unlike apples and potatoes, cannot be raised in every State of our country. The field for the raising of sub-tropical fruits is confined to a fraction of the area of the States along our southern border—there is small danger of overproduction in this small section of the United States.

MUNICIPAL TRADING.

The proposal that the City of Los Angeles engage in the retail meat business is one that merits opposition. It finds its inspiration in the temporary success which the selling of fish under municipal auspices has had. It does not, however, take into consideration the fact that the municipal vegetable markets, which were established at a tremendous outlay, proved a flat failure and have left the city with a lot of useless property that must be converted to other uses.

Under these circumstances it behooves the city authorities to stop and take thought for yet a little while and examine an aspect of the situation which they seem to entirely ignore. If the city is to go into the retailing of meat and fish, why not into every other line of business, including groceries, dairy products, bread making, shoes, clothing and dry goods, to say nothing of the multitudinous other activities which by and large make up the bulk of the city's commercial life?

We believe that if the city fathers, who are so anxious to have the city engage in a competitive way with the legitimate enterprise of private business men, will analyse the proposition they will get a shock; for if all enterprise is to become public, then private enterprise must cease and the great question to be answered is, who will pay the taxes which are now raised in the form of licenses and other fees?

The taxpayer is now overburdened as a result largely of the foolish and ill considered number of municipal will-o-the-wisps that the city has been chasing in the bogs and quagmires of public ownership. If private enterprise is to be driven out thousands of independent merchants must seek other fields or become employees of the city, while the revenue which they contributed to the public treasury must be raised by means of direct taxation on real estate.

It will be remembered by thoughtful people that one of the chief objections raised against the so-called trusts was that they tended to discourage individual enterprise and reduced the small merchant class to the station of employees. This objection has not stood, as time has proven conclusively that in spite of the ever increasing number of great enterprises, industrial, commercial and financial, the number of individual merchants has increased within the United States more rapidly than before the advent of great corporations, the reason being that the big concerns confined their activities to those branches of industry that afforded the best field for the employment of large capital and highly organized institutions.

We doubt if any thoughtful man will today undertake to show wherein these corporations have been a source of anything but strength to the industrial, commercial and financial fabric of the nation. They have taken heavy risks and exploited wide areas that individual effort could not have accomplished and they have afforded profitable employment to countless thousands of able men in developing the resources of the country. They have opened the mines, made the products of the forest available for use, they have brought raw products from overseas and by their energy, enterprise and business ability have placed the nation in the foremost rank as a manufacturing country.

In doing all this they have created opportunity for the small business man to build up an independent establishment, and now the city, because of the caterwauling of a few rabid Socialists who are never satisfied with conditions, no matter what they may be, would pull down this carefully reared commercial structure and substitute so-called municipal ownership of everything, with innumerable offices which they hope to fill and from which they expect to be paid from the public till, which is, after all, only the TAXPAYERS' POCKETBOOK.

The specious cry that meat is high and that the middleman, or retail merchant, is responsible, has been voiced by men in high places who should in all fairness investigate before jumping at a conclusion and condemning men who are as hard pressed by the high prices as are the consumers. Does it occur to these malcontents that all meat products are bringing the highest prices in the history of the nation to the producer? Pork that sold for 7½ cents in 1915 on the farm is bringing from 12 to 15 cents today, beef is up from 4 to 5 cents a pound and lamb and mutton are from 6 to 9 cents a pound higher than two years ago. The same is true of all products and by-products of the soil and, as a result, the farmer or producer is reaping a rich harvest.

Owners of farms in the corn belt are wintering in California this year and they are frank in stating that if present conditions continue for another year, and the crops prove fairly fountiful, there will not be a mortgage in the corn belt. This is of itself a healthy situation and the release of the money will enable other sections to get it; this will bring about a wider development and general prosperity will spread over the land.

It is this condition, brought about chiefly by the war in Europe, the high prices of labor in the East, with an increase in purchasing power, that has caused the prices of all commodities to rise, and not, as has been repeatedly alleged, the avarice of the middleman. It is an absolute fact, well known to all who have taken the trouble to investigate, that the retail merchant, or so-called middleman, is being slowly ground between the millstones of high cost of doing business, higher prices for his merchandise and a steady attempt on the part of the Socialists to lower his prices to a point where profit vanishes. Then, adding to all these troubles, which are very real, comes the city with a proposition to drive him out of business by entering into competition and selling meat, fish and other produce at a figure below what he can afford to sell and pay wages, rent, interest and taxes. It's a bad and dangerous proposition and in the name of fair play to honest individual effort it should be killed.

NEVER FAILED YET.

Brig.-Gen. Plummer declares the American soldier is the finest in the world. That may be taken as the personal opinion of a soldier-patriot, yet no one can deny that, in spite of lack of training and other handicaps, Uncle Sam's men have always proved, in point of patriotism and endurance, the equals of any fighters they ever "went up against."

The Penalty for Building a Fine Home.

THE VORACIOUS BILLBOARDERS.

The billboard men have been busily engaged during the past few days slapping up 20x10 foot placards all over the city calling upon the people of Los Angeles to help them save the big, fine "industry" which they have built up. Moved to tears though it must be by this appeal, the public is nevertheless resolutely choking back the sob in its throat and demanding more action and quicker action against the billboard.

It probably never occurred to the men who dictated this three-colored, landscape-obliterating plea that the appeal itself was at once an illuminating revelation and a warning to the readers thereof as to what might be expected from the billboard interests if this survey of the billboard situation which the City Council has authorized were to go through. Ninety days is a long time, enough time to double the present mileage of billboards in Los Angeles and to deface about all of the street frontage that has still managed to escape the professional despoilers. The "heavy investment" in billboards would be still heavier three months from now and the catastrophe of "confiscation" the more tragic.

That is the trouble with the billboard men. They have never been satisfied with moderation. They would never have incurred the enmity of the public at large had they been content to keep out of the residence districts. No one admires billboards or wants them anywhere, but nothing would probably ever have come of the original agitation to rid the city of these eyesores had not the billboard interests brazenly insisted upon invading the home sections of Los Angeles. Had they heeded the first protests against this outrageous proceeding, they might not now be in such hot water.

The day the home-owners of the city began to rebel against the despoliation of their sightly precincts by the monstrosities that now deface and disgrace all Los Angeles, the perpetrators of the outrage began talking about their "rights." Every time the thing was brought up the billboard men would be in the City Council chamber big as life, with the same defiant retort. There was no reasoning with them. They knew what they could do "under the law" and they proposed to do it, the public of Los Angeles nothwithstanding to the contrary. It came to be an accepted general belief after a while that the public had no rights as against the billboard nuisance and that there was nothing to do but submit.

And then came the news that the City of Chicago had won a signal victory against the same kind of despoilers after a long fight, ending in the United States Supreme Court. The tidings of this event seemed to have been timed to get here just when the billboard interests were their busiest in the residence districts. The people were astonished and then electrified when the City Attorney announced that the high court decision in favor of Chicago unquestionably gave Los Angeles the right to abolish all billboards in its residence districts and to regulate the size and character of these signs in business and industrial sections.

The effect of that all-important piece of news has been to start such an anti-billboard agitation as has never been seen before. One civic organization after another has demanded that the City Council exercise its now firmly-established rights and rid the city of this pest. The billboard magnates have changed their tune from defiance of everything and everybody to a minor wail about their precious investments. Caught entirely off their guard by the new conditions, they have bent every energy to the one end of gaining time to catch their breath and devise some workable plan for blocking the reform so imminently threatening their business.

The special survey committee of the City Council, by putting through a resolution appointing a sub-committee to seek legal information, has made a farce of the whole situation and played directly into the hands of the billboard men. Whether the whole imbecile scheme of spending the next ninety days investigating the billboard question will be carried out remains to be seen. The billboard men seem to be able to dictate things thus far to the end of getting the precious time they want. Maybe the Council will awaken to the fact that the demands of the taxpayers and citizens generally mean more than the squeals of the little group of speculators whose business is the defacing of the city for gain, and again maybe not. The billboard men have plainly indicated the course they intend to follow, if they ever succeed in averting the menace of public action now confronting them.

One of the prime arguments of the polychrome appeal which they are now sticking up all over the city is that the prohibition of billboards would throw men out of employment. That means on the face of it that they intend to keep on erecting billboards. They have been slapping them up for weeks, as though determined to get as much of the city as possible out of sight behind their signs before their case came to an issue. If the billboard nuisance is intolerable now, it is nothing to what it will be a few months hence, if the City Council is so irresponsive to the public will and so lost to a sense of regard for the city's appearance and its reputation as to give these poachers on public decency their way once more.

THE EMANCIPATION OF THE RUSSIANS.

Our friendship with Russia is historic. It began with our existence as a nation. It has continued without an interregnum for a hundred and forty years, and every true American will rejoice that Russia is about to become a sister republic. In our revolutionary war while Russia—unlike France—did not contribute to our fleet or army, we had yet from her a moral support which did much toward securing the recognition of our independence.

When the war of 1812 was upon us, Russia offered her mediation. We accepted it, but Great Britain refused, and unofficially placed her refusal upon the ground that Russia would unfairly favor us in any adjudication. In the day of our distress and peril the Latin nations and the Central Powers were unfriendly to us. The British pirate ship Alabama helped to drive our ships from the Atlantic, and the Shenandoah lit the Arctic Ocean with the flames of our burning whalers. Many of the nations of Europe told us, by the speeches of statesmen and the utterances of the press, that we had grown too strong and that they wished for our division. Then it was that Russia sent to us the friendly and graceful message that she deemed the preservation of our Union essential to the universal political equilibrium, and that Russia stood pledged to the most friendly interest in us.

There are 1,700,000 persons of Russian birth in the United States, and they are among our most peaceful, law-abiding and industrious people. We would be less than loyal to our long-continued friendship with the Russian people if we failed to rejoice at their emancipation from the despotic rule of the Romanoffs and the establishment of a government of the people in place of the government of an autocracy.

The problem with which Russia has to deal in changing her government from a despotism to a republic is, as stated by Tolstoi, "that there is a lack of social gradation between the noble and the peasant which forces the social philosopher of rank to accept an existence of pure worldliness and empty show, or to adopt the primitive aspiration and humble toil of the tillers of the soil." But this will be overcome.

The next best seller among juveniles will tell the story of the boy who, in the spring of 1917, fitted up a small schooner and wiped the German raiders off the face of the sea.

Billy Sunday shook Boston down for $51,000. Is Los Angeles prepared?

IN SEASON.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Something In It.

Don't fancy that the fates conspire
To bring about your hopeless fall.
Life's tests include both flood and fire—
There's something in it after all.

Don't spend the hours in lamentation,
But harken to the trumpet's call.
Life's plans may mean your transformation—

The Wise Guy.

In the spring the wise man's fancy lightly turns back to the soil. He wants to watch his garden grow. The cold nights of last month were trying on the green goods, however, and the ground was so chilly that some seeds refused to germinate. Old Man Soggins was ready for 'em though. He has lumbago and he utilized it by sowing his cabbage seed in his porous plaster. The heat of his body started the seeds to popping all right and when the plants began to show up strong, he stripped off his plaster, cut it into shreds and set it out in his garden. Now his plants are coming on fine. Whether the cabbages will have firm heads after being rooted in a porous plaster remains to be seen.

The Survivor.

The Old Man cannot go to war, but it is not because of a weak heart. He has a game leg and can't run. To show his courage and patriotism, however, he has challenged Caspar Schwartzenburg, a German reservist who lives on the same block, to a strange duel. The Old Man and the German harbor the same ailments and a medicine-taking contest is now planned. It is proposed to settle it in a duel of pills and capsules, beginning with iron and strychnine and growing in strength until cyanide of potassium is reached. The contestants are to take the same brand of dope at the same moment and keep it up until one of them falls by the wayside. The Old Man says that America will win, as he has been in training for a long time.

The Lost Chance.

Seems as if the spoilsmen had overlooked a bet. There has been some complaint because ponderous motor trucks and their trailers have been cutting the gizzard out of some of our splendid highways. It would seem that the proper thing would be a boulevard commission at five thousand per each. All the commissioners would have to do would be to scoot over the roads in a fleet of high powered speed chariots and check up on abuses of the pavements. Every two years they could make reports and recommendations to the Legislature and the solons could frame a few more laws to fit conditions. It is odd that the Governor overlooked this opportunity to reward a few patriots, but it may not be too late yet.

In Hard Lines.

Met two Industrial Workers this week who wanted jobs in their respective lines. It appeared that one of them was used to driving a snow plow and the other was a trimmer of Christmas trees. Both of them had hands too sore to permit them to do a bit of spading in our garden and so we were reluctantly compelled to part. But being a person used to cutting considerable ice, I could sympathize with them. It is tough to be in a land without a white winter.

Let 'Em Alone.

Looks like small and pernicious business when legislators concern themselves with plans for stamping the initative out of the rising generation. To banish from the street the newsboy of under fourteen is to cut off the bread winner of many a family. Likewise it is a legislative slam at the great American spirit of hustle and get there. It is the crop of dreamy and impractical sentimentalists — these milky reformers of men and morals, who are responsible for this raid upon the newsboy as an institution. Until this time the only objection ever raised against the street career of the newsboy was the fact that it cut off many desirable hours of schooling. This cannot be urged now, as the schools and hours are such that any boy can attend all the classes and pursue all the studies that regulation and precedent prescribe. Aside from that, the newsboy in his work is schooled in thrift, energy, courage, self-reliance, courtesy, manliness and practical business. The University of Hard Knocks graduates some of our finest and ablest men and the students have neither the time nor the inspiration to be lazy or immoral. It would be both a wrong and a hardship to chase the cheery, bread-winning newsboy from the streets. It doesn't make any difference to the newspapers, but it crushes the spirit of the boy.

Aesop Up-to-date.

[Cleveland Leader:] An old Bear married a little Wren, and thereafter exhibited a continuous grouch.

He sat around and sulked, when he wasn't growling, and during the long winter nights he insisted on hibernating and refused to visit theaters, cabarets, concerts or even travel talks.

The little Wren was a dutiful housewife. But, finally, she got up and rebelled.

"I'm going to the style show," she said. "Will you go with me?"

But the Bear only growled; and the little Wren went down alone.

She came back decorated with $675 worth of peacock's feathers.

"Alas," cried the Bear, when the bills came in. "Had I but gone with her, I might have curbed her extravagant propensities."

WHY CHINA BREAKS WITH GERMANY.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

BY THADDEUS C. WHITE,
Former Deputy Consul-General of the United States at Shanghai; Expert in Modern Financial, Industrial and Commercial Conditions in China.

IT IS scarcely a question, as it was so long the question in the United States, whether there ought to be a break between China and Germany. It is now rather—just as it it in the United States—that there must be a break. The considerations influencing both countries may be, on the surface, identical; but the condition lying back of the preponderant weight those considerations carry in the crisis are distinctly different.

The United States, among all the neutrals whose patience during the great war has proved so long suffering, was the one that could best afford to wait, because it was—if but potentially—the strongest. Its patience has been the patience of the strong man under provocation, who rests in the security of his strength. But the patience of China has been the patience of the weak, whose timidity seeks its refuge in humility. On its continent, indeed, on its hemisphere, the United States, at no stage of the series of injuries inflicted upon it by either party to the deadly quarrel, has apprehended any lessening of its status of preeminence. But in Asia, China has to dread continually the buffets of war's fortunes, from whichever side they might come.

Were China internationally in the position of Japan today it would have been, perhaps, quite a different story. But the boot of power, at present, is on the other foot in the Orient; and, what is of almost equal moment, the purse of power is in the other pocket. Needy in spite of natural riches exceeding those of any other country; well nigh defenseless in spite of man power superior in numbers—and equal in sheer, hard, resolute fighting courage—to that of any other two peoples; governmentally still near to the inchoate, in spite of a new-born passion for democracy that yields to the democracy of no other people—China remains for the present the sport of circumstance, less the mistress of her destiny than the prey of all daring national adventurers.

Germany in the past has yielded to no other country in astuteness in exploiting China and in the extent of its aggrandizement at China's expense during the period of peace. Germany, during the war, has given to China precisely the same reasons for offense that have tried so supremely the tolerance of Americans. The only variation is that the chronology of German offenses has been reversed.

German's plots here against nations friendly with us, but at war with her, have been modest by comparison with her plots in China, just as her plots directly against the peace and sovereignty of the United States have been small as compared with her plot against the peace and sovereignty of China.

Prior to the outbreak of the war certain Germans smuggled into Shanghai 20,000 rifles and a more than ample supply of ammunition for sale to the Chinese rebels against the republic. Before those arms were disposed of Europe burst into flames and they were held in Shanghai for Germany's more selfish purposes. A conspiracy was organized in the International Settlement in Shanghai whose object was to ship arms to the Indian rebels against the British rule, one symptom of the German activity at that time being the abortive mutiny of Singapore. Two mishaps prevented success. Bombs were being manufactured in Shanghai for forwarding to India in connection with the rifles and ammunition. One of them—they were very good bombs—exploded and reduced a Shanghai house to ruins. The investigation made disposal of the arms necessary. They tried to run them out of Shanghai on a false huchao, or customhouse pass, and were discovered by the international police. That was an offense which China remembered when, in the Mediterranean, long after the United States endured the shock of the Lusitania's sinking, hundreds of her coolies went down to death under a German's submarine torpedo. To China, after these episodes of the war, Germany's proclamation of ruthless submarine warfare affords ample ground for breach of diplomatic relations if not for actual hostilities.

If China should accede to the importunities of the Entente Allies she stands to gain the remission of the Boxer indemnities still due them, now amounting to some 350,000,000 taels—and the tael today is quoted higher than it has been quoted for many years. From a value of 73 cents five years ago, the tael has risen to 86 cents. Those 350,000,000 taels, therefore, amount now to $300,000,000—practically an offer of $300,000,000 to China to ally herself with Germany's foes.

Again, if China were in alliance with the Entente she would be not only the ally of Japan—possibly a union of dubious advantage in Chinese eyes—but an ally of Japan's allies, which would be an indubitable advantage. Anyone acquainted with the oriental situation can comprehend how enormously strengthened would be China's position in her political relations with her nearest neighbor were she assured of the full moral and material support of the Allied Powers, soon, possibly, including the United States.

His Needs.

"My brother bought a motor here last week," said an angry man to the salesman that stepped up to greet him, "and he said if anything broke you would supply him with new parts."

"Certainly," said the salesman. "what does he want?"

"He wants two deltoid muscles, a couple of kneecaps, one elbow, and about half a yard of cuticle," said the man, "and he wants them at once."—[Christian Register.

BY THE STAFF.

It is now understood that [illegible] insists upon the quid pro quo before entering into the war.

There are 30,000,000 cats in the United States. How would you have liked the job of taking the census?

Physicians insist there is a difference between hunger and appetite, but we could never differentiate.

What Venustiano Carranza needs is to feel in the steel pants a firm hand with lifting power.

The shortage of the sisal crop in Yucatan is having a serious effect on the output of pure Havana cigars.

Why not locate the new government armor plant on the Pacific Coast? We may not get it, but nothing comes to him who makes advances.

Corporations are just like the rest of us, they don't like to pay more taxes than they are compelled to. The first popular tax law is yet to be enacted.

A warehouse containing [illegible] thousand bushels of potatoes recently burned away down in Texas. Why not leave the burning of potatoes to mother?

In view of the report of the "leak" sensation, Congress could have enacted a law preventing children from listening to the tale of the stock ticker.

An eastern clergyman has discovered that Martin Luther was the cause of the war. And while going back that far, why not go on and charge it to our forefathers?

The cost of living is not to be distributed. In California it is much less to live than is fair. And there are other reasons for preferring the Golden State to any other under the sun.

The first practical Wright biplane, built in 1905, has been given to the Smithsonian Institution, Washington. It will be in transit what Stephenson's engine was to railroad transit, and the "Clermont" to steamboat navigation.

Catharine Breshkovskaya, grandmother of the Russian revolution, has been invited to return after thirty years of exile. Her story: Every movement for betterment of the race and country is started by a woman, if you go down to the real facts.

In Seattle and Tacoma there is hot discussion whether Mount Rainier or Mt. Tacoma. Why not compromise by naming Mt. Vancouver for the man who originally discovered the second highest on the continent.

A "coalition Congress" is to meet the international situation in Washington. If the war-breeding removes Bill Stone from the chairmanship of the Foreign Affairs Committee in the Senate, there will be hot weather. But why should Republicans surrender the fruits of the victory in the House last November?

The Ohio Legislature has been mistaken in classing Harding as a singing bird, but it is a good thing of a whistler. Many people whistle "Bob White" as they wander along a country road where the rail fences were covered with blackberries, elders and wild roses?

The Federal Reserve Board says that its warning against November against investments in British treasury bills was misunderstood." It is evident that the members of the board have been misunderstood at that time. It is possible that England and the United States and their allies, and at such a time as this, to ask investments in foreign securities of nations with which we may be forced to make war cannot be described as [illegible]

Speaking of the "present moment," the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen are certainly in luck. Last fall they got the Adamson law, by harrying President Wilson on the eve of a presidential election, when he was loathe to have trouble. Now they get further concessions to avoid a strike at a time when the country is on the verge of a war with a foreign nation, the railroads being unwilling to paralyze business of the country at such a time. The trainmen will no doubt get it a great victory!

WHEN THE DEVIL IS OUT.

When the devil is out
Kaiser sleeps,
And the world is at peace
Its foes,
And the submarine no longer
In the path of the sun where and flows.

When the Cross of Christ
art of man
Are safe from the vandal
Hun,
And the hospital ship can may sail
On its errand of mercy over sun.

Then is the good time coming
song,
When the wicked shall cease
the weary rest
day is long.

And the bow of promise shall
Where the tide of the battle and fell;
And the Lustiness's song rise
loved so well.

JACK RYAN TO HEAVE OPENER.

Jack Ryan, upside-down specialist, will draw the assignment to pitch against Oakland here in the opening game of the season, April 3, providing he is in shape.

Chance is inclined to confer that honor on the big fellow, in view of his great work last season, and also because of the fact that he is the charter member of the present pitching staff. However, condition of the different pitchers will be the determining factor.

Advance sales for the opening game are heavier than usual. All but fourteen boxes have been sold, and these will be taken in the next few days, while many of the seats in the first three rows of the grand stand, which are to be reserved, have been purchased.

163, Bill Bacon 163 and J. T. Gilmer 158.

Mr. Orr, who started ferociously with a 7 at No. 1, redeemed his reputation with a stylish 3 on the seventh and 77 for the round.

John P. Cudahy won the best net prize of the day with 136. He had 83 and 81, which his 14 handicap made look like super-championship scores.

The idea is that the best thirty-six, pros and amateurs alike, qualify for today's play. But as the exhilarated pros who drew up the pairings insisted upon counting bountifully, nineteen pairs have been duly enumerated. Here they are:

Bob Black and W. Forvargue, Dave Black and Tom Stevens, Hutt Martin and Bob Simpson, Charles E. Orr and W. Malcolm, Paul Wold and Jack Stone, F. D. Wilkerson and G. Bowen, Laurence Cowing and Paul Lopez, Bill Bacon and Tom McQuarrie, Artie Shafer and Joe Zorraquinos, O. Callender and Charlie Adams, F. W. Rhodes and William Hanley, E. S. Armstrong and Ed Guyer, John P. Cudahy and C. Bassiler, J. V. Eliot and G. Turnbull, H. B. Ingalls and Dave Livie, Morris Phillips and Frank Peebles, George Cline and Arthur Rigby, W. K. Jewett and G. Martin, and J. T. Gilmer and Alec Morrison.

G. Bowen is the boy who used to caddie for Armstrong in his championship days. He is now assistant at Midwick, and looks like becoming a credit to the profession.

A YOUTH.

C. Bassler is a youth of 16, from the Brentwood Country Club, whose chances of being in on the money are by no means remote.

F. D. Wilkerson is a gentleman who confesses to 10 handicap, but smilingly brings in 80 and 82, and at the same time proudly exhibits the John S. Cravens cup, for which he tied with H. B. Ingalls and won in the play-off. He started out with two 3's at Nos. 2 and 3, both of them par 4, and after that he felt he could win anything. As the tie for the Cravens cup had to be played over thirty-six holes, the championship score sufficed. He must have dreamed he was the next open champion last night.

Although they won no honors, the Orange county contingent was strong, as usual—A. C. Twist, J. W. Tubbs, F. B. Browning, F. Parsons, V. V. Tubbs and W. K. Parkinson. None of them could possibly have hoped to be an open champion, so one must admit they are a sporting lot.

C. H. Palmer, winner of the Los Angeles event, was there. But glory was not for him this time. An 83 in the morning quelled all desire.

The winning professional will get $200, and there are ten other money prizes. The amateur winners receive cups.

And so at the end of a perfect day . . .

Baseball.

SEVEN INNINGS LONG ENOUGH.

Mueller Yanks Pitchers in Great Haste.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The Angels continued to tear their way through all local opposition yesterday, humbling the haughty Cline-Cline baseball team by a score of 4 to 0. Seven innings were sufficient to do the deed. That's all it takes the Angels to win their games any more. When they play more than seven innings it is for exercise, and not for glory. There was a time when they were inclined to dwadle along into the twilight and gum up the supper hour. Now they realize that procrastination is the thief of time and permits the gravy to grow cold.

The Cline-Clines were billed as Simon-pure semi-pros, a semi-pro being a player who accepts money only when he can get it. He has no stipulated salary or fixed income, and plays the game through love of whatever he can get out of it. True, Mat Hynes and Pat Phillips played professional ball several years ago, but when their salaries stopped they regained their semi-pro standing. This made them eligible for yesterday's combat.

Carl Mueller, who is rated as a Peerless Leader among semi-pros, directed the doings from the dugout. He doesn't want to appear in public until he has had more practice.

The real peerless leader occupied a grand stand box, and was unabashed by the fixed stare of the bugs. Chance does not give his time or talent, or otherwise monkey with these exhibition games. He turns this over to Lieut. Schultz, commander of the air and land forces. Aside from yelping out who is to take fly balls, Schultz is held responsible for the success or failure of all strategy or maneuvers which are undertaken, as well as balls which are fouled over the fence. Yesterday he handled the large mass of men under him with such superlative skill that the game was won without loss of life or balls.

Mueller placed a line-up in the field, which was strong at the start, but gradually cracked under the strain. Phillips was swatted eight times, but in the pinches drew up under his shell, which made him hard to hit in a vital spot.

Errors figured in the first three tallies. The Angels got their first earned run off Phillips in the sixth, and Mueller considered this sufficient cause for removal. Mueller never wanted it said of him that the game was lost because he lacked the moral courage to yank a heaver. Mueller also fearlessly yanked his second baseman earlier in the game, and in the seventh trotted out the usual squad of pinch-hitters for a dying effort. He seemed to overlook nothing, and it was a dark day, too.

But all this was futile against the expert pitching of Standridge and Brown, and the matchless fielding of their support. Standridge was stirred for three hits in four rounds, one of them a double by Hynes. This was all the semi-pros got, because Brown wouldn't let them have any more.

Maggert's walk, an out and Salazar's low throw spotted the Angels to one run in the first. The game was then a pretty combat with no more scoring until the fifth, when

ORANGE SHARKS QUIET QUAKERS.

Snatch Basketball Championship by a Point.

Hogan and Swann Shine for Marmalade Magnates.

Whittier Players Put up Wonderful Exhibition.

BY WARDE FOWLER.

The well-known marmalade magnates were one point too good for the Whittier Crescents last night and the basketball championship of the south went thus: Orange 20, Whittier 19.

It was the best exhibition of basketball ever seen in Southern California.

HURRAH!

For one year from date the Orange men will be permitted to wear the championship belt. This belt, however, is only a mythical affair and the champions may have to resort to ordinary belts or even suspenders. As a championship belt is a heavy, cumbersome affair and not at all useful in performing the every-day functions of a belt, the loss will not be keenly felt by the Orange players.

Even if this belt did exist, the Orange men do not see how it could keep five pairs of pants in position.

At the end of the initial half of the battle the score was even, ten points apiece. This was the only time that the Crescents evened up the count. At all other stages the citrus sharks were leading by one or more points. Swann shot the first basket for Orange and Brownell shot the last one for Whittier. Things were so even all the way through that it hurt.

Eleven men took part in the combat and they were all stars. Not for a single instant did a man on either side slow up. They were there to win the championship, and coming out alive was the least of their worries. There were few fouls, no rough work, and the play was as clean and fast as anyone could wish. Young Potter ran into an outstretched arm near the end of the game and was knocked cold for a few moments. Outside of this, no one was hurt, even temporarily.

RAH FOR SWANN!

A little shrimp about five feet tall, called Swann, was the pride and joy of the Orange squad. This guy gathered in exactly one-half of the citrus tallies, shot fouls whenever the referee called 'em, and sailed around the court like a runaway jack rabbit. Swann heaved fifteen or twenty baskets that didn't materialize, and every shot went so close that it brought a gasp from the Whittier contingent.

Swann was ably assisted in the basket-shooting line by Cooper and B. Cate, who delivered six and four points respectively. Cooper played his usual brilliant game and chased the ball out of danger whenever it neared the Quaker goal.

Old Man Hogan covered the Whittier forwards like a tent and saved many a well-aimed basket. When Brownell would stoop down to shoot, Hogan would loom in the offing and snatch the pill out of the atmosphere. If the ball was thrown high enough to get by Hogan it usually went over the backstop.

DIVIDED UP.

The Quakers divided the basket-shooting honors, Brownell, Redmon, McBurney and Wicker all getting in for a share of the glory. These gents played wonderful basketball and had the Orangemen on the run near the end of the battle. They didn't get many of the breaks, a majority of their long shots wandering off into space. Time and time again the Quakers were forced to shoot from the center of the court. For, if the ball rambled much nearer the goal, Hogan would spoil the chances for a basket.

Swann opened the evening's entertainment by taking advantage of a foul. He stepped up to the plate and slid a shot into the basket without touching the ring. Several hundred Orange fans, cluttering the Los Angeles Athletic Club gym, stood up on their chairs and beat the welkin into insensibility. Everybody seemed to be yelling, and noncombatants decided that there weren't any Whittier people present. In a few seconds, however, big McBurney tossed a goal from the center of the court, and the first exhibition of noise retired into the shade and sat down. The Quaker rooters expressed a desire to flock down on the court and carry McBurney around on their shoulders for a while. Referee Klawans decided that this would slow up the game, and refused permission.

NO PAUSES.

The rest of the inning saw the Orangemen making a point and the Quakers repeating without delay. Just as the half was ending, Redmon heaved the ball through the ring and evened the score.

The second period was a repetition of the first. The Citrus magnates managed to remain in the lead, but they couldn't get out of danger. And

BURKE BIG AID TO MEADOWBROOK.

PLAYS BACK AND SCORES TWO GOALS.

Max Fleischmann's Miami Valley Players Bite the Dust—Hopping is Unhorsed but not Injured. Winners to Play Del Monte in Finals—Season Nears End.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CORONADO, March 21.—Meadowbrook won from Miami Valley today in the first game for the Pacific Coast All-American polo trophy by a score of 6 1-4 to 4. The contest was hard fought and clever playing by Carleton Burke at back for the Meadowbrooks and by J. Chesver Cowdin, on Miami Valley were features of the game.

Hopping was unhorsed in the sixth period but not hurt. His playing, however, has not been up to par the past few games. The speedy eastern polo player was the first man here and has been playing polo practically every day since he came, so that he shows the effects of his strenuous playing.

Carleton Burke, on the contrary, seems to improve steadily and can always be relied on to play a strong, steady game. He made a strong fourth for the Meadowbrooks with Hecksher, Perry Beadleston and Malcolm Stevenson. Hopping and Cowdin made a rally in the last few periods of the game but did not begin soon enough to retrieve their losses of the first part.

The score:

Meadowbrook—No. 1, G. M. Hecksher, 1; No. 2, P. Beadleston, 1; No. 3, Malcolm Stevenson, 2; back, Carleton Burke, 2. Total goals, 7. Penalties, Stevenson, foul and safety; net score 6 1-4.

Miami Club—No. 1, W. P. Talbot, 1; No. 2, E. W. Hopping, 2; No. 3, J. Chesver Cowdin, 1; back, Max Fleischmann, 1. Total goals, 5; penalties, Hopping, foul; Fleischmann, foul; net score, 4.

The finals for the trophy will be played Friday by Del Monte and Meadowbrook. This will about end the polo here as many of the polo men are leaving. Cliff Weatherwax, Aberdeen polo[illegible], left today for Del Monte on his way north.

BEACHMEN DEFEAT THE CLIFFDWELLERS.

By scoring three runs in the ninth inning on bunched hits and fast base running, the Long Beach High School nine came out victorious in its game with the L. A. High team on Housh Field yesterday afternoon by the count of 5 to 2. Buckley twirled a fine game for the beachmen, and added to his fame by knocking a homer into the historic graveyard. Lefler, who is said to have better control than any of the other L. A. High pitchers, was hit rather freely. Leahy of L. A. played a star game at shortstop, several times knocking down what seemed sure hits. A couple of college students essayed the role of umpires and made some unusually raw decisions.

The score:

Long Beach—5; hits, 9; errors, 1.
L. A. High—2; hits, 5; errors, 1.

Batteries — Buckley and Shaw; Lefler and Berry.

Very Mild.

NO UPSETS IN BEACH TENNIS.

Stars Wallop Opposition as Expected.

Miss Sears Fails to Show for Her Match.

Many Classy Matches will be Run Off.

There was not any too much excitement at the beach yesterday in the course of the day's tennis play. Probably the most exciting even of the day was the announcement that Miss Eleanora Sears would not arrive in time to play her match with Miss Florence Sutton.

The other matches of the day went very much as might have been expected, Miss Bjurstedt beating Mrs. Cushing, 6-2, 6-0, Miss Browne winning from Miss Johnson, 6-0 6-2, and Mrs. Williams defeating Miss Rothenhoeser, 6-2, 6-2. The losers all played splendidly, but were up against too stiff competition.

Maurice McLoughlin has finally decided to enter the singles and will be seen in action tomorrow and Saturday, providing Eddie Simmons doesn't eliminate him in the first round when they meet. Wynn Mace and Ralph Baggs, an eastern player of note, are in Maury's half of the draw, while Harold Throckmorton, Victor Dixon and Simpson Sinsabaugh look like the class of the other half.

Matches will begin shortly after sun-up today, and will continue until well on into the gloaming. Following is the schedule of play as given out by the committee last night.

At 9 a.m.—Winne vs. Busch, Goodwin vs. Harnett.

9:45 a.m.—Donley vs. Nieto, Wilson vs. Rager.

10:30 a.m.—Miss Florence Sutton vs. Miss Mary Browne.

11:15 a.m.—Barker vs. Baggs, Throckmorton vs. Osborne.

12 m.—Sinsabaugh vs. Dixon, Mace vs. winner of Wilson-Rager match.

1:30 p.m.—Donley and Winne vs. Nieto and partner, Harnett and partner vs. Simmons and Osborne.

2:15 p.m.—Church and Throckmorton vs. Rager and Busch.

3 p.m.—Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bruce vs. Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Sears. Winner Goodwin vs. Harnett match vs. winner Dixon vs. Sinsabaugh match.

3:45 p.m.—Winner of Nieto vs. Donley match vs. winner Throckmorton vs. Osborne match. Winner Barker vs. Baggs match vs. winner Mace vs. winner Wilson vs. Roger match.

4:30 p.m.—Miss Bjurstedt and Church vs. Cushing and partner, Miss Browne and Sinsabaugh vs. Miss Johnson and partner.

THREE COAST BOYS BATTLE.

Swede Risberg Looks Good to the Sox.

Zeb Terry Fighting Hard for the Job.

Fred McMullen also After the Position.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

In the course of grooming the White Sox for the American League championship, a terrific battle has started around short. Four men of more than ordinary ability are involved. It is doubtful whether any club in the history of baseball ever had four men of equal fielding genius fighting for the shortstop's position.

The place is likely to go to a former Coast Leaguer, as three of the combatants—Risberg, Terry and McMullen—are from this circuit. Buck Weaver, shortstop of the club for years, is out of the running. He has been shifted to third, and appears to be a fixture. This has shunted McMullen from his natural position and made him a contender at short. Risberg seems to have the edge so far. While hardly the equal of Terry as a fielder, he is a better hitter. The Swede, while he has not demonstrated that he is a better hitter than McMullen, may outfield him in that position. Mac belongs at third base, and would show to better advantage there defensively than Risberg. This from a special writer who is with the White Sox at Mineral Wells, Tex.:

"In the sprint for the shortstop's job are Risberg, Terry, McMullen and Hartford. Weaver is conceded the third-base job. Rowland has made his shift to that position permanent.

"Risberg has shown well at short and seems to be the logical man to play the position. He is fast on the bases, an exceptionally clever fielder and stings the ball to safety often. Bruce Hartford, a Chicago boy, also has shown up strong at short and will give Risberg a close battle. And don't forget that Terry and McMullen are going to have something to say about who is to hold down the shortstop post before spring training is over. The man who is fastest, can field cleverly and hit fairly well, however, will draw the assignment."

From what we have seen of the work of these men on the Coast, it seems almost certain that Risberg's superior speed on the bases will win him the place. As a fielder, the Swede never looked as good at short as on the other side of the sack, but he may improve with experience in that position. His base running, especially his ability to stretch singles into doubles, and his knack of turning to account the slightest false move by a fielder, will keep him in the line-up if he does only reasonably fair work in other departments.

Terry and McMullen will give the infield great reserve strength. Zeb is equally good at short and second, while McMullen can play second, third or short.

Chick Gandil is conceded the place at first base, according to training camp reports. Chicago writers here with the Cubs were practically unanimous in saying that the White Sox, with even a fair fielding first baseman, would have won the flag last year. They figure that Fournier lost fully ten games by his weak defensive work at first base, which was more than enough to decide the issue in favor of Boston. Gandil may be slipping, but he can still field. Rowland has considerable offensive strength elsewhere, and believes that he can sacrifice batting at first base for the sake of tight fielding.

The Tigers scored another notable triumph yesterday by beating themselves. The Regulars overwhelmed the Yannigans, 11 to 2, in eight innings, and took them only an hour and a half to turn the trick. Stovall is speeding up his team, and expects to keep it in high all season. He says that all games to which his team is a party will be short, sharp and decisive. Fromme and Mitchell heaved for the Regs, with Mitze catching, while Decanniere, Harkins and Simons were on the points for the Yans. Stovall used Decanniere and Harkins against the Regulars because he wants Doane, Daley, McLarry and Galloway, his left-handed hitters, to familiarize themselves with southpaw slants. All of them became quite familiar yesterday, and will be on speaking terms with port-side pitching by the opening day. Stovall is taking advantage of these games to drill his men in signal work and pet plays which he found successful in the majors. Dick Bayless and Johnny Kane worked out with the club. Both appear to be in fine shape. The only thing that prevents them from getting on in the Coast League is the rule requiring each club to carry four youngsters. Bayless will report to Lincoln early next week, and Kane expects to land a place in the East or Middle West.

BALL GAME WON BY REDLANDS HIGH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, March 21.—The Redlands High baseball team walloped the Beaumont team right handily this afternoon by a score of 16 to 8. Coach Lutz sprung his latest find in the pitching department, a diminutive southpaw named Ed Waite. This youngster mowed the Beaumont batters with regularity and dispatch, but the men behind him made enough errors to let in a few runs. Best pitched the game for Beaumont, and showed plenty of smoke, but few curves. The line-up:

JOIE RAY TAKES MILE FROM OVERTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 21.—J. W. Ray, Illinois Athletic Club, Chicago, defeated John W. Overton, Yale, in a special one-mile indoor race at Madison Square Garden by twenty yards. The time was 4m. 19s., or three second slower than the world's record for the distance established recently by Overton in Philadelphia.

SEAL REGULARS TO PLAY CUBS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—With the exception of Justin Fitzgerald, who remains here in charge of the second Seal squad, all the Seal regulars will make the trip to San Francisco this week for the last exhibition games with the Chicago Cubs.

Fitz's absence from the regular line-up is caused by a painful bruise on his hip, brought about by sliding. It will be three or four days before he will be right again.

Two bushers, Smith and O'Doul, pitchers, also are making the trip. Harry Wolverton expects to work them against the Cubs. They probably will finish a game each.

Ira Hall, who helped Del Baker behind the bat last week, remains here. Louis Sepulveda's arm having rounded into shape. He will split the backstoping with Baker. The players who leave here tomorrow morning follow: Koerner, Downs, Hollywood, Corhan, Baker, Sepulveda, Maisel, Schaller, Calvo, Ellis, Oldham, O'Doul, Erickson, Steen, Baum, Kallio and Smith.

BEAVERS FIND THAT ROOMS ARE SCARCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MARYSVILLE, March 21.—Fifteen members of the Portland baseball team arrived here tonight. There is only one hotel in the city, and a State labor federation was holding its annual meeting here and there was not a room to be had. Ten of the men were housed temporarily in the Elks' Club; others were taken to the homes of private citizens.

Fortunately, the seven players who didn't make the trip to Honolulu, but have been working out at Stockton with the Spokane club, were not here, or they would have had to find a place in the park to sleep. They are due tomorrow morning.

The players are already feeling the difference in temperature between the balmy atmosphere of Honolulu and the sharp weather they are finding here. McCredie considers this one of the worst features of the training trip, as the men are apt to develop colds and sore muscles.

CUBS FIND BEER EASY TO DOWN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 21.—There were not many of Oakland's beauty and chivalry out at Oakland today to see the Cubs down the Oaks, 2 to 0, but those who did venture out saw a very neat exhibition of the national pastime.

The Cubs could not hit the spitball of "Pop" Arlett the three innings he worked, but they got even by plunking the Beer ball in the last three rounds. Harry Krause worked the middle three innings and got away nicely with his crooked-arm slants, being nicked for two hits that produced nothing in the way of runs.

For the Cubs big Jim Vaughn worked the first five rounds. Enough said—no runs. Aldridge worked a lot better than he did in San Francisco and got by the last four innings without much trouble.

The Oaks did not look bad at all, but the Cubs simply got better pitching and so they won. Score:

Chicago—2; hits, 5; errors, 1.
Oakland—0; hits, 4; errors, 2.
Batteries—Vaughn, Aldridge and Elliott; Arlett, Krause, Beer and Murray.

PROBABLE LINE-UP OF BEES NAMED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, March 21.—While nothing official has been given out, the probable squad of Bees to be taken from Porterville to Salt Lake City next Monday will include the following: Hannah and Sheely, catchers; Hoff, Leverens, Hughes, Evans, Schinkle, Kirmeyer, Dubuc, Lydiatt, Blake and Jones, pitchers; Crandall, Gislason, Orr, Rath and Carpenter, infielders; Ryan, Tobin and Shinn, outfielders.

To these must be added Bunny Brief and Tommy Quinlan, which means that three of the bunch will hear sad words before the work of the season opens. Bernhard declares he has the class of the league in fielding, and is devoting the major share of his time this week in getting his pitchers into condition.

JUNIOR COLLEGES HOLD TRACK MEET.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AZUSA, March 21.—The second annual track and field meet of the junior colleges of Southern California is scheduled for April 21 on Citrus Field. Today it was announced that eight schools would compete, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Los Angeles High, Polytechnic, Manual, Hollywood, Chaffee and Citrus, with Pomona as a possible ninth.

The meet will be a fast one, with Fullerton leading in favor and Citrus a close second. The Los Angeles schools, however, are not being overlooked by track men, as it is understood there will be several point winners in the bunch.

Claude Russell and Billy Warren of Citrus are expected to gather in some points in the sprints, and Bruce Clarke, former high school star in the hurdles, is picked to lead in these, while Warren Hertenstein will probably show well in the distance runs.

JOHN SIGLER TO BE BASKETBALL CAPTAIN.

John Sigler was elected to the captaincy of the 1918 U.S.C. basketball team at a banquet given last night by this year's captain, Cliff Henderson, to the team. In addition to the members of the court squad, Coaches Dean Cromwell and Motts Blair were in attendance.

The election of Sigler was unanimous. He was one of the Trojans' strongest players this season. When he was in a game he played brilliantly, but he was haunted by hard luck. His first accident was in the U.S.C.-Stanford game when he sprained a knee.

the semi-pros exploded and scattered fragments of themselves all over the diamond.

Maggert singled infield and took second on Palmer's throw to the water bucket. Salazar addled a bad hopper by Schultz. Maggert was held at third on Schilz's out, Schultz taking second. Al Stein picked Easterly's foul off the screen. He hit the grand stand with force, dislodging a knee cap and one shin guard. Stein replaced the shin guard and continued without the knee cap amid the plaudits of the crowd. The fans got in free, and applauded freely at all times. Unnerved by having seen a shin guard torn from a human leg, Phillips let loose a wild pitch, both runners scoring. Davis drove out his third safety in the sixth, took second on Groehling's sacrifice and was singled across by Bassler. The score:

JOE STECHER TRAINS SOME.

Throws Brother Tony Around for Hour.

Alias Romanoff Goes on the Road for Run.

Berne and Kervaras Still Making Threats.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Joe Stecher takes no chances. He is always in condition, because, like every other world's champion, he always trains.

His last act before leaving this city was to drag his obliging brother Tony up to the L.A.A.C. and maul him around for an hour. That was the day after his match with Ordeman, when everybody else but a champion would have taken at least a day's vacation.

Late last night the wrestling marvel returned from San Francisco, and yesterday he was again on the mat, mauling and squeezing that affectionate brother of his. And all the time that the champ was in the north he was doing the same thing—training, training, training. That's one of the reasons why he is champion.

SAYS JOE.

"I always find my opponents easy to throw," explained the champion, "because on the other six days of the week I throw a better man. My brother Tony is such a hard bird to throw that my opponents all seem helpless and weak in comparison.

Stecher found a large assemblage of clubmen in the gymnasium to give him the once over. When a quiet, unassuming boy who looked like he had just graduated from college walked in most of the curious ones could have been knocked over with a straw. They expected to see some monster with legs as big as an elephant's.

But they saw what they had come to see. They saw Joe Stecher ride his brother like a bucking broncho. The champion sat on brother's back and pinched him with his knees like a cowboy until Tony quit bucking and stretched out really quiet-like while Joe applied the scissors and hooked on double wristlocks.

SPECULATION.

The speculation now is how long will the Alias Romanoff last. The clever veteran went out on the road in the morning, ending his training. He is fit. For four weeks Gus Kervaras and he have wrestled together, never taking a day off.

Romanoff has science and condition. The only question is how long can any wrestler last with Stecher who goes in and wrestles instead of stalling. Bill Demetral said before he left that no man who mixed with Stecher could hope to last more than forty-five minutes for both falls.

"The only man who sticks with Stecher," said Demetral, "is the man who stays on his feet and runs away like Strangler Lewis did in Omaha." And Demetral is no friend of Stecher's, quite the reverse.

But Demetral may have overspoken. He forgets that the Alias has already had one match with the champion that lasted over an hour and that it resulted in no fall. The contest ended with the Alias falling through the ropes and the referee claiming that Jack was fouled.

ALIAS THERE.

Joe Hetmanek, Stecher's manager, said when the champion was here to wrestle Ordeman that the Alias was one of the five hardest wrestlers to throw in the United States. The other four were Strangler Lewis, Ad Santell, Earl Caddock and Jack Taylor. Hetmanek refused to consider Olin in this five.

It is also noteworthy that Hetmanek would not agree to make the match, an hour and a half handicap.

In the face of all these conflicting reports the Alias issues this statement.

"I'm not going to stall with the champion. I will not stay on my feet and run away. I'm going in to mix it with him and go to the mat with him just as soon as I can. This is going to be wrestling match, you can bet on that."

There is a marked similiarity between the way the champion and Romanoff wrestle. Stecher seems to be only a younger, larger and stronger Alias.

YOUNG CHAMP.

Stecher is the youngest man who ever held the world's title. The Nebraskan wonder boy is just 23 years of age. Frank Gotch was 25 years old before he was discovered by Dan McLeod. The Humbolt farmer was 30 before Farmer Burns had made him the world's champion. Dan McLeod said yesterday that he was 28 when he won his first wrestling match and 34 when he was champion.

Gus Kervaras and Wilhelm Berne, the two wildmen, are also prepared for their thirty-minute special match. Berne has threatened to do everything to Kervaras from rubbing rosin on his face to throwing him out of the ring.

Dan McLeod told the two yesterday that if he refereed the match it would have to be a wrestling match and not a boxing bout.

"Professional fighting," explained McLeod, "is barred in this State."

BOXING MATCHES COMING SHORTLY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 21.—Stanford and California officials concluded arrangements last night for the second annual intercollegiate boxing tourney, which is to be held at Berkeley next Monday night.

For the first time the rival boxers will fight in a roped ring. Definite rules were drawn up to apply to conditions new to the college boxers.

Winnie Wheatly of Los Angeles looks good to win over California's heavyweight champ. Pedley of Riverside is a strong contender in the middleweight class.

STANFORD WINS A PITCHERS' BATTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 21.—In the last practice game before the opening of the intercollegiate series the Stanford varsity nosed out the Fort Miley nine, 1 to 0, this afternoon. The contest was little more than a pitchers' battle. Draper for the winners struck out ten, while Lawson retired nine in the same manner. Score:

Stanford, 1; hits, 4; errors, 1.
Fort Miley, 0; hits, 3; errors, 4.
Batteries—Draper, Campbell and Wilcox; Lawson and Sauna.

HARRY O'BRIEN GRABS HONORS.

The third game in the Southern California amateur three-cushion tournament was won last night at Stevens Billiard Palace by Harry O'Brien of the Jonathan Club. He beat Al Clark with a score of 50 to 46. They both played a tight game and lots of safety. O'Brien made the high run of five. Tonight Lee and Boothe will mix it for fifty points.

HEAVY BEARDS MAY BECOME POPULAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 21.—Beards may become popular in San Bernardino as a result of the edict announced by local barbers today increasing the price of a shave from 15 to 20 cents.

The increase is the result of the new ordinance requiring absolute sanitation in all shops and closing them at 7 o'clock instead of 8 p.m.

RESULTS OF TENNIS PLAY AT CORONADO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CORONADO, March 21.—In the Hotel del Coronado tennis tournament now on, the results today were:

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins defeated F. Rodgers and Miss Irene Kelly, 6-1, 7-5.

L. B. Powers and Miss Mildred Smith defeated B. Marsh and Miss Elisabeth Allen, 7-2, 6-2.

E. W. Todd and Miss Elisabeth Stevenson defeated Irving Kocher and Miss McPhee, 7-5, 6-1.

CANADIANS PLAY ON ICE RINK TONIGHT.

The champion Canadian hockey team will meet the fast University team in a match game at the Palace ice rink tonight. That the game will be fast and furious from start to finish is assured, as both teams are playing six-man hockey instead of seven, under the new rules, which makes the game much faster and interesting. The ex-collegians will be out to take a fall out of the champs and double up on their percentage.

Some of the players in tonight's line-ups are Jenkins, Beals, Miller, DeCou and Deeks on the University sextette, while Jackson, Holman, Storer, LaLonde and Cainter are some of the Canadians who will chase the puck.

The game will start at 7:45 o'clock sharp, and a record crowd is expected, as the Canadians have a large following.

WHITE WINGS WIN MIDWICK POLO GAME.

The midweek polo game at Midwick resulted in a victory for the White Wings, 4 to 3½, over the Blue Jays.

The line-up of the winners was Capt. Ball No. 1, Another No. 2, Cook No. 3, Macy No. 4.

For the Blue Jays Capt. Mallaby at No. 1, T. Ford No. 2, McVittty No. 3, and John R. Miller, Sr., No. 4.

J. E. Baxter refereed the game.

BAKERSFIELD HAS A QUICK SHOWER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 21.—Tonight a quick shower of rain fell, bringing the season's total to 5.36 inches. The precipitation of tonight amounted to .06 of an inch.

The crop conditions are excellent.

Wall-street Trading Adds A Levels of the Week, Regard Uncertainty and Dullness, D Bonds Irregular on Nomina

[BY A. P. WI

NEW YORK, March 21.—Regardless of many intervals of uncertainty and dullness, due chiefly profit-taking on an increased scale, the market added appreciably to the higher price levels of the week. Action of the President in bringing forward the time for an extra session of Congress was hailed with general satisfaction. Steel started with the general list in the early hour, when selling orders seemed to expand the market's powers of absorption, Steel closed at 118¼, a net gain of ⅞ of a point, and reactions in varying degrees were shown by a majority of almost 5 points. The reversals toward the end gathered additional force from a renewal of bearish operations which concentrated against the shipping and some of the more speculative shares. The bond market continued to keep pace with the early rally for stocks, showing irregularity throughout on nominal dealings. Total sales, par value, $2,825,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

SHARP REACTION ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

PRICES SHOW GENERAL DOWNWARD TREND.

Union Oil Declines—General Petroleum Weakens—Mining Shares are Irregular—Leaders Drop. Tom Reed and Big Jim Lower. Rich Ore in Both Mines.

A sharp reaction which set in at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange resulted in a general decline of prices, although the recession was not serious by any means. Values had gone up so rapidly in the past ten days that a check was bound to occur. Union Oil, after touching 140.00 in the morning, began to lose strength as the meeting progressed, and at the close sales were recorded at 139.00, an eighth below final transactions on Tuesday. General Petroleum was off a point or so when informal sales were registered at $2.63½ to $3.00, and demand for the issue was rather dull, for the first time in a month. Amalgamated was in poorer shape at 76.00, and Associated attracted a little buying interest when 40 shares changed hands at 72.50. Home Telephone issues felt the general depression and were soft, although the prices asked for both the preferred and commons were not much below the previous day's figures. Los Angeles investment, in line with the tendency of the other stocks, fell away to .75.

Mining shares acted in a peculiar manner, and the leaders in that group were very irregular. Tom Reed, which sold the day before at 2.22, dropped down to 2.13 and Big Jim, the market favorite, closed at 1.10. At the lower prices for the latter issue it was noticed that insiders accumulated the stock avidly, and it would not be out of the way to figure the decline in Big Jim as a professional maneuver by certain interests to hold the market down. When it is taken into consideration that the assays across the 70 feet of the east drift on the 600-foot level of the Big Jim returned values better than $18 a ton, a price of 1.10 for the stock does not look right. The same thing may be said about Tom Reed. The rich strikes that have been made on the Astec claim of that company during the past two months should warrant much higher quotations than those ruling today.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Summer squash made its appearance in Los Angeles yesterday for the first time this season. The shipment was an extremely small one, and sold for $1.00 a pound, according to Kingsbaker Bros. Company, who handled the consignment for A. J. Gallagher Company of the Imperial Valley. From now on early shipments of the maturing crops will become a common thing, and advices from Imperial Valley bear out the fact that prospects in that premier growing district are better than for many years past.

Sweet potatoes are again in the market, and are being quoted at 7¼ cents a pound. Although the supply is limited the quality is not, as the specimens offered for sale Wednesday comprised some of the finest tubers ever seen in this city. White potatoes continue unchanged, and the very best grades can be purchased for from 4 to 4¼ cents a pound. Shipments from the north have fallen off considerably, and that is about the only reason why prices have not declined so far this week. Demand for California tubers is still heavy in the eastern and middle western sections of the United States, and this has of course had a bullish effect on values.

Both green and white asparagus can now be secured in ample quantities, although prices have not receded to any appreciable extent on that account. The former variety, which is more desired by the average consumer, is selling for 35 to 40 cents a pound, while the white stock is bringing 20 to 30 cents. Celery by the dozen is cheaper, ruling quotations being $1.00 to $1.75. In the fresh fruit list there is not much to report. Roman Beauty apples have been boosted to $2.00 and $2.25 a box, and jobbers claim that the call for good apples was never so heavy before in Los Angeles. Even though bananas are bringing the record figure of 5 cents a pound, demand for the tropical fruit is growing greater.

Wednesday morning's session of the Produce Exchange was dull and devoid of feature. Eggs remained the same as the day before, with exceptionally little activity. The receipts consisted of 535 cases of eggs, 84,480 pounds of butter, 1880 pounds of cheese, 12 sacks of beans, and 2154 boxes of apples.

HOME BUTTER AND EGG QUOTATIONS.

MAKES IT GOOD.

Woman Arrested for Giving Check on Bank in Which She Had No Funds Offers Proof that She Paid Up Within Five Days.

Mrs. Zola Keetch, No. 1612½ Westmoreland avenue, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having issued a check on a bank in which she had no funds. She is accused of having made a purchase at a local jewelry store, giving in payment a check for $92.50.

Constable Woodbury took Mrs. Keetch into Justice of the Peace Forbes's court. There she offered proof that she made good the check five days after it was given, or as soon as she learned she did not have funds in the bank. On this representation she was released on her own recognizance, to appear for her preliminary examination today.

Mrs. Keetch's identity interested the justice court, as Constable Woodbury thought he recognized in her the former wife of a wealthy Pittsburgh man. Mrs. Keetch denied this.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN JIT-BUS CRASH.

TRIES TO CUT IN AHEAD OF A STREET CAR.

Accident, Witnesses Say, is Due to Act of Automobile Driver, Who Escapes with Only Slight Bruises, While Passengers Need Treatment at the Hospitals.

Three women and an aged man were injured yesterday afternoon when a jitney bus was overturned by a street car at Eighteenth and Main streets. The accident, according to witnesses, was caused by the jitney driver, who attempted to cut in ahead of a north-bound Monetaavenue car. None of the persons was seriously hurt.

The injured are Mrs. Amber Misner, No. 348 West Sixtieth street, who received bruises and lacerations of the scalp and arms; Mrs. F. H. Scott, No. 346 West Fifty-fourth street, who was cut by flying glass; Mrs. Fred Stickerbaught, No. 532 West Fifty-second street, who received body bruises and lacerations of the arms and legs, and Saunders Baptist, 79 years of age, who is suffering from a broken collarbone, a broken right shoulder blade and broken ribs.

With the exception of Mrs. Stickerbaught, the injured people were treated at the Receiving Hospital and afterwards removed to their homes. Mrs. Stickerbaught was taken to the California Hospital for treatment.

The jitney bus was driven by L. Sturman of No. 2501½ Pasadena avenue. He denies that he was to blame for the accident. Mr. Sturman was uninjured excepting slight contusions of the head.

JOY AND MOURNING.

Widely-divergent reasons brought one Denver couple to the Lankershim yesterday and sent another couple home in great haste. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Ballentine, Jr., came on their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Edbrooke, mutual friends of the Ballentine's, departed because of the sudden death of Mr. Edbrooke's brother. Mr. Ballentine is associated with his father in the operation of the Union Stock Yards of Denver. Mr. Edbrooke is a leading architect and builder in the Rocky Mountain district.

VILLA CAUSES LEGAL FIGHT.

Carelessly Gave Concession Which He Didn't Own.

Diaz had Previously Bestowed Guano on Another.

Santa Fe, the Innocent Third Party, Defendant.

Villa's airy assumption of authority in a part of Mexico he never subdued led to the legal fight which opened yesterday between the Union Fertilising Company and the Santa Fe Railroad in Federal Judge Oscar A. Trippett's court. The fertiliser company is seeking to recover $6000, the alleged value of seven carloads of St. Natividad guano which, it claims, was illegally and unlawfully turned over to A. Sandoval.

The guano concession on the island of St. Natividad, in the Gulf of California, was granted to Mr. Sandoval in the days when Porfirio Diaz was President, but J. B. Apablasa, a customs broker of San Diego, asserts he owns it by virtue of a license issued by Villa when he was in temporary possession of Ensenada in October, 1914.

In that month a ship chartered by Mr. Sandoval brought a cargo of guano to San Diego. When the stuff was placed on the Santa Fe docks it was claimed by Mr. Apablasa. Bills of lading were given him and he consigned the guano to the Union Fertilising Company of this city.

Mr. Sandoval appeared on the scene and convinced the railroad company that the guano belonged to him. The bills of lading issued to Mr. Apablasas were cancelled and new ones given to Mr. Sandoval, whose agents took charge of the consignment. What actually became of the fertilizer was not told to the jury yesterday, but the fertilizer company didn't get it, hence its claim for $6000.

An opinion of much interest was given by Judge Trippet during the argument to the court. The subject of the shifting condition following the removal of Diaz from the Presidency was discussed. Judge Trippet expressed the opinion that the republic in Mexico was a continuing condition in spite of the claims of Madero, Huerta, Villa, Carranza and others who held power for a more or less brief period.

The evidence showed that Villa's claim to authority over the port of Ensenada was nothing more substantial than the posting of a notice to that effect in the customhouse. The Santa Fe also asserted that the alleged Apablasas concession was nothing more than a permit addressed to "whom it may concern," written on the stationery of a San Diego hotel.

AT UNION MEETINGS.

Dr. Torrey and Bible Institute Singers This Evening.

The union evangelistic meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Sixth and Hill streets, in which more than a score of downtown churches are participating, are attracting many people and nightly are full of interest.

Tonight the speaker will be Dr. R. A. Torrey, dean of the Bible Institute. He will tell of how he was invited to a dance, how he went and what came of it. J. B. Trowbridge, who is in charge of the music at the Bible Institute, will have the institute male quartette and male chorus present, and they will give several selections and lead the congregational singing.

A Sandwich.

TWO MAY EAT ONE.

Police Commission Rules that Viand Must be Divided by Waiter and Served on Separate Plates Before It Becomes Food for Twain.

The Police Commission yesterday suspended the restaurant liquor license of the Portola Cafe for twenty days, and revoked the license of the Oyster Ocean Cafe.

In the hearing of the Portola case it developed that one of the charges was that liquor had been sold without a meal. The testimony was to the effect that two men went into the cafe, one bought a clubhouse sandwich, for which he paid 45 cents, and the other bought a bottle of beer. This was held to be a violation of the ordinance. As a result, the commission was asked to rule on the question of whether a sandwich can be divided between two guests.

The ruling was that it is legal to buy but one sandwich, but before two can partake of it, it must be divided by the waiter and served on two plates.

HANDLES ARMY CONTRACTS.

Fisher C. Bailey, head of the Joshua L. Baily Company, which has headquarters in Boston and branches in many cities, is a guest at the Alexandria. His company deals in dry goods and has handled a number of large army contracts recently. Accompanying Mr. Baily is his wife.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Luster with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CANTU PRAISED AS MEXICAN LEADER.

COL. COLLIER HANDS BOUQUET TO THE GOVERNOR.

Lower California Executive has Won People's Affections Through His Efforts to Improve General Conditions and has Protected American Interests.

The most able man in Mexico today is Gov. Esteban Cantu of Lower California, in the opinion of Col. D. C. Collier, first president of the San Diego exposition, who has just returned from a tour of Cantu's territory. "He has built some excellent military roads, schools such as the Mexican populace have seldom if ever known, several hospitals, barracks for his soldiers, and numerous other improvements which have stamped him as a man of high ability," declared Col. Collier, who is a guest at the Angelus.

"As a result of all of this he has achieved much popularity among his own people, and their absolute devotion and support, no matter who the revolutionary leader may be in other parts of Mexico. Carranza has recognized his government as effective. This is evidenced by the fact that a few days ago he made Jose Cantu, brother of the Governor, Federal inspector of Lower Mexico.

"The report is rife," said Col. Collier, "that this has much incensed the Villa leaders, and that some of the followers of the bandit are massing troops in Northern Sonora for an attack on Gov. Cantu's territory. Whoever attacks Lower Mexico will discover a very united people and a surprisingly strong army, well fed, clothed, drilled and armed."

NEED IMPROVEMENTS.

Must Spend Money to Make City Fish Markets Sanitary.

There was another slump in the price of fish at the municipal markets yesterday. Barracuda was obtainable at 8 cents a pound. Other species of fish sold at correspondingly low figures.

Mayor Woodman declared that the low prices fixed on fish at the markets has resulted in two weeks in such a demand that notwithstanding that approximately 5000 pounds are brought from the harbor daily a pound of fish is usually sold by evening.

To make conditions more wholesome around the markets, the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday recommended that funds be appropriated for improvements.

The Council will be asked today by Market Superintendent Britt to establish a new market in the district bounded by San Pedro and Seventh street, Central and Vernon avenues.

BANDIT CONVICTED.

Frank Smith was convicted by a jury in Superior Judge Wilbur's court, yesterday, of having assisted in holding up three Japanese vegetable dealers at Hobart Station, October 23. He was a member of a gang of four.

MILLINERY DISPLAY INTERESTS JURORS.

WOMAN SPENT ALIMONY MONEY IN FITTING UP STORE.

But Sheriff Levies on Stock in Wholesalers' Name, in Spite of Contention that Attachment Action was Directed at Wrong Party. She Gets a Judgment.

Instead of spending the alimony which was paid her under court order on personal adornment, Mrs. Vera Von Bachelle invested the money in hats for her millinery trade, she testified yesterday in Judge McCormick's court. This stock, numbering about 200 hats, was seized by the Sheriff, subsequently, on an attachment against C. B. Anderson, therefore Mrs. Von Bachelle claimed the property belongs to her. The attachment was issued by the Brodin Millinery Company.

To determine their value, the hats were exhibited in court, and made a bewildering array. One lone juror, however, was not dismayed, for he asked very intelligent questions concerning the cost of the ribbons, flowers, ornaments and shapes. Mrs. Von Bachelle was given judgment for $1250.

WINS DECREE.

ONE OUT OF SEVEN.

According to procedure, J. Rexford Munselle, who claimed his wife, Beulah M. Munselle, thought more of music than she did of housework, ought to have been denied a decree of divorce in Judge Wood's court yesterday. Previous to his case being called, the court had denied six decrees, but Mr. Munselle cleared the barriers and won a decree.

He told the court that his wife wanted to play in cafes, and he objected, as he was able to provide for her. He was formerly a photographer in Long Beach, but is now employed as a shoe salesman. Mrs. Munselle is believed to have returned to her former home in Illinois.

IN AND OUT.

ABOUT THE COURTS.

VERDICT TOO HIGH. The damage suit of Chung Sing against the Southern Pacific, for the loss of an arm and part of a foot as the result of a train striking his vegetable wagon, brought him a verdict of $18,000 in Judge Myers's court yesterday. The court stated, however, that if the plaintiff would consent to reduce the judgment by $5000, he would deny a motion for a new trial, as the verdict was excessive. The suggestion was taken under consideration.

LOSES DECREE. Because the testimony was insufficient to prove that Russell R. Maus was not able to support her, Mrs. Mildred I. Maus was denied a decree of divorce by Judge Wood yesterday. Mrs. Maus, who is gymnastic director of the city playground department, testified that Mr. Maus, who was a college boy when she met him, did not provide for her. It is probable that she will file a new suit, charging desertion.

SUIT ON MACHINE. An "Eddie Pullen No. 4" Mercer automobile, valued at $4500, is involved in a suit filed by the George R. Bentel Company through Attorney Edgar K. Brown yesterday against Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jewell. The machine was sold to the Jewells, it is alleged, for $500 down and the balance on delivery. The Bentel company tendered the car, which was refused, and the company asks judgment for $4000.

REDLIGHT SUIT. A suit under the Redlight Abatement Act to close the American rooming-house at No. 457 Front street, San Pedro, was filed by the District Attorney's office yesterday. The defendants named are Lillian Jeffries, the alleged landlady; A. Bessalo, owner of the property; Vera Hamilton and two other women under fictitious names. Rolling sailors and selling liquor contrary to law are listed among other alleged offenses. The court is asked to permanently enjoin the defendants from maintaining a nuisance there or at any other place in the county and that the furnishings be sold to pay the costs of prosecution.

BOCK MOON'S THE NAME.

Orientals Organize Library Association and Plan General Culture of Chinese People of Southern California, Says Incorporation Papers.

That the Chinese residents of Los Angeles are rapidly assimilating American ideas is evidenced by an application yesterday for the incorporation of the Bock Moon Library Association of Los Angeles. The corporation is for educational, social and benevolent purposes, it is stated, and pecuniary profit is not an object.

The application states that it is proposed to establish a library and reading-rooms for the "general culture of the Chinese people in Southern California." The following directors, who were elected at a meeting of Chinese the 10th inst., signed the application: Chung Sea Dun, Sherman D. Wu, Gee Sea Chow, Chew Kim and Tom Kai One.

FIRE SPRINKLERS FOR BASEMENTS.

CHIEF ELEY ASKS FOR THIS REQUIREMENT.

Says Some of the Underground Rooms are Traps that may Cause Serious Conflagrations Unless the Proposed Precautionary Measures are Taken.

The installation of automatic fire sprinklers in basements of certain kinds of buildings in the business district will be compulsory if the Council enacts an ordinance which the City Attorney was instructed, yesterday, to prepare. Fire Chief Eley requested the legislation, stating that some of the basements are fire traps and the city may have a disastrous conflagration some day unless the condition is eliminated.

Dog Licenses Fixed.

The Council yesterday adopted an ordinance fixing the license fees for dogs. There will be no discrimination between the sexes, $2 being set as the license for male and female. In the past the license for females was $3 and $1 for males.

More Motor Restrictions.

The City Attorney was instructed by the Council, yesterday, to draft an ordinance prohibiting the operation of motor trucks in residential districts between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m. The regulation applies to the trucks that haul sand, rock and gravel.

City Hall Briefs.

The Board of Public Works yesterday set June 19 as the date for hearing claims for damages which are to be filed by persons owning property in the vicinity of the proposed Second-street tunnel. It is said the claims total about $350,000.

An ordinance was adopted yesterday amending the traffic ordinance by making it unlawful to park automobiles closer than ten feet on either side of a sidewalk elevator in the district bounded by Mercantile place, Spring street, Broadway and Sixth street.

The bee ordinance was amended yesterday by the Council, the purpose being to permit the keeping of bees within the city limits. Owners of bees have complained against the former regulation, and requested that certain districts be set aside for them. This was done.

CHARGES YANKEE TRICK

Man who Sold Him Land Surreptitiously Put in Tunnel that Diverted Irrigating Water from Property, says Plaintiff in Damage Suit.

In 1911 H. O. Vogel bought six acres of canyon land from Camille Guercia and paid $4000 for water rights. Water was developed by means of a tunnel on the land, and Mr. Vogel beautified the land by shrubbery and a lawn, constructed a reservoir and put up a building. But in 1913, Mr. Vogel alleges in a suit for an injunction and damages, which went on trial before Judge Shenk yesterday, Mr. Guercia, who owns the adjoining land, surreptitiously put in another tunnel eighteen feet below the lowest point of the other tunnel, and thereby diverted the water used by him for irrigating purposes. He claims he is entitled to about $10,000 damages.

Mr. Guercia denies it.

IN IMPERIAL VALLEY.

Government Would Cancel Patent to Large Acreage Granted Southern Pacific, Telephone Concern and Others in Colorado River Country.

An action was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by the United States against the Southern Pacific, the Southern Pacific Land Company, Equitable Trust Company of New York, Homer S. King, James K. Wilson and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, to cancel patents issued to the defendants to 1920 acres of land, comprising sections 23, 25 and 27, in the extreme southeastern corner of Imperial county. This land was acquired under the Congressional land grant of 1866.

It is alleged that the defendants obtained the land in violation of the terms of the grant, which provided for the retention of all mineral lands, except those producing coal and iron. The government also seeks an injunction against any action which may prejudice the suit and the recovery of the property.

Luther Watkins, an officer of the Watts Lumber Company, appeared in Superior Court yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge of arson in connection with a fire which destroyed a part of the company's stock February 4, 1916. Sentence will be imposed Monday.

Watkins is the last of those under prosecution on the arson charge to know his fate. W. H. Turner, the former Mayor of Watts, was to have appeared in court to face the same charge, when he ended his life. John Hayes, also arrested on the same charge, after maintaining his innocence changed his plea to guilty and accepted the judgment of the court.

Don't Blame "Spring Fever" For That "Down-and-out" Feeling

Your Blood Needs a Thorough Cleansing Just Now.

As Spring approaches, the impurities that have been accumulating in the system throughout the winter begin to clog up the circulation, causing a general weakness and debilitated condition that is generally known as "Spring fever."

The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown. Children just at this season are peevish and irritable, and become puny and lifeless.

This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that have been accumulating and make themselves felt more distinctly with the change of seasons. They show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning.

Everybody just now needs a few bottles of S. S. S., the great vegetable blood remedy, to purify their blood and cleanse it of impurities. It is good for the children, for it gives them new strength and puts their system in condition so they can more easily resist the many ailments so prevalent in summer. S. S. S. is without equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to both old and young.

CONCERN MUST PAY PUNITIVE DAMAGES.

COURT HOLDS IT HAD NO JUST CAUSE FOR ACTION.

Electric Firm is Included as Defendant in Action to Collect from an Individual, and Suit for Closing its Store Results in Judgment in Its Favor.

A suit for damages for malicious attachment brought by the Woodill and Hulse Electric Company against the Independent Electric Supply Company and tried by Judge Taft yesterday resulted in the court awarding damages by way of punishment.

As the story developed during the hearing, it seems that J. F. Heath was indebted to the Independent Electric Supply Company for $1400. The Independent assigned the claim for collection to L. Levee. The latter brought suit against Mr. Heath, joining the Woodill and Hulse Electric Company as defendants, and levied an attachment on the latter's store. The Sheriff closed the store on the afternoon of October 3, 1915, much to the distress of the proprietors. The only way to get the store open again was to put up a cash bond with the Sheriff, for $1850, which Woodill and Hulse did. The store had been closed from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. Levee took a default judgment against Mr. Heath and, it appeared, endeavored to get the money put up by Woodill and Hulse, with the Sheriff, a provision of the law requiring that such money shall be used to satisfy any judgment against the defendants. Through Attorney R. J. Culver, Woodill and Hulse recovered the money put up, on an order from Judge Finlayson requiring the Sheriff to turn it over. Woodill and Hulse then brought suit for damages against the Independent concern and recovered judgment in Judge Taft's court for $50 damages for loss of trade while the store was closed during the two hours, and $300 punitive damages.

The court held that the attachment ran without any right against Woodill and Hulse, and that there was no claim of any kind against the concern. According to Attorney Culver there have been numerous instances in which persons instituting attachment proceedings have included as defendants parties against whom there is no claim, but the nature of whose business makes it imperative that a cash bond be put up to allow their business to be conducted. Under the law this money could be taken under a judgment. Judge Taft, in rendering judgment, stated that exemplary damages ought to be given as a deterrent against such alleged practices.

FOR OTHER SIDE.

Men Responsible for Dangerous Hoardings May Appear Before Civic Organizations Today and Ask for Delay of Definite Action.

The billboard survey committee will meet this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce to hear reports from representatives of the various organizations that are interested in the question. It was reported yesterday that the other side of the controversy will also be represented, and will make an attempt to delay definite action against the billboards.

William Mead, representing the Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the meeting. Among others to be present are E. W. Murphy of the Municipal League, Ray E. Nimmo of the City Club and Mrs. Cora D. Lewis of the Civic Association.

Our Change in Name

On Friday, March 16th, by unanimous vote, the Board of Directors of this Bank authorized a petition to the Superior Court asking that henceforth the Bank be known as the Guaranty Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles.

Some sixty days will be required to effect this change, at the conclusion of which we expect to be able to announce that the selection of our new name has been duly and legally confirmed.

Our action at this time is one which we are convinced will meet the approval of not only our 60,000 depositors, but of the entire community of Los Angeles as well.

And it is our desire that it serve to emphasize our spirit of service and loyalty to all people who make their home in Los Angeles or environs, and who by their patronage of this Bank, promote its progress and prosperity.

PILING UP EVIDENCE.

Alleg Pasadena Man had Some Expensive Furnishings Removed from His Orange Grove-avenue Home Short Time Before the Fire.

Evidence intended to show that F. H. Hamilton, a well-to-do Pasadena mining man, removed expensive furnishings from his home several days before the night of a fire, was introduced in the Superior Court yesterday by the prosecution.

George Dawson, a truck driver, testified Hamilton hired him to move a quantity of household furnishings from his home to a warehouse. J. W. McCurdy, Dawson's helper, verified the statement.

Charles Dansby, a negro of Pasadena, testified Hamilton had attempted to dispose of considerable furniture to him before the night of the fire.

Investigate The Starr Phonograph

THE wonderful improvements in musical reproduction represented by the Starr Phonograph deserve your careful investigation—as a matter of scientific and musical interest, whether you intend to buy or not.

One of the greatest developments in fine musical instruments the world has at last created—the Starr phonograph based on true principles of tone-building, an instrument which is designed as a musical instrument, a piano is designed, not as a piano but as a thought of tone quality and musical excellence—an instrument pleasing to the ear of the critical musician as well as the layman.

One of the important and distinctive features of the Starr Phonograph is its sounding board, built entirely of spruce.

The Starr Phonograph plays all makes of disc records without extra attachments.

Come in and hear the Starr phonograph today and learn how you can own one for a range of terms as low as $10.00 per month. Prices from $175.00 to $900.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Formal and full recognition by the United States of the new government of Russia was announced tonight at the State Department. The attitude which has been observed by the department concerning the events in Russia was broken when officials learned that the news of Ambassador Francis's official welcome of the new regime had been received in press dispatches.

It may now be stated that on Tuesday the department received a long dispatch from Ambassador Francis [illegible] authority to recognize the new government. The ambassador pointed out that the step was founded on the principles which had inspired the framers of the American republic and that its leaders stood for what this country held sacred. The revolution, he said, had been successful and good order prevailed everywhere.

Officials here were especially interested about the personnel of the new government, whose members
